SENATOR FORAKER'S ORATION

A Comprehensive Review of Conspicuous National Events From Lincoln to McKinley—The Banquet a Big, Successful Affair.

Youngstown, February 13.—(Special)—A galaxy of oratorical talent was present at the Foraker club's Lincoln's birthday banquet last night. There were 450 guests and the occasion was one to be remembered.

The chief orators, Senator Foraker and Hon. R. W. Tayler, arrived during the afternoon and were given a reception at the Tod house. Soon after the Sebring brothers, with a delegation from that pottery town, arrived on a special train, followed by delegations from Warren, East Liverpool and other cities.

Stephen S. Conroy was toastmaster. Senator Foraker responded to the toast, "The Republican Party." He remarked that he came at considerable inconvenience, but was glad to be present.

His address dealt with national questions from Lincoln to McKinley, paying an eloquent tribute to the memory and greatness of both these martyr presidents. Speaking of the Philippines he said we would stay there till the civil government was supreme.

R. M. Wanamaker, of Akron, spoke on the "Great American Triumvirate"—Washington, Lincoln and McKinley, and Congressman R. W. Taylor spoke on Lincoln's life and its lessons. He said in part:

"Because we do not live in a romantic age, we live in an idol-smashing age. This of itself is perhaps commendable. Unworthy objects of public adoration are falling one by one from the pedestals upon which an unthinking and too susceptible age has put them; but our success in thus felling the bogus gods of our ancestors has a most vicious tendency.

"No man ever lived who more richly deserves the title of patriot than Lincoln. Innumerable are the instances where he exhibited his desire to sacrifice himself, if, by so doing, his great purpose to save the union might be advanced. He was nature's son, calm, serene, absolutely without self-consciousness; and these, with a clear head, a sound judgment, and an honest heart, sufficed to carry a mountain of responsibility.

"He is a subject always old yet ever new. He is a fathomless depth and an infinitely sided character. Every sounding discloses new depths, every view adds new light. The deeper the sounding the more beautiful the thing disclosed; the more careful and discriminating the view the more sublime and bewildering the light.

"How inspiring, how ennobling, how uplifting is the character of Lincoln. How marvelous, indeed, was he. Here was a man, sprung from lowly origin, without training in the art of diplomacy or of social functions, who yet showed himself to be master of all—especially the master of those who were pastmasters in diplomacy and polite literature.

"His strength and courage were never more apparent than in respect to the proclamation of emancipation. It seems to mark the moral zenith of the great commoner's career.

"I wonder what Lincoln would think, and what he would say if he were among us at this hour. When we consider what he was and what he lived for we must hide our heads in very shame. The negro has, it is true, progressed much in the last 30 years, but is he where Lincoln meant him to be? The fruits of his emancipation have fallen far short of his and our just expectations. The southern Democracy, by vicious constitutional provisions, is gradually robbing the negro of the rights of citizenship; while in some sections of the south so-called Republican organizations are being formed which aim at the substantial disfranchisement of the negro. It is needless to say that any party which plants itself on such a platform, and calls itself Republican is flying a pirate's flag, and is entitled to no quarter from a party whose corner-stone is embedded in an imperishable foundation of equal civil and political rights, whatever may be the color of a man's skin.

"O Lincoln, blessed the country that owns your name and fame! You builded better than you knew. You not only freed three million slaves, you broke the shackles from all the world, and taught all men how to be free and how to govern. Peace to your ashes and eternal honor to your name!"

Other speakers were F. A. Hartenstein, ex-Lieutenant Governor A. W. Jones and M. C. McNab.

FINED AND JAILED

CHARLES MARDIS SENTENCED FOR ASSAULT.

Must Pay $50 And Costs And Be Locked Up 30 Days—Result of Saloon Dispute.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—Charles Mardis was found guilty yesterday of assault and battery. He was interested in a card game in the saloon of William Higginson in Wells-ville one evening last June. Trouble arose and Mardis was put out of the back door of the saloon and, it is alleged, a beer bottle was thrown after him. He secured the bottle and waited at the back door.

When William Higginson, Sr., went to the door, Mardis, thinking as he testified that it was Higginson's son, struck him over the head with the bottle, inflicting injuries which left Mr. Higginson in a precarious condition. While there was no doubt of Mardis' guilt, there seemed to be no disposition to believe that he acted with intent to kill or disfigure. The court was inclined to be lenient with him. The sentence was that Mardis pay a fine of $50 and costs and spend 30 days in the county jail.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

ROBERT STONE FELL THROUGH A SKYLIGHT WHILE AT WORK.

His Shoulder Bone Broken And Other Wounds Inflicted By Spikes.

While at work this morning at the Brunt Porcelain Works, Robert Stone was seriously hurt by falling through a skylight. In falling he struck two spikes projecting from a timber, inflicting ugly wounds. His shoulder bone was also broken.

The patrol was called and Stone taken to the office of a physician, where his wounds were dressed, after which he was taken to his home in the East End.

CROCCERS' MEETING

A Big Gathering at Which Association Officers for the Year Were Elected.

The Retail Grocers' association of this city held a largely attended meeting last evening, almost every retail grocery in the city being represented. The most important business transacted was the election of the following officers to serve for a term of one year:

President—Russell Heddleston. Vice President—Albert Pearce. Secretary—Mr. Bradmon. Treasurer—T. B. Murphy. The report of Edwin Oppelt, who represented the local association at the annual convention of retail grocers' associations at Milwaukee, was received, which proved to be beneficial to the local members.

Another meeting of the association will be held next week, when arrangements will be completed to give a social and smoker soon.

SUIT WITHDRAWN

Action of W. H. Riley Against M. Wasbutzky Settled Out of Court.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—The suit of William H. Riley versus M. Wasbutzky, of East Liverpool, has been withdrawn from the files. Each litigant has paid his own costs. Riley sued to compel the defendant to purchase oil leases and personal property to the amount of $1,600, as he had agreed.

GOVERNOR NASH WILL NOT ASSIST

Sits Down Very Severely On Proposed Increase of State Officials' Pay.

WORKS FOR RETRENCHMENT

And Does Not Like to See His Efforts Nullified—Proposed Legislation Abolishing Prison Contract Labor—State Capital Gossip.

Columbus, Feb. 13.—(Special)—Governor Nash made public late Wednesday afternoon a copy of a letter he sent to a state official who requested that his salary be increased. The governor said he was strongly opposed to an increase in any salary among state officials. "For months I have been at work and using my endeavors for the purpose of increasing the revenues of the state, so that the taxpayers may have the benefit thereof. It seems to me that nearly every officer and every department wants to increase the expense in some way."

Mr. Pollock, of Stark, yesterday presented a bill which provides for the abolishment of the prison contract labor system. It has the earnest support of labor organizations, and it is believed it has a better chance of passing this time than ever before.

Chief Fire Marshal S. D. Hollenbeck received a telegram from Deputy Marshal Hart, of Akron, Wednesday afternoon, stating that a man named Fox, who confessed to setting fire to the woodenware and novelty works of Baker & McMillen in Akron away back in 1892, had been convicted of the crime in the Akron courts on Wednesday. Marshal Hollenbeck instructed Deputy Hart to go to Alliance today to investigate the big fire which occurred in that city several days ago. Alliance parties are suspicious and request an investigation.

It has been discovered that Frank C. Newman, who was received at the penitentiary from Stark county to serve 18 months for giving wine to a girl under age for a questionable purpose, is a third-termer.

The Pittsburg & Lake Erie Railroad company has filed a certificate with the secretary of state, increasing its capital stock from $4,000,000 to $8,000,000. The company paid a fee of $4,000 for the privilege of increasing.

The Record Publishing company, of Wellsville, which was incorporated under the laws of West Virginia, Oct. 21, 1901, has been authorized to engage in business in Ohio. The capital stock, $8,000, is divided into shares of $50 each. The value of the company's property in Wellsville is placed at $2,000. The incorporators each own one share of the stock in the company and are as follows: W. F. Lones, Charles Boyd, G. W. Adams, James Nolan, John B. Ellis and John C. Nicholson.

FILED FOR PROBATE

Will of John Campbell Leaves $1,000 Each to a Son And a Daughter.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—The will of John Campbell, late of Salem township, has been filed in common pleas court, Judge Boone having been a witness. It grants to Charles C. Campbell, a son, $1,000; to Edith Campbell, a daughter, $1,000. The farm is to be the property of his wife during life; after her death to go to Charles and Edith Campbell.

A Splendid Showing.

HIS $6,000 INCREASED JUST 150 PER CENT

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—The decision in case of Wm. Burgess vs. the West End Pottery company, of East Liverpool, was decided by Judge Hole this morning. The plaintiff held the company's promissory note for $6,000 on which he claimed he ought to realize the dividends declared by

NEW CONCERN TO TAKE CHARGE

Ohio China Company, of East Palestine, Incorporated With $100,000 Capital.

TAKES HOLD NEXT JULY

O. C. Walker Will Be General Manager of the Plant—Extensive Improvements at the Smith-Phillips Plant—General News.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state by the Ohio China company, of East Palestine. The capital is $100,000, in 1,000 shares. The incorporators are R. F. Taggart, L. D. Overlander, D. H. McIntosh, O. C. Walker and W. H. Bostwick.

F. A. Sebring, being the last vice president of the Ohio China company, in the absence of the last president of that concern, George E. Sebring, and Charles J. Albright as the last secretary, consent to the use of the name, "the Ohio China company," by the new corporation. The first named concern sold out to the latter company recently.

The new company will take possession July 1, but so far no additions to the plant are contemplated. This morning announcement was made by a member of the new firm that they would take over the plant intact. Besides the names mentioned in the articles of incorporation, some stock is retained by the Sebring Bros., of Sebring, and C. A. Lentz. O. C. Walker will be made general manager of the pottery, but no other changes or additions to the force have been announced.

The Smith and Phillips plant in the East End has not been running full for some time. The company contemplate extensive improvements. An additional kiln and an extension of the decorating department are under consideration. This will mean that an additional 32 feet will be added to the present factory. The new portion will be built to the south end of the building, and the room now occupied by the decorating department will be converted into a glass ware room. J. T. Smith said this morning that work on the new buildings would not commence before spring. In the decorating department 18 girls and six men are kept constantly employed, and an addition will be made to the force by the end of the present week.

The last of a series of three games of association football will be played on Saturday afternoon between the employees of the decorating departments of Laughlin No. 2 and the K. T. & K. A challenge has been received by the management of the Laughlin team for a game with the Buckeyes for from $25 to $50 a side. As soon as Laughlin's forfeit is covered preliminaries will be arranged.

An unusual exhibition is witnessed daily at the Chelsea at New Cumberland, according to the statement of one of the firm. A jiggerman employed at that plant is said to be making 400 dozen cups per day. There are a number of jiggermen in this city, out of work, who would be glad to share the work. By so doing both could make a comfortable living.

Carpenters yesterday commenced to enlarge the old decorating shop at Laughlin No. 2. The room formerly used for decal work is being remodelled, and the employees of this department have been removed to the new end.

Bricklayers are completing the new kilns at Laughlin No. 2. A large force of men is employed, but it will be some time before the work is finished. As soon as the weather opens the carpenter work will be commenced.

Three engravers are now employed

MOTHER AND HER DAUGHTER ENVELOPED IN FIERCE FLAME

at Laughlin No. 2. Two new additions to this department are Mr. Speakman and Mr. Moore, of Hanley, Eng. The company at present has considerable work done outside the plant.

Owing to a shortage of gas all the clay hands at the Klondike were compelled to quit work at noon yesterday. It was impossible to run the engine, and a kiln, which had been made ready to fire, was abandoned.

At the annual meeting of the American Ceramic society, held at Cleveland this week, the following officers were elected: President, Ernest Mayer, Beaver Falls, Pa.; vice president, Francis W. Walker, Beaver Falls; secretary Prof. E. M. Orton.

BOUGHT FINE HOME

MRS. STAFFORD PURCHASED THE GOODWIN PROPERTY.

One of the Finest Residences in the City Sold—Reported Price $25,000.

Mrs. Ida K. Stafford, who has been the guest of friends in the city, returned to her home in New York last night, after completing negotiations for the purchase of the Mrs. James Goodwin property on Broadway.

The Goodwin residence is one of the most beautiful in East Liverpool, and Mrs. Stafford's son, Harold Knowles, intends making it his home. The reported consideration was $25,000.

TWENTY INJURED

BY THE DERAILING OF A PENNSYLVANIA TRAIN.

Detroit Flyer Wrecked in the Vicinity of Fremont And Many Persons Hurt.

Fremont, O., February 13.—(Special)—West-bound passenger train No. 404, the Pittsburg and Detroit flyer over the Pennsylvania lines, struck a broken rail today between Helena and Millersville and was derailed.

A number of physicians have gone to the wreck. It is reported 20 persons are injured.

NEAING SETTLEMENT

Jiggermen's Controversy With the Goodwin Firm Likely Soon to Be Adjusted.

It is probable the controversy between the jiggermen at the Goodwin pottery and the firm will be adjusted within the next few days.

It is now apparent that the management has to the present misinterpreted the provisions of rule 2, and are not willing to admit the fact until they have word from some higher authority. An appeal has been made by the firm to the manufacturers' representatives on the conference committee which created the rule in question.

ELECTED OFFICERS

Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias Held Its Annual Election Last Night.

Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, No. 62, Eighth Ohio regiment, met last evening in their hall on Washington street and elected the following officers:

First Lieutenant—Roy L. Baxter. Second Lieutenant—E. B. Hawkins. Treasurer—Harry Clark. Recorder—George Grim. These officers will be installed at a meeting to be held March 12.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—Martin Welsh, of Lisbon, was fined $25 and costs for selling liquor to a minor.

Upsetting a Bottle of Alcohol Caused a Terrible Blaze at J. V. Pope's.

IGNITED AT A GAS STOVE

The Burning Liquid Inflicted Painful Burns on Mother and Child.

THE FIRE SOON EXTINGUISHED

But for a Time It Looked As If the Building Were Doomed—Shocking Accident in a Sick Room This Morning.

Mrs. James V. Pope and her infant daughter had a most miraculous escape from a horrible death at an early hour this morning.

The Papes reside in a double house on Pennsylvania avenue, and this morning arose a trifle later than usual. Mr. Pope was down stairs and his wife had repaired to an upstairs room for the purpose of ministering to the wants of her little daughter, who has been ill for several days. The child was seated before a parlor gas stove, which stands directly beneath the mantel. Mrs. Pope approached the mantel for the purpose of securing some needed article, and while bending over the stove, accidentally dislodged a large vial of alcohol. The cork of the bottle came out when it hit the floor, falling between the stove and the child. The liquid spilled upon the garments of mother and child, and immediately ignited. Both were enveloped in flames in an instant and their cries were mingled with the noise of the burning clothing and mantel drapery. Mr. Pope, attracted by the outcry, hastened to the scene and, though almost paralyzed with fear for the safety of the endangered ones, succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Mrs. Pope was badly burned about the lower limbs, while the child fared worse. The little girl suffered a bad burn on one leg, extending from the knee to the waist, and it is thought she inhaled some of the flames.

Mother and daughter were doing well at last reports, and it is thought no very serious results may follow.

Joseph Botz resides in the other half of the house, and for a time it was thought the building was doomed. Luckily a part of the alcohol scattered in a portion of the room where it failed to ignite. This fact, it is thought, saved the house from destruction.

BREAKS IN THE MAIN

Caused Some Shortage of Gas in This City for a Time Yesterday.

Two serious breaks occurred in the 10-inch high pressure main of the Ohio Valley Gas company in Washington county, Pa., yesterday and there was some shortage of gas in this city. The first break occurred at a "Y," six miles north of West Middletown, and while this was being repaired another break in the same main was located at Middletown. As soon as the break was discovered word was sent to the office in this city and notification was sent to all the plants on the line not to use the gas while the pressure was low.

The result was that during the afternoon a number of plants were unable to run the clay shops. This was done in order that the domestic supply would not be lessened. A force of repairmen were hurried to the break and late last evening the damage was repaired.

This is the second mishap this company has had to contend with within a short time.

To Settle for $250.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—Josephine Perry, as administratrix, has petitioned the court to be allowed to settle with the Salem Iron company for the death of Frank Costanzo, for $250. The court has decided that such a settlement is best for the estate and has issued orders accordingly.

Guardian Asked.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—A guardian is asked for William Seedery, of Salem, who is alleged to be an imbecile.

MOTHER AND HER DAUGHTER ENVELOPED IN FIERCE FLAME

at Laughlin No. 2. Two new additions to this department are Mr. Speakman and Mr. Moore, of Hanley, Eng. The company at present has considerable work done outside the plant.

Owing to a shortage of gas all the clay hands at the Klondike were compelled to quit work at noon yesterday. It was impossible to run the engine, and a kiln, which had been made ready to fire, was abandoned.

At the annual meeting of the American Ceramic society, held at Cleveland this week, the following officers were elected: President, Ernest Mayer, Beaver Falls, Pa.; vice president, Francis W. Walker, Beaver Falls; secretary Prof. E. M. Orton.

BOUGHT FINE HOME

MRS. STAFFORD PURCHASED THE GOODWIN PROPERTY.

One of the Finest Residences in the City Sold—Reported Price $25,000.

Mrs. Ida K. Stafford, who has been the guest of friends in the city, returned to her home in New York last night, after completing negotiations for the purchase of the Mrs. James Goodwin property on Broadway.

The Goodwin residence is one of the most beautiful in East Liverpool, and Mrs. Stafford's son, Harold Knowles, intends making it his home. The reported consideration was $25,000.

TWENTY INJURED

BY THE DERAILING OF A PENNSYLVANIA TRAIN.

Detroit Flyer Wrecked in the Vicinity of Fremont And Many Persons Hurt.

Fremont, O., February 13.—(Special)—West-bound passenger train No. 404, the Pittsburg and Detroit flyer over the Pennsylvania lines, struck a broken rail today between Helena and Millersville and was derailed.

A number of physicians have gone to the wreck. It is reported 20 persons are injured.

NEARING SETTLEMENT

Jiggermen's Controversy With the Goodwin Firm Likely Soon to Be Adjusted.

It is probable the controversy between the jiggermen at the Goodwin pottery and the firm will be adjusted within the next few days.

It is now apparent that the management has to the present misinterpreted the provisions of rule 2, and are not willing to admit the fact until they have word from some higher authority. An appeal has been made by the firm to the manufacturers' representatives on the conference committee which created the rule in question.

ELECTED OFFICERS

IGNITED AT A GAS STOVE

The Burning Liquid Inflicted Painful Burns on Mother and Child.

THE FIRE SOON EXTINGUISHED

But for a Time It Looked As If the Building Were Doomed—Shocking Accident in a Sick Room This Morning.

Mrs. James V. Pope and her infant daughter had a most miraculous escape from a horrible death at an early hour this morning.

The Papes reside in a double house on Pennsylvania avenue, and this morning arose a trifle later than usual. Mr. Pope was down stairs and his wife had repaired to an upstairs room for the purpose of ministering to the wants of her little daughter, who has been ill for several days. The child was seated before a parlor gas stove, which stands directly beneath the mantel. Mrs. Pope approached the mantel for the purpose of securing some needed article, and while bending over the stove, accidentally dislodged a large vial of alcohol. The cork of the bottle came out when it hit the floor, falling between the stove and the child. The liquid spilled upon the garments of mother and child, and immediately ignited. Both were enveloped in flames in an instant and their cries were mingled with the noise of the burning clothing and mantel drapery.

Mr. Pope, attracted by the outcry, hastened to the scene and, though almost paralyzed with fear for the safety of the endangered ones, succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Mrs. Pope was badly burned about the lower limbs, while the child fared worse. The little girl suffered a bad burn on one leg, extending from the knee to the waist, and it is thought she inhaled some of the flames.

Mother and daughter were doing well at last reports, and it is thought no very serious results may follow. Joseph Botz resides in the other half of the house, and for a time it was thought the building was doomed. Luckily a part of the alcohol scattered in a portion of the room where it failed to ignite. This fact, it is thought, saved the house from destruction.

BREAKS IN THE MAIN

Caused Some Shortage of Gas in This City for a Time Yesterday.

Two serious breaks occurred in the 10-inch high pressure main of the Ohio Valley Gas company in Washington county, Pa., yesterday and there was some shortage of gas in this city. The first break occurred at a "Y," six miles north of West Middletown, and while this was being repaired another break in the same main was located at Middletown. As soon as the break was discovered word was sent to the office in this city and notification was sent to all the plants on the line not to use the gas while the pressure was low.

The result was that during the afternoon a number of plants were unable to run the clay shops. This was done in order that the domestic supply would not be lessened. A force of repairmen were hurried to the break and late last evening the damage was repaired.

This is the second mishap this company has had to contend with within a short time.

LINCOLN'S PRAISE SPOKEN BY DISTINGUISHED ORATORS

A Galaxy of Noted Speakers at Youngstown Foraker Club Banquet.

HON. W. R. TAYLER'S EULOGY

Of the Martyr President As One of the Greatest of Great Americans.

SENATOR FORAKER'S ORATION

A Comprehensive Review of Conspicuous National Events From Lincoln to McKinley—The Banquet a Big, Successful Affair.

Youngstown, February 13.—(Special)—A galaxy of oratorical talent was present at the Foraker club's Lincoln's birthday banquet last night. There were 450 guests and the occasion was one to be remembered.

The chief orators, Senator Foraker and Hon. R. W. Taylor, arrived during the afternoon and were given a reception at the Tod house. Soon after the Sebring brothers, with a delegation from that pottery town, arrived on a special train, followed by delegations from Warren, East Liverpool and other cities.

Stephen S. Conroy was toastmaster. Senator Foraker responded to the toast, "The Republican Party." He remarked that he came at considerable inconvenience, but was glad to be present.

His address dealt with national questions from Lincoln to McKinley, paying an eloquent tribute to the memory and greatness of both these martyr presidents. Speaking of the Philippines he said we would stay there till the civil government was supreme.

R. M. Wanamaker, of Akron, spoke on the "Great American Triumvirate"—Washington, Lincoln and McKinley, and Congressman R. W. Taylor spoke on Lincoln's life and its lessons. He said in part:

"Because we do not live in a romantic age, we live in an idol-smashing age. This of itself is perhaps commendable. Unworthy objects of public adoration are falling one by one from the pedestals upon which an unthinking and too susceptible age has put them; but our success in thus felling the bogus gods of our ancestors has a most vicious tendency.

"No man ever lived who more richly deserves the title of patriot than Lincoln. Innumerable are the instances where he exhibited his desire to sacrifice himself, if, by so doing, his great purpose to save the union might be advanced. He was nature's son, calm, serene, absolutely without self-consciousness; and these, with a clear head, a sound judgment, and an honest heart, sufficed to carry a mountain of responsibility.

"He is a subject always old yet ever new. He is a fathomless depth and an infinitely sided character. Every sounding discloses new depths, every view adds new light. The deeper the sounding the more beautiful the thing disclosed; the more careful and discriminating the view the more sublime and bewildering the light.

"How inspiring, how ennobling, how uplifting is the character of Lincoln. How marvelous, indeed, was he. Here was a man, sprung from lowly origin, without training in the art of diplomacy or of social functions, who yet showed himself to be master of all—especially the master of those who were pastmasters in diplomacy and polite literature.

"His strength and courage were never more apparent than in respect to the proclamation of emancipation. It seems to mark the moral zenith of the great commoner's career.

"I wonder what Lincoln would think, and what he would say if he were among us at this hour. When we consider what he was and what he lived for we must hide our heads in very shame. The negro has, it is true, progressed much in the last 30 years, but is he where Lincoln meant him to be? The fruits of his emancipation have fallen far short of his and our just expectations. The southern Democracy, by vicious constitutional provisions, is gradually robbing the negro of the rights of citizenship; while in some sections of the south so-called Republican organizations are being formed which aim at the substantial disfranchisement of the negro. It is needless to say that any party which plants itself on such a platform, and calls itself Republican is flying a pirate's flag, and is entitled to no quarter from a party whose corner-stone is embedded in an imperishable foundation of equal civil and political rights, whatever may be the color of a man's skin.

"O Lincoln, blessed the country that owns your name and fame! You builded better than you knew. You not only freed three million slaves, you broke the shackles from all the world, and taught all men how to be free and how to govern. Peace to your ashes and eternal honor to your name!"

Other speakers were F. A. Hartenstein, ex-Lieutenant Governor A. W. Jones and M. C. McNab.

CHARLES MARDIS SENTENCED FOR ASSAULT.

Must Pay $50 And Costs And Be Locked Up 30 Days—Result of Saloon Dispute.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—Charles Mardis was found guilty yesterday of assault and battery. He was interested in a card game in the saloon of William Higginson in Wells-ville one evening last June. Trouble arose and Mardis was put out of the back door of the saloon and, it is alleged, a beer bottle was thrown after him. He secured the bottle and waited at the back door.

When William Higginson, Sr., went to the door, Mardis, thinking as he testified that it was Higginson's son, struck him over the head with the bottle, inflicting injuries which left Mr. Higginson in a precarious condition. While there was no doubt of Mardis' guilt, there seemed to be no disposition to believe that he acted with intent to kill or disfigure. The court was inclined to be lenient with him. The sentence was that Mardis pay a fine of $50 and costs and spend 30 days in the county jail.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

ROBERT STONE FELL THROUGH A SKYLIGHT WHILE AT WORK.

His Shoulder Bone Broken And Other Wounds Inflicted By Spikes.

While at work this morning at the Brunt Porcelain Works, Robert Stone was seriously hurt by falling through a skylight. In falling he struck two spikes projecting from a timber, inflicting ugly wounds. His shoulder bone was also broken.

The patrol was called and Stone taken to the office of a physician, where his wounds were dressed, after which he was taken to his home in the East End.

GROCERS' MEETING

A Big Gathering at Which Association Officers for the Year Were Elected.

The Retail Grocers' association of this city held a largely attended meeting last evening, almost every retail grocery in the city being represented. The most important business transacted was the election of the following officers to serve for a term of one year:

President—Russell Heddleston. Vice President—Albert Pearce. Secretary—Mr. Bradmon. Treasurer—T. B. Murphy.

The report of Edwin Oppelt, who represented the local association at the annual convention of retail grocers' associations at Milwaukee, was received, which proved to be beneficial to the local members.

Another meeting of the association will be held next week, when arrangements will be completed to give a social and smoker soon.

SUIT WITHDRAWN

Action of W. H. Riley Against M. Wasbutzky Settled Out of Court.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—The suit of William H. Riley versus M. Wasbutzky, of East Liverpool, has been withdrawn from the files. Each litigant has paid his own costs. Riley sued to compel the defendant to purchase oil leases and personal property to the amount of $1,600, as he had agreed.

GOVERNOR NASH WILL NOT ASSIST

WORKS FOR RETRENCHMENT

And Does Not Like to See His Efforts Nullified—Proposed Legislation Abolishing Prison Contract Labor—State Capital Gossip.

Columbus, Feb. 13.—(Special)—Governor Nash made public late Wednesday afternoon a copy of a letter he sent to a state official who requested that his salary be increased. The governor said he was strongly opposed to an increase in any salary among state officials. "For months I have been at work and using my endeavors for the purpose of increasing the revenues of the state, so that the taxpayers may have the benefit thereof. It seems to me that nearly every officer and every department wants to increase the expense in some way."

Mr. Pollock, of Stark, yesterday presented a bill which provides for the abolishment of the prison contract labor system. It has the earnest support of labor organizations, and it is believed it has a better chance of passing this time than ever before.

Chief Fire Marshal S. D. Hollenbeck received a telegram from Deputy Marshal Hart, of Akron, Wednesday afternoon, stating that a man named Fox, who confessed to setting fire to the woodenware and novelty works of Baker & McMillen in Akron away back in 1892, had been convicted of the crime in the Akron courts on Wednesday. Marshal Hollenbeck instructed Deputy Hart to go to Alliance today to investigate the big fire which occurred in that city several days ago. Alliance parties are suspicious and request an investigation.

It has been discovered that Frank C. Newman, who was received at the penitentiary from Stark county to serve 18 months for giving wine to a girl under age for a questionable purpose, is a third-termer.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad company has filed a certificate with the secretary of state, increasing its capital stock from $4,000,000 to $8,000,000. The company paid a fee of $4,000 for the privilege of increasing.

The Record Publishing company, of Wellsville, which was incorporated under the laws of West Virginia, Oct. 21, 1901, has been authorized to engage in business in Ohio. The capital stock, $8,000, is divided into shares of $50 each. The value of the company's property in Wellsville is placed at $2,000. The incorporators each own one share of the stock in the company and are as follows: W. F. Lones, Charles Boyd, G. W. Adams, James Nolan, John B. Ellis and John C. Nicholson.

Will of John Campbell Leaves $1,000 Each to a Son And a Daughter.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—The will of John Campbell, late of Salem township, has been filed in common pleas court, Judge Boone having been a witness. It grants to Charles C. Campbell, a son, $1,000; to Edith Campbell, a daughter, $1,000. The farm is to be the property of his wife during life; after her death, to go to Charles and Edith Campbell.

A Splendid Showing.

HIS $6,000 INCREASED JUST 150 PER CENT

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—The decision in case of Wm. Burgess vs. the West End Pottery company, of East Liverpool, was decided by Judge Hole this morning. The plaintiff held the company's promissory note for $6,000 on which he claimed he ought to realize the dividends declared by

NEW CONCERN TO TAKE CHARGE

Ohio China Company, of East Palestine, Incorporated With $100,000 Capital.

TAKES HOLD NEXT JULY

O. C. Walker Will Be General Manager of the Plant—Extensive Improvements at the Smith-Phillips Plant—General News.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state by the Ohio China company, of East Palestine. The capital is $100,000, in 1,000 shares. The incorporators are R. F. Taggart, L. D. Overlander, D. H. McIntosh, O. C. Walker and W. H. Bostwick.

F. A. Sebring, being the last vice president of the Ohio China company, in the absence of the last president of that concern, George E. Sebring, and Charles J. Albright as the last secretary, consent to the use of the name, "the Ohio China company," by the new corporation. The first named concern sold out to the latter company recently.

The new company will take possession July 1, but so far no additions to the plant are contemplated. This morning announcement was made by a member of the new firm that they would take over the plant intact. Besides the names mentioned in the articles of incorporation, some stock is retained by the Sebring Bros., of Sebring, and C. A. Lentz. O. C. Walker will be made general manager of the pottery, but no other changes or additions to the force have been announced.

The Smith and Phillips plant in the East End has not been running full for some time. The company contemplate extensive improvements. An additional kiln and an extension of the decorating department are under consideration. This will mean that an additional 32 feet will be added to the present factory. The new portion will be built to the south end of the building, and the room now occupied by the decorating department will be converted into a glass ware room. J. T. Smith said this morning that work on the new buildings would not commence before spring. In the decorating department 18 girls and six men are kept constantly employed, and an addition will be made to the force by the end of the present week.

The last of a series of three games of association football will be played on Saturday afternoon between the employees of the decorating departments of Laughlin No. 2 and the K. T. & K. A challenge has been received by the management of the Laughlin team for a game with the Buckeyes for from $25 to $50 a side. As soon as Laughlins' forfeit is covered preliminaries will be arranged.

An unusual exhibition is witnessed daily at the Chelsea at New Cumberland, according to the statement of one of the firm. A jiggerman employed at that plant is said to be making 400 dozen cups per day. There are a number of jiggermen in this city, out of work, who would be glad to share the work. By so doing both could make a comfortable living.

Carpenters yesterday commenced to enlarge the old decorating shop at Laughlin No. 2. The room formerly used for decal work is being remodeled, and the employees of this department have been removed to the new end.

Bricklayers are completing the new kilns at Laughlin No. 2. A large force of men is employed, but it will be some time before the work is finished. As soon as the weather opens the carpenter work will be commenced.

Three engravers are now employed the company. Calculated on the earnings of the concern, it is the decision of the court that this $6,000 has earned $9,000 since 1892, or 150 per cent. The judgment therefore is for $15,000. The plaintiff asked for six-twentieths of the earnings, or something more than $25,000.

MOTHER AND HER DAUGHTER ENVELOPED IN FIERCE FLAME

at Laughlin No. 2. Two new additions to this department are Mr. Speakman and Mr. Moore, of Hanley, Eng. The company at present has considerable work done outside the plant.

Owing to a shortage of gas all the clay hands at the Klondike were compelled to quit work at noon yesterday. It was impossible to run the engine, and a kiln, which had been made ready to fire, was abandoned.

At the annual meeting of the American Ceramic society, held at Cleveland this week, the following officers were elected: President, Ernest Mayer, Beaver Falls, Pa.; vice president, Francis W. Walker, Beaver Falls; secretary Prof. E. M. Orton.

A number of physicians have gone to the wreck. It is reported 20 persons are injured.

NEARING SETTLEMENT

Jiggermen's Controversy With the Goodwin Firm Likely Soon to Be Adjusted.

It is probable the controversy between the jiggermen at the Goodwin pottery and the firm will be adjusted within the next few days.

It is now apparent that the management has to the present misinterpreted the provisions of rule 2, and are not willing to admit the fact until they have word from some higher authority. An appeal has been made by the firm to the manufacturers' representatives on the conference committee which created the rule in question.

EAST END

INTERESTING SERVICES

Are in Progress at Two of the East End Churches—Several Conversions.

A large congregation was present last evening at the special service at the Second Presbyterian church, which is being conducted by Rev. S. Boston, of Steubenville. The sermon last evening was very interesting and impressive. A special musical program has been arranged for this evening by the Laughlin brothers, who sang with great power last night.

Never before in the history of the Erie street M. E. church was more interest taken in a revival service than at present. The services this week have been largely attended, frequently the little church being crowded to the doors. These meetings have been in charge of Rev. George W. Orcutt, and at the meeting last evening several conversions were reported. The trustees of this church recently ordered 100 new hymnals and these arrived this morning and will be used for the first time this evening. The services will continue indefinitely. Next Sunday it is expected a number of new members will be added to the church rolls.

NO WORD FROM BETZ

East End Contractors, As Well as Others, Deside to Hear From Him.

Although Wm. U. Betz has been gone from the East End for a week no word has been received as to his location, but it is generally presumed he went to his former home at Zanesville. Yesterday afternoon a letter was sent to Mrs. Betz, asking if her husband had returned home and an answer is expected by Saturday.

When Betz left he had in his possession the invoice or account of practically all of the lumber received for the new addition being built to Laughlins No. 2, and now the carpenters working there are somewhat hampered to know the amount of material on hand. Of course this account could be secured within a short time, but in so doing much valuable time would be lost. E. P. McHenry said to a reporter yesterday afternoon that the account of lumber that Betz had was of much value to the contractors, and he could not understand why it was not left with them.

Will Visit Wellsville Lodge.

A special car containing about 50 members of Eureka circle, of the East End, will go to Wellsville this evening, leaving Mulberry street at 7:30 o'clock. The object is to visit the Fidelity circle at Wellsville. The Wellsville lodge will initiate a large class this evening, after which a social and entertainment will be given for the benefit of the East End visitors.

Wild Ducks on the Island.

Wild ducks have made their appearance on Babb's Island and yesterday afternoon quite a number were seen swimming in the river between the island and the Ohio shore. There are a number of expert gunners in the East End, but one of these cared to go after the ducks. They were unusually large.

Fell Into the Creek.

William McClure, a well known young man of the East End, fell in Beaver creek yesterday afternoon while fishing. The water was only four feet deep and the accident was caused by McClure stepping on some soft ice which he thought solid.

George McKinnon and William Finney, of St. George street, went to Smith's Ferry yesterday afternoon, where they spent several hours fishing in Beaver creek. They were very successful, returning home last evening with several large strings.

Mrs. William Baird, of Mulberry street, left this morning for Steubenville to attend the funeral services of her cousin, L. H. Miller, who died a few days ago. The services were conducted by Rev. S. L. Boston, interment being made in the Union cemetery, Steubenville.

THE RELIGIOUS LIFE

Will Be the Prevailing Topic at the Y. M. C. A. State Convention.

The topic of the state convention, which meets at Piqua, O., the remaining half of the week, will be "The Religious Life of Man." A glance over the program shows the following as some of the topics and speakers: "Winning Your Own Soul," Washington Gladden, D. D., L. L. D., Columbus; "Religion and the Young Man of Today," Morgan Wood, D. D., Cleveland; "The Religious Life of Men in Industry Pursuits," E. L. Shury, Dayton; "The Religious Life of Students," Prof. W. O. Thompson, Columbus; "The Religious Opportunity in the Orinet," C. C. Mischever, New York; "The Religious Life of Railroad Men," George A. Warburton, New York.

There are many other speakers and topics, but the dominant tone is religious life. If there is one thing more than another that has made the Y. M. C. A. the success that it is in the world it is the power to adapt itself to changing conditions. Religious conditions are in a process of change—men are harder to draw to meetings and harder to move when they come than a decade ago. The Y. M. C. A. feels that it must make an effort to reach all the men in the community, rather than only those who visit the rooms. Plans to this end will be discussed and formulated, so far as the Ohio work is concerned, at the convention.

Three delegates at least will be from East Liverpool, and reports of the convention will appear in this paper.

BRYAN SENT REGRETS

Prominent Ohio Democrats Gathered at a Banquet Held at Salem.

TRAIN FLEW TRACK.

No. 10 on Erie Road Wrecked Between Mahoning and Phalanx, O.

MANY HURT. ONE MAY DIE.

Number of Ohio and Pennsylvania People Among Them—President Ramsay, of the Wabash, Did Heroic Work, With Emergency Case.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 13.—Train No. 10, on the Erie road, for New York, was wrecked between Mahoning and Phalanx, O., about 40 miles from this city. The whole train left the track and ran on for 20 car lengths, finally toppling over on a ditch. The train consisted of a buffet car, two sleepers, chair car, coach, baggage and express. Physicians were called from Warren and Youngstown, and left at once for Leavittsburg, where some of the injured had been taken. Some of the more seriously injured were taken to Youngstown.

The engineer of the train was Matthew Shay, of Youngstown; George Hopper, of Cleveland, conductor. They were not hurt.

One May Be Fatally Injured.

George Thomas, of Cleveland, received what is feared to be fatal injuries, brain concussion.

The others injured are: Charles Shull, Youngstown, side hurt.

Robert Blickensderfer, general manager Wabash railroad, St. Louis, mouth cut and body bruised.

U. S. Cartwright, Baltimore, back and head bruised.

G. H. Van Armour, Coldwater, Mich., scalp cut.

Mrs. Fred Kuch, New Castle, Pa., arm and shoulder bruised.

Mrs. Frank Peck and two children, Warren, O., all received bruises on body.

Frank Finnegan, Cleveland, head hurt.

Max Tarshis, New York, arm injured.

Cora Ames, Cleveland, scalp cut and body bruised.

William Vaughn, cook on President Ramsay's car, St. Louis, artery in leg severed.

Mrs. Mary Best, Cleveland, back and shoulders injured.

George T. Young, Mrs. James Lamb, Warren, O., back and chest hurt.

C. S. Rusling, Philadelphia, arm and side hurt.

Mrs. C. G. Hart, Adrian, Mich., arm injured.

J. T. Blair, Greenville, Pa. James White, Steubenville, O., right arm broken.

R. J. Wood, Mr. Ramsay's secretary, body bruised.

Milton Steele, porter, body bruised.

J. H. Kirch, Youngstown, O., left leg injured and internal injuries.

Accident Due to Spreading Rails.

The cause of the wreck is now said to be spreading rails. Most of the injured were in the coach next to the last, that being the private car of Joseph Ramsay, president of the Wabash railway.

Mr. Ramsay had an emergency case with him and he did heroic work in assisting the injured. His car did not topple over, but the car in front did.

Mr. Ramsay wired his friends that his party would go east via Pittsburg.

CREED COMMITTEE DECIDED UPON THE THIRD ARTICLE.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—The Presbyterian revision committee considered the third and fourth articles of the new brief statement of faith for popular use, and came to a final decision on the third article. This article touches on creation. The fourth article—on sin—will be again taken up today. The committee will adjourn today, and it will be necessary to hold another lengthy meeting to dispose of the remainder of the brief statement, which contains 16 articles or sections. Washington probably will be decided upon as the place of the next and final meeting of the committee.

What Disease Produces Most Misery.

If the amount of misery caused by different diseases could be estimated it would be found the portion caused by headache would outweigh any other, and perhaps equal all combined. THE STATE GIVES EVIDENCE!

From every section, city, town and village, comes convincing proof of the great value of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills as a medicine unequalled in the cure of all varieties of nervous diseases. So great and widespread in this mass of testimony it needs no argument. The facts speak for themselves.

COLUMBUS.

Mrs. J. C. Test, of No. 115 South Seloto street, Columbus, O., says: "Following a long sickness I was very weak, nervous and unable to sleep, nothing seemed to build or tone me up until I got Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The medicine suited me finely, building me up in general strength and vigor. The nerves became steady, the sleep peaceful. I cannot speak too highly of the medicine as a nerve and general tonic."

DAYTON.

Mrs. C. H. Smiley, of No. 522 South Ludlow street, Dayton, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are grand. I was nervous, restless, sleepless and lacked energy and vigor. I heard of the Nerve Pills and got some. There is no mistake in its value. I feel well, sleep well—the nerves are steady and I am more than pleased with it—vigor and energy have returned as well."

AKRON.

Mrs. Sam Bollier, of No. 536 Exchange street, Akron, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are a fine tonic. I was run down, felt sluggish, dull, listless and nervous. I was told of and got the Nerve Pills, and they made me feel well and good in short order. I feel bright and strong again and nerves very steady. I think it a great medicine."

STEUBENVILLE.

Mr. John Schaefer, undertaker and awning dealer, 143 North Fourth street says: "I like Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills very much. They are a good nerve and blood medicine. My digestion was not good—appetite poor and digestive organs inactive—I felt depressed. The Nerve Pills I heard of and got gave me a good appetite and digestion—steadied and strengthened me every way. I feel in good shape again—plenty of energy and vigor. I am pleased to recommend them, as they have regulated and strengthened all the digestive organs and nerve forces."

Killed by an Automobile.

New York, Feb. 13.—Henry Thies, a 7-year-old boy, was struck and killed by an automobile occupied by Edward E. Thomas, son of General Samuel Thomas, and three friends. Thomas was arrested, charged with homicide, and was released on bail.

INTERESTING SERVICES

Are in Progress at Two of the East End Churches—Several Conversions.

A large congregation was present last evening at the special service at the Second Presbyterian church, which is being conducted by Rev. S. Boston, of Steubenville. The sermon last evening was very interesting and impressive. A special musical program has been arranged for this evening by the Laughlin brothers, who sang with great power last night.

Never before in the history of the Erie street M. E. church was more interest taken in a revival service than at present. The services this week have been largely attended, frequently the little church being crowded to the doors. These meetings have been in charge of Rev. George W. Orcutt, and at the meeting last evening several conversions were reported. The trustees of this church recently ordered 100 new hymnals and these arrived this morning and will be used for the first time this evening. The services will continue indefinitely. Next Sunday it is expected a number of new members will be added to the church rolls.

NO WORD FROM BETZ

East End Contractors, As Well as Others, Deside to Hear From Him.

Although Wm. U. Betz has been gone from the East End for a week no word has been received as to his location, but it is generally presumed he went to his former home at Zanesville. Yesterday afternoon a letter was sent to Mrs. Betz, asking if her husband had returned home and an answer is expected by Saturday.

When Betz left he had in his possession the invoice or account of practically all of the lumber received for the new addition being built to Laughlins No. 2, and now the carpenters working there are somewhat hampered to know the amount of material on hand. Of course this account could be secured within a short time, but in so doing much valuable time would be lost. E. P. McHenry said to a reporter yesterday afternoon that the account of lumber that Betz had was of much value to the contractors, and he could not understand why it was not left with them.

Will Visit Wellsville Lodge.

A special car containing about 50 members of Eureka circle, of the East End, will go to Wellsville this evening, leaving Mulberry street at 7:30 o'clock. The object is to visit the Fidelity circle at Wellsville. The Wellsville lodge will initiate a large class this evening, after which a social and entertainment will be given for the benefit of the East End visitors.

Wild Ducks on the Island.

Wild ducks have made their appearance on Babb's island and yesterday afternoon quite a number were seen swimming in the river between the island and the Ohio shore. There are a number of expert gunners in the East End, but one of these cared to go after the ducks. They were unusually large.

Fell into the Creek.

William McClure, a well known young man of the East End, fell in Beaver creek yesterday afternoon while fishing. The water was only four feet deep and the accident was caused by McClure stepping on some soft ice which he thought solid.

Mrs. Ida M. Clark is ill at her home on St. George street, threatened with fever.

The missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church met this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. T. F. Anderson, Pennsylvania avenue, and was largely attended.

George McKinnon and William Finney, of St. George street, went to Smith's Ferry yesterday afternoon, where they spent several hours fishing in Beaver creek. They were very successful, returning home last evening with several large strings.

Mrs. William Baird, of Mulberry street, left this morning for Steubenville to attend the funeral services of her cousin, L. H. Miller, who died a few days ago. The services were conducted by Rev. S. L. Boston, interment being made in the Union cemetery, Steubenville.

THE RELIGIOUS LIFE

Will Be the Prevailing Topic at the Y. M. C. A. State Convention.

The topic of the state convention, which meets at Piqua, O., the remaining half of the week, will be "The Religious Life of Man." A glance over the program shows the following as some of the topics and speakers: "Winning Your Own Soul," Washington Gladden, D. D., L. L. D., Columbus; "Religion and the Young Man of Today," Morgan Wood, D. D., Cleveland; "The Religious Life of Men in Industry Pursuits," E. L. Shury, Dayton; "The Religious Life of Students," Prof. W. O. Thompson, Columbus; "The Religious Opportunity in the Orinet," C. C. Michener, New York; "The Religious Life of Railroad Men," George A. Warburton, New York.

There are many other speakers and topics, but the dominant tone is religious life. If there is one thing more than another that has made the Y. M. C. A. the success that it is in the world it is the power to adapt itself to changing conditions. Religious conditions are in a process of change—men are harder to draw to meetings and harder to move when they come than a decade ago. The Y. M. C. A. feels that it must make an effort to reach all the men in the community, rather than only those who visit the rooms. Plans to this end will be discussed and formulated, so far as the Ohio work is concerned, at the convention.

Three delegates at least will be from East Liverpool, and reports of the convention will appear in this paper.

Mrs. Ida M. Clark is ill at her home on St. George street, threatened with fever.

The missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church met this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. T. F. Anderson, Pennsylvania avenue, and was largely attended.

George McKinnon and William Finney, of St. George street, went to Smith's Ferry yesterday afternoon, where they spent several hours fishing in Beaver creek. They were very successful, returning home last evening with several large strings.

Mrs. William Baird, of Mulberry street, left this morning for Steubenville to attend the funeral services of her cousin, L. H. Miller, who died a few days ago. The services were conducted by Rev. S. L. Boston, interment being made in the Union cemetery, Steubenville.

THE RELIGIOUS LIFE

Will Be the Prevailing Topic at the Y. M. C. A. State Convention.

The topic of the state convention, which meets at Piqua, O., the remaining half of the week, will be "The Religious Life of Man." A glance over the program shows the following as some of the topics and speakers: "Winning Your Own Soul," Washington Gladden, D. D., L. L. D., Columbus; "Religion and the Young Man of Today," Morgan Wood, D. D., Cleveland; "The Religious Life of Men in Industrial Pursuits," E. L. Shury, Dayton; "The Religious Life of Students," Prof. W. O. Thompson, Columbus; "The Religious Opportunity in the Orient," C. C. Michener, New York; "The Religious Life of Railroad Men," George A. Warburton, New York.

There are many other speakers and topics, but the dominant tone is religious life. If there is one thing more than another that has made the Y. M. C. A. the success that it is in the world it is the power to adapt itself to changing conditions. Religious conditions are in a process of change—men are harder to draw to meetings and harder to move when they come than a decade ago. The Y. M. C. A. feels that it must make an effort to reach all the men in the community, rather than only those who visit the rooms. Plans to this end will be discussed and formulated, so far as the Ohio work is concerned, at the convention.

Three delegates at least will be from East Liverpool, and reports of the convention will appear in this paper.

BRYAN SENT REGRETS

Prominent Ohio Democrats Gathered at a Banquet Held at Salem.

Salem, February 13.—One hundred and forty covers were laid at the Lincoln-Jefferson banquet, given by the Democratic club, of Salem, at the Calumet club room last evening. Toasts were responded to by ex-Mayor J. A. Rice, of Canton; Charles Kirschbaum, of Canton; Charles Bonsall, of Salem; J. L. Zimmerman, of Springfield, O.; George S. Adams, Cleveland, Ex-Mayor A. W. Taylor was toastmaster.

Letters of regret were received from W. J. Bryan and others.

Deputy Collector Resigns.

Warren, Feb. 13.—George Predmore, deputy revenue collector for Trumbull, Ashtabula, Mahoning and Columbiana counties, has sent his resignation to Collector Frank McCord. Mr. Predmore has accepted a position as traveling salesman for a Pittsburg distilling company.

A New Manager.

Salem, Feb. 13.—(Special).—A. H. Kennedy has purchased the interest of A. K. Tatem in the A. K. Tatem Label company, and will become manager after April 1. He has been in the dry goods business with one firm in Salem for 21 years.

TRAIN FLEW TRACK.

No. 10 on Erie Road Wrecked Between Mahoning and Phalanx, O.

MANY HURT. ONE MAY DIE.

Number of Ohio and Pennsylvania People Among Them—President Ramsay, of the Wabash, Did Heroic Work, With Emergency Case.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 13.—Train No. 10, on the Erie road, for New York, was wrecked between Mahoning and Phalanx, O., about 40 miles from this city. The whole train left the track and ran on for 20 car lengths, finally toppling over on a ditch. The train consisted of a buffet car, two sleepers, chair car, coach, baggage and express. Physicians were called from Warren and Youngstown, and left at once for Leavittsburg, where some of the injured had been taken. Some of the more seriously injured were taken to Youngstown.

The engineer of the train was Matthew Shay, of Youngstown; George Hopper, of Cleveland, conductor. They were not hurt.

One May Be Fatally Injured.

George Thomas, of Cleveland, received what is feared to be fatal injuries, brain concussion.

The others injured are:

Charles Shull, Youngstown, side hurt.

Robert Blickensderfer, general manager Wabash railroad, St. Louis, mouth cut and body bruised.

U. S. Cartwright, Baltimore, back and head bruised.

G. H. Van Armour, Coldwater, Mich., scalp cut.

Mrs. Fred Kueh, New Castle, Pa., arm and shoulder bruised.

Mrs. Frank Peck and two children, Warren, O., all received bruises on body.

Frank Finnegan, Cleveland, head hurt.

Max Tarshis, New York, arm injured.

Cora Ames, Cleveland, scalp cut and body bruised.

William Vaughn, cook on President Ramsay's car, St. Louis, artery in leg severed.

Mrs. Mary Best, Cleveland, back and shoulders injured.

George T. Young.

Mrs. James Lamb, Warren, O., back and chest hurt.

George Eckert, Meadville, Pa.

E. J. Bassinger, Cleveland, left leg injured.

C. S. Rusling, Philadelphia, arm and side hurt.

Mrs. C. G. Hart, Adrian, Mich., arm injured.

J. T. Blair, Greenville, Pa.

James White, Steubenville, O., right arm broken.

R. J. Wood, Mr. Ramsay's secretary, body bruised.

Milton Steele, porter, body bruised.

J. H. Kirch, Youngstown, O., left leg injured and internal injuries.

Accident Due to Spreading Rails.

The cause of the wreck is now said to be spreading rails. Most of the injured were in the coach next to the last, that being the private car of Joseph Ramsay, president of the Wabash railway.

Mr. Ramsay had an emergency case with him and he did heroic work in assisting the injured. His car did not topple over, but the car in front did.

Mr. Ramsay wired his friends that his party would go east via Pittsburgh.

CREED COMMITTEE DECIDED UPON THE THIRD ARTICLE.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—The Presbyterian revision committee considered the third and fourth articles of the new brief statement of faith for popular use, and came to a final decision on the third article. This article touches on creation. The fourth article—on sin—will be again taken up today. The committee will adjourn today, and it will be necessary to hold another lengthy meeting to dispose of the remainder of the brief statement, which contains 16 articles or sections. Washington probably will be decided upon as the place of the next and final meeting of the committee.

THE STATE GIVES EVIDENCE!

From every section, city, town and village, comes convincing proof of the great value of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills as a medicine unequalled in the cure of all varieties of nervous diseases. So great and widespread in this mass of testimony it needs no argument. The facts speak for themselves.

COLUMBUS.

Mrs. J. C. Test, of No. 115 South Seloto street, Columbus, O., says: "Following a long sickness I was very weak, nervous and unable to sleep, nothing seemed to build or tone me up until I got Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The medicine suited me finely, building me up in general strength and vigor. The nerves became steady, the sleep peaceful. I cannot speak too highly of the medicine as a nerve and general tonic."

DAYTON.

Mrs. C. H. Smiley, of No. 522 South Ludlow street, Dayton, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are grand. I was nervous, restless, sleepless and lacked energy and vigor. I heard of the Nerve Pills and got some. There is no mistake in its value. I feel well, sleep well—the nerves are steady and I am more than pleased with it—vigor and energy have returned as well."

AKRON.

Mrs. Sam Bolliver, of No. 536 Exchange street, Akron, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are a fine tonic. I was run down, felt sluggish, dull, listless and nervous. I was told of and got the Nerve Pills, and they made me feel well and good in short order. I feel bright and strong again and nerves very steady. I think it a great medicine."

STEUBENVILLE.

Mr. John Schaefer, undertaker and awning dealer, 143 North Fourth street says: "I like Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills very much. They are a good nerve and blood medicine. My digestion was not good—appetite poor and digestive organs inactive—I felt depressed. The Nerve Pills I heard of and got gave me a good appetite and digestion—steadied and strengthened me every way. I feel in good shape again—plenty of energy and vigor. I am pleased to recommend them, as they have regulated and strengthened all the digestive organs and nerve forces."

Beware of imitation—this shaped box—no other. Signature and portrait of Dr. A. W. Chase on each box of the genuine. Price 50c at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., 257 Washington Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

CINCINNATI.

Mrs. J. G. Wasson, dressmaker, of No. 525 Mount street, Cincinnati, O., says: "I was tired all the time, went to bed tired and got up tired, was very nervous and suffered from nervous sick headaches. I was told to get Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and I did so. They are certainly a great medicine. They cured the headaches—made my nerves quiet and steady. I rest well at night and wake up bright. I am very much delighted at the result and glad to say so."

CANTON.

Mrs. George E. Warren, of No. 427 East Tenth street, Canton, O., says: "I had need of a nerve tonic as I was restless, weak, nervous and sleeping poorly. The Nerve Pills, however, that we got proved just the medicine I needed, and I slept well again, find the nerves steady and the general strength good."

TOLEDO.

Mrs. M. Van Aarle, of No. 922 Broadway, Toledo, O., says: "I was suffering from severe nervousness caused by worry, felt weak and weary, lacked energy. Hearing of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, I got a box. I am now feeling right well and strong again and attend to my household duties without trouble. The medicine is certainly a good all around general and nerve tonic."

CLEVELAND.

Mrs. Catherine Mertz, of 59 Rockwell St., Cleveland, O., says: "I was in very bad shape when I got the box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. I was so weak and nervous I dropped anywhere with a weak heart. I could not trust myself nowhere away from home—the spells came on me any time and often—sleep I could not; restless all the time. The nerve pills soon changed all this, and I got around in good shape and safely, do about as I please—dizzy and faint spells gone—nerves and heart in good shape and feeling as if life were worth living again."

SANDUSKY.

Mrs. William Jakes, of No. 227 Jefferson street, Sandusky, O., says: "As a nerve tonic I can honestly recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. I was nervous, restless, depressed and slept poorly, but since I took the pills I sleep well, wake bright, feel like work, nerves steady and general health and strength excellent again."

YOUNGSTOWN.

Mrs. Ruth Jenkins, of 225 East Front street, Youngstown, O., says: "In my house Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills have been used with splendid results in several cases marked by a general feeling debility, lack of strength, appetite and energy, the medicine in such instance gives nerve strength, general physical strength, energy and tone. We consider the medicine an excellent one."

SPRINGFIELD.

Mrs. H. Leatherman, of 474 Lagona avenue, Springfield, O., says: "For a number of years I have been troubled with severe nervousness, indigestion and a fluttering heart. I heard Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills very highly recommended and thought I would try them. I got a box and now my nervous system is toned up, my indigestion relieved and my heart action steadied. I can speak very highly of these pills as a splendid nerve tonic."

"OLEO" BILL PASSED.

Measure Adopted In House
Makes Product Transported
Subject to State Laws.

RENOVATED BUTTER INSPECTION

Also Branding, Provided For—Passage Occurs of First Bill Awarding Spanish War Claim Damage to a United States Citizen.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The house yesterday passed the oleomargarine bill. There was no division on the final passage, the real test of strength having been made on a motion to recommit, which was defeated by a majority of 34. The provision to require the inspection and branding of renovated butter, which was adopted in committee of the whole Tuesday, was retained yesterday on an aye and no vote. As finally passed the bill is somewhat modified from the form in which it was reported from the committee on agriculture. It makes oleo or imitation butter or cheese transported into any state or territory for use, sale or consumption therein, subject to the laws of such state or territory, notwithstanding that it may be introduced in original packages, and imposes a tax of 10 cents per pound on oleo made in imitation of "butter of any shade of yellow." When not made in such imitation the tax is reduced to one-fourth of 1 cent per pound. The second section is intended to prevent dealers, hotel proprietors, restaurant and boarding house keepers from coloring the uncolored article, by making any person who colors the product and then sells or furnishes it to others a manufacturer within the meaning of the act. Penalties for violation of the act are a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than 30 days nor more than six months. The section relating to the inspection and branding of renovated butter is as follows:

For Government Inspection,

"That the secretary of agriculture is hereby authorized and required to cause a rigid sanitary inspection to be made from time to time, and at such times as he may deem necessary, of all factories and storehouses where butter is renovated; and all butter renovated at such places shall be carefully inspected in the same manner and to the same extent and purpose that meat products are now inspected. The quantity and quality of butter renovated shall be reported monthly. All renovated butter shall be designated as such by marks, brands and labels, and the words, 'renovated butter,' shall be printed on all packages thereof, in such manner as may be prescribed by the secretary of agriculture, and shall be sold only as renovated butter. No renovated butter shall be shipped or transported from one state to another, nor to foreign countries, unless inspected as provided in this section."

War claims occupied the attention of the house after the passage of the oleomargarine bill, and the day was made notable for the passage of the first bill for the payments of claims of United States citizens arising out of the Spanish war. It carried something over $55,000 for the payment of 202 claims for property taken within the United States for the use of the army. An omnibus bill carrying claims aggregating $2,114,552 for stores and supplies taken from loyal citizens during the Civil War also was passed. These claims were al-

A VALENTINE FROM THOMAS

BY JOE LINCOLN

COPYRIGHT 1902. BY JOE LINCOLN

'Tis Valentine night and the snow is milk white
And there isn't a cloud in the sky.
And my voice is in tune, and the jolly full moon
Is as yellow and round as your eye.
And here in the hard, cold and cruel back yard
Your Thomas sits caroling now;
Oh, pray be my valentine! Do be my valentine!
Maria! Maria! Me-ow!

You are tender and nice as a meadow of mice
You are sweeter than oceans of cream;
My heart is as quiver like hickory raw liver.
Where'er of your beauty I dream:
Your charming cold nose, and your lovely hooked toes,
Your fur of magnificent hue!
Oh, say you're my valentine! Swear you're my valentine!
Maria! Maria! Me-ow!

That ugly old cat from O'Hoolihan's flat
Is sitting close by on a shed.
He is raging at me, for he's jealous, you see,
And is longing to woo you instead.
He is bursting with spite and he dares me to fight;
But wait till this carol is through.
Then watch me, my dear, as I chew off his ear—
Maria! Maria! Me-ow!

"The world," so they say, "loves a lover," but nay—
I fear that is false as can be.
For Smith, from the height of the second back flight,
Has just thrown his slippers at me.
They're a ponderous pair, but 'tis little I care,
My darling, for bootjack or shoe:
Your love's what I crave, and all danger I'll brave;
Maria! Maria! Me-ow!

Old Mrs. McGann has just tossed out a can
Of water red hot from the tap.
And what has been said by that cat on the shed
Is something that calls for a scrap.
I am wrathful and wet, so excuse me, my pet.
I must lick that O'Hoolihan now;
But still be my valentine, ever my valentine—
Fess! Biff! Take that, will yer! Me-ow!

lowed under the provisions of the Bowman act, and the bill was identical with one passed by the house at the last session. Two other bills, which have been before congress for 28 years, to refer certain claims, for additional compensation by the builders of certain monitors during the Civil War, to the court of claims, were passed.

THE GERMAN YACHT ARRIVED.

Hohenzollern Reached New York
Sooner Than Expected—Admiral Welcomed.

New York, Feb. 13.—The imperial German yacht Hohenzollern, sent here for the use of Prince Henry of Prussia during his forthcoming visit, arrived yesterday from Kiel.

She was not expected, for she came by the southern circle, and it was calculated that the run would take at least one day more than it did. It had also been thought that she would touch at Bermuda and that place had reported her as two days overdue. The weather encountered was unfavorable for a call at Bermuda, and at sea Admiral Count von Baudissin abandoned the partly formed plan and shaped his course for New York.

Admiral Von Baudissin was formally welcomed to New York by a civic committee, a representative of Mayor Low and an officer of the United States navy. The civic committee was headed by Captain A. T. Mahan, U. S. N., and his associates were Emil S. Boas, Gustav H. Schwab, Captain Jacob S. Miller, William H. Baldwin, Jr., George H. Bolt, Colonel Whelan and Commissioner Rodgers. Captain Mahan spoke briefly, greeting the admiral and his officers and ship in the name of the people of the city. The admiral thanked the committee and through its members the citizens of New York. Private Secretary James Reynolds left the card of the mayor and Captain Converse, of the battleship Illinois, made the formal call in behalf of the navy. Wallace Downey, builder of the yacht for the German emperor, for the launching of which Prince Henry is coming to the United States, also called. The officers of the Hohenzollern said that it would be impossible for them to accept formal entertainments until the arrival of the prince, of whose suite they are members. They can and will do so in their private and individual capacities, but when they come ashore it will be in civilian attire. Admiral Von Baudissin will return the calls of those who called or left cards for him, and it was expected last evening that he would visit the city hall some time today. He will also call upon Consul General Buenz, representative here of the German government.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hooper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col. 7-11-3-1f

BIG SALE OF STREET RAILWAYS

Canton-Akron, Canton and Massillon and Canton-Massillon Interurban Purchased.

Canton, O., Feb. 13.—It is stated by an authoritative source that the Northern Ohio Traction company, the Everett-Moore syndicate and Henry Everett have disposed of their interests in the Canton-Akron street railway line, now being constructed between Akron and Canton, and the Canton and Massillon City street car systems, as well as the Canton-Massillon interurban line, now in operation, with the extension to Navarre, five miles south from Massillon.

Papers for the consummation of this deal are said to have been drawn up and signed and the transaction closed, to all intents and purposes.

The Canton-Akron property was purchased on option several months ago by the Northern Ohio Traction company, of the Everett-Moore syndicate, from the Canton-Akron company. It was stated at the time that an option for $50,000 or more was paid by the Everett-Moore people to guarantee their taking the property at the agreed price when it was completed and put in operation. The Canton-Massillon properties were secured later by a purchase of the stock of the Canton-Massillon Electric Railway company, in the interest of the Everett-Moore syndicate. The present purchasers of both properties are said to be a syndicate composed of the banking house of Tucker & Anthony, of Boston; L. E. Myers, of Chicago, and eastern capitalists. The transaction will involve something over $2,500,000.

Cleveland, Feb. 13.—Chairman Newcomb, of the bankers' committee, in charge of the Everett-Moore affairs, said yesterday afternoon: "It is true that negotiations have practically been closed with Boston people for the sale of the Canton-Akron and Canton-Massillon lines."

Doing Good.

A great deal of good is being done in all parts of the country by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good work, of aggravating and persistent coughs that have yielded to its soothing effects, of severe colds that have been broken up by its use, of threatened attacks of pneumonia that have been worded off and of dangerous cases of croup that it has cured. The great popularity and extensive sale of this preparation can not be a surprise to anyone who is acquainted with its good qualities. Use it when you have need of such a remedy and it will do you good. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

Do not make a mistake in buying family medicine. Moffat's Life Pills cure all stomach and liver diseases, and purify the blood. Try them.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. "OLEO" BILL PASSED.

Measure Adopted In House
Makes Product Transported
Subject to State Laws.

Also Branding, Provided For—Passage Occurs of First Bill Awarding Spanish War Claim Damage to a United States Citizen.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The house yesterday passed the oleomargarine bill. There was no division on the final passage, the real test of strength having been made on a motion to recommit, which was defeated by a majority of 34. The provision to require the inspection and branding of renovated butter, which was adopted in committee of the whole Tuesday, was retained yesterday on an aye and no vote. As finally passed the bill is somewhat modified from the form in which it was reported from the committee on agriculture. It makes oleo or imitation butter or cheese transported into any state or territory for use, sale or consumption therein, subject to the laws of such state or territory, notwithstanding that it may be introduced in original packages, and imposes a tax of 10 cents per pound on oleo made in imitation of "butter of any shade of yellow." When not made in such imitation the tax is reduced to one-fourth of 1 cent per pound. The second section is intended to prevent dealers, hotel proprietors, restaurant and boarding house keepers from coloring the uncolored article, by making any person who colors the product and then sells or furnishes it to others a manufacturer within the meaning of the act. Penalties for violation of the act are a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than 30 days nor more than six months. The section relating to the inspection and branding of renovated butter is as follows:

For Government Inspection.

"That the secretary of agriculture is hereby authorized and required to cause a rigid sanitary inspection to be made from time to time, and at such times as he may deem necessary, of all factories and storehouses where butter is renovated; and all butter renovated at such places shall be carefully inspected in the same manner and to the same extent and purpose that meat products are now inspected. The quantity and quality of butter renovated shall be reported monthly. All renovated butter shall be designated as such by marks, brands and labels, and the words, 'renovated butter,' shall be printed on all packages thereof, in such manner as may be prescribed by the secretary of agriculture, and shall be sold only as renovated butter. No renovated butter shall be shipped or transported from one state to another, nor to foreign countries, unless inspected as provided in this section."

War claims occupied the attention of the house after the passage of the oleomargarine bill, and the day was made notable for the passage of the first bill for the payments of claims of United States citizens arising out of the Spanish war. It carried something over $55,000 for the payment of 202 claims for property taken within the United States for the use of the army. An omnibus bill carrying claims aggregating $2,114,552 for stores and supplies taken from loyal citizens during the Civil War also was passed. These claims were al-

THE GERMAN YACHT ARRIVED.

Hohenzollern Reached New York
Sooner Than Expected—Admiral Welcomed.

New York, Feb. 13.—The imperial German yacht Hohenzollern, sent here for the use of Prince Henry of Prussia during his forthcoming visit, arrived yesterday from Kiel. She was not expected, for she came by the southern circle, and it was calculated that the run would take at least one day more than it did. It had also been thought that she would touch at Bermuda and that place had reported her as two days overdue. The weather encountered was unfavorable for a call at Bermuda, and at sea Admiral Count von Baudissin abandoned the partly formed plan and shaped his course for New York.

Admiral von Baudissin was formally welcomed to New York by a civic committee, a representative of Mayor Low and an officer of the United States navy. The civic committee was headed by Captain A. T. Mahan, U. S. N., and his associates were Emil S. Boas, Gustav H. Schwab, Captain Jacob S. Miller, William H. Baldwin, Jr., George H. Bolit, Colonel Whelan and Commissioner Rodgers. Captain Mahan spoke briefly, greeting the admiral and his officers and ship in the name of the people of the city. The admiral thanked the committee and through its members the citizens of New York. Private Secretary James Reynolds left the card of the mayor and Captain Converse, of the battleship Illinois, made the formal call in behalf of the navy. Wallace Downey, builder of the yacht for the German emperor, for the launching of which Prince Henry is coming to the United States, also called. The officers of the Hohenzollern said that it would be impossible for them to accept formal entertainments until the arrival of the prince, of whose suite they are members. They can and will do so in their private and individual capacities, but when they come ashore it will be in civilian attire. Admiral von Baudissin will return the calls of those who called or left cards for him, and it was expected last evening that he would visit the city hall some time today. He will also call upon Consul General Buenz, representative here of the German government.

OHIO REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

League Held Convention at Springfield—Bonham Chosen President. Other Officers Elected.

Springfield, O., Feb. 13.—The convention of the League of Ohio Republican clubs was held here. About 20 Republican clubs sent delegates. President D. Q. Morrow read his address. Following Mr. Morrow, Secretary Harley V. Spellman, of Marietta, and Treasurer W. E. Seyfer, of Mt. Vernon, made their reports. The committee on receptions, of which Congressman Thomas B. Kyle, of Troy, was chairman, reported. Following the report of that committee, the election of officers took place, which resulted as follows:

President—Scott Bonham, of Cincinnati.

First Vice President—Robert Nevins, Jr., of Dayton.

Second Vice President—Walter C. Hudson, of Toledo.

Third Vice President—Dr. E. D. Colley, of Cincinnati.

Fourth Vice President—Joseph Russell, of Urbana.

Secretary—H. V. Spellman, of Marietta.

Treasurer—W. E. Seyfer, of Mount Vernon.

Delegates at large to the national convention of Republican clubs were elected as follows: D. Q. Morrow, Hillsboro; George C. Dunham, Toledo; Thomas B. Kyle, Troy; Fred H. Tibbitts, Columbus; D. D. Woodmansee, Cincinnati; and Arthur J. Riggs, Springfield.

Alternates—C. C. Cuttalt, Cincinnati; E. E. Cole, London; Fred W. Herbst, Columbus; O. B. Brown, Dayton; George E. Love and Fred L. Taft, of Cleveland.

The next meeting will be at Columbus, O.

BIG SALE OF STREET RAILWAYS

Canton-Akron, Canton and Massillon and Canton-Massillon Inter-urban Purchased.

Canton, O., Feb. 13.—It is stated by an authoritative source that the Northern Ohio Traction company, the Everett-Moore syndicate and Henry Everett have disposed of their interests in the Canton-Akron street railway line, now being constructed between Akron and Canton, and the Canton and Massillon City street car systems, as well as the Canton-Massillon interurban line, now in operation, with the extension to Navarre, five miles south from Massillon.

Papers for the consummation of this deal are said to have been drawn up and signed and the transaction closed, to all intents and purposes.

The Canton-Akron property was purchased on option several months ago by the Northern Ohio Traction company, of the Everett-Moore syndicate, from the Canton-Akron company. It was stated at the time that an option for $50,000 or more was paid by the Everett-Moore people to guarantee their taking the property at the agreed price when it was completed and put in operation. The Canton-Massillon properties were secured later by a purchase of the stock of the Canton-Massillon Electric Railway company, in the interest of the Everett-Moore syndicate. The present purchasers of both properties are said to be a syndicate composed of the banking house of Tucker & Anthony, of Boston; L. E. Myers, of Chicago, and eastern capitalists. The transaction will involve something over $2,500,000.

Cleveland, Feb. 13.—Chairman Newcomb, of the bankers' committee, in charge of the Everett-Moore affairs, said yesterday afternoon: "It is true that negotiations have practically been closed with Boston people for the sale of the Canton-Akron and Canton-Massillon lines."

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1902.

A Missouri judge has granted an injunction forbidding the production of a play picturing train robbers and bank looters as heroes. There are scores of dramas needing the attention of such a keen judicial critic. It is all folly to hold that a play must depict immortality and crime in attractive guises in order to be successful. The phenomenally successful and favorite plays of recent years have been those dealing with everyday life and inculcating a useful moral lesson. Works like "Shore Acres," "The Old Homestead" and others which bid fair never to lose their popularity, are elevating in their character, presenting a true moral with impressive force. The blood curdling drama and the indecent French play may thrive for a day, but it is the wholesome, old-fashioned story with a moral that succeeds best in the long run. It is surprising that managers and playwrights have not learned this lesson by experience and observation and still think it necessary to feed their patrons on dirt.

If the state canals are to be sold there can be no reasonable objection to selling them to railroad companies. A railroad is far more serviceable and valuable as a common carrier than a canal. But it is not necessary to give away the canal property in order to get rid of it. The state must get the full worth of its possessions; no other proposition is to be entertained.

The so-called Anti-Trust League has so little standing or influence that its attacks on Attorney General Knox serve no other purpose than to vent political spite. The foremost foe of the trusts do not belong to the league, being wise enough to know that the trust question is not a political one and having no desire to pose as assistant Democrats.

William C. Whitney is not likely to be a Democratic candidate for the presidency. He lately retired from business, announcing his intention of leading a quiet life. Besides, he has never been conspicuous for investing his money where there is no prospect of returns.

Those Detroit bank directors who let an official wreck the institution may have to pay dearly for their carelessness. The prosecuting attorney of Wayne county has brought suit against them for $250,000 of county funds deposited in the bank.

The Ministerial Alliance of Salt Lake City reports that the Mormons are still indulging in plural marriages. There is a federal statute that fits their case, and it should be applied unsparingly.

Prof. Pearson, who attacked the bible while teaching in a Christian institution, is to write a book. He took a mean advantage of his position to advertise the forthcoming work.

In Tom Johnson's campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor two years hence the objections all come from the Democratic party.

Cleveland's McKinley memorial fund subscriptions amount to over $35,000. That speaks well for the city's patriotism and loyalty.

The Anglo-Japanese agreement is welcome for the reason that it ensures peace in a populous but turbulent quarter of the world.

Four women, each past eighty years of age, are the conspicuous figures at the international suffrage convention now being held in Washington. Their work has been tireless, but has it been successful?

St. Louis is prosecuting bootleggers and bribers, and Chicago, amazed, admits that for once the Missouri town is ahead of her.

The senate is in favor of the sensible plan of changing inauguration day from March 4 until the latter part of April.

The "antis" are fighting the majority of the Filipinos, who want the United States to govern them.

With eggs at present prices, the hen that is attending to business is a bird popular with its owner.

OBITUARY

Death of an Infant.

A little child of Roxy Anderson, of lower Walnut street, died early this morning of lung trouble. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

AT THE THEATER

The Schiller Stock company presented "Jesse James" to an appreciative audience last evening. Tonight "Woman's Enemy" will be given, which had a long run last season in New York and is replete with special scenery. The company this year shows unusual strength and Miss Fontainebleu, as leading lady, has made a great hit. A matinee will be given Saturday afternoon, the play being a dramatic representation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" with Miss Fontainebleau as "Topsy."

"The Game Keeper," which will be seen at the opera house Monday night, has been entirely rewritten and is said to be a far better production than that of last season. Many new and novel features have been added, among them being a choir of trained voices for the pretty and effective chapel scene in the last act.

SOME METALS.

Iridium, worth more than $780 a pound, is the hardest metal known and is used to tip gold pens.

Lithium, worth more than $1,100 a pound, is used only in medicine, its salts being valuable in rheumatic affections.

Tungsten, worth 30 cents a pound, is largely used in metallurgy and gives to steel qualities similar to those imparted by molybdenum.

Molybdenum, worth $1.44 a pound, is used in metallurgy. Molybdenum steel possesses the rare quality of preserving its hardness even when heated to redness.

Selenium, which has the curious property of losing its resistance to the electric current under the influence of light, is used in the telegraph and is worth $22 a pound.

Uranium, worth $86 a pound, is used in the glass and porcelain industries. It has been found that uranium carbide is superior to nickel or tungsten in the manufacture of high grade steel.

Palladium, which has the smallest coefficient of dilatation, is used for the mounting of astronomical instruments. The standard meter of France is made of palladium. The pure metal costs $4.82 a pound.

Vanadium oxidizes in air with great difficulty, melts at 2,000 degrees and becomes redhot in hydrogen. Neither hydrochloric acid nor nitric acid attacks it. It costs $592 a pound and is used in coloring glass and in making indelible inks.

Italy's Marriage Brokers.

Marriage brokers are a regular institution in Italy. In Genoa there are several marriage brokers who have pocketbooks filled with the names of the marriageable girls of the different classes, with notes of their figures, personal attractions, fortune and other circumstances. These brokers go about endeavoring to arrange matrimonial alliances in the same offhand mercantile manner which they would bring to bear upon a purely business transaction, and when they succeed they get a commission of 2 or 3 per cent upon the dowry, with such extras of bonuses as may be voluntarily bestowed by the party.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE.

In England It Is Withheld From Many Full Fledged Citizens.

There are many full fledged English citizens who are disqualified from membership in parliament and from taking any part in parliamentary elections. Thus all peers of the realm, except those Irish peers who do not happen to have been elected for life to represent their order in the house of lords, are barred from the exercise of franchise. So, too, are police officials, high and low. They neither have a vote nor are they eligible.

Ineligibility to parliament extends to the Anglican clergy, to Scottish Presbyterian ministers and to the Roman Catholic priesthood. Undischarged bankrupts and those convicted of felony and who have not completed their sentences and are merely freed on tickets of leave are likewise disqualified from election to parliament. So, too, are young men under the age of twenty-one and persons who, having been judicially declared insane, have not been legally restored to their civic rights and privileges.

Insanity, however, does not constitute any disqualification in the case of the upper house of parliament. Lunatics are permitted to take part in the divisions in the gilded chamber, and at the time when the Irish home rule bill, enacted by the house of commons, was defeated by the house of lords no less than three crazy peers were brought down to Westminster by their keepers from the insane asylums in which they were held under restraint and voted as hereditary legislators against home rule being granted to Erin.

KNOX AGAIN ATTACKED.

Memorial From Anti-Trust League Presented in the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 13.—When the senate convened yesterday Mr. Turner presented a memorial from the National Anti-Trust league, enumerating certain trusts and combinations which, the memorial sets forth, were operating in conflict with the Sherman anti-trust law. He said the petition stated that the existence of these so-called trusts had been called to the attention of the attorney general of the United States, with the request that the machinery of the government be set in motion with a view to the destruction of the trusts, but thus far nothing had been done. The petition prayed that congress take action in vindication of its law.

Mr. Turner said the memorial contained also some allegations against the present attorney general and his immediate predecessor, but he did not wish to be understood as fathering the charges. He asked that the memorial be printed in the Congressional Record, but Mr. Gallinger objected, and its printing was not ordered.

YEAGER TAKEN TO JAIL.

Alleged Incendiary Will Be Given a Hearing Next Monday.

Altoona, Pa., Feb. 13.—Stephen Yeager, the ex-inmate of the industrial reformatory at Huntingdon, who was arrested, charged with being responsible for the numerous incendiary fires which occurred here Tuesday night, has been taken to jail. He will be given a preliminary hearing next Monday.

Charles Williams, who was arrested by the police here as a suspicious character, gave the prisoners in the city lockup a fright by setting fire to his clothes. The blaze was extinguished by city building employees after a brief fight.

Suicided by Hanging Himself.

Marion, O., Feb. 13.—Squire John M. Blue, of Larue, this county, was found hanging to a bedpost at his home, having strangled himself to death. Two weeks ago Blue, who is 73 years old, and Clementia Drake, aged 63 years, were married. No cause for the deed has been found.

Farming in Colorado, Utah And New Mexico.

The farmer who contemplates changing his location should look well into the subject of irrigation. Before making a trip of investigation there is no better way to secure advance information than by writing to those most interested in the settlement of unoccupied land. Several publications, giving valuable information in regard to the agricultural, horticultural and live stock interests of this great western section have been prepared by the Denver & Rio Grande and the Rio Grande Western, which should be in the hands of all who desire to become acquainted with the merits of the various localities. A Missouri judge has granted an injunction forbidding the production of a play picturing train robbers and bank looters as heroes. There are scores of dramas needing the attention of such a keen judicial critic. It is all folly to hold that a play must depict immortality and crime in attractive guises in order to be successful. The phenomenally successful and favorite plays of recent years have been those dealing with everyday life and inculcating a useful moral lesson. Works like "Shore Acres," "The Old Homestead," and others which bid fair never to lose their popularity, are elevating in their character, presenting a true moral with impressive force. The blood curdling drama and the indecent French play may thrive for a day, but it is the wholesome, old-fashioned story with a moral that succeeds best in the long run. It is surprising that managers and playwrights have not learned this lesson by experience and observation and still think it necessary to feed their patrons on dirt.

If the state canals are to be sold there can be no reasonable objection to selling them to railroad companies. A railroad is far more serviceable and valuable as a common carrier than a canal. But it is not necessary to give away the canal property in order to get rid of it. The state must get the full worth of its possessions; no other proposition is to be entertained.

The so-called "Anti-Trust League" has so little standing or influence that its attacks on Attorney General Knox serve no other purpose than to vent political spite. The foremost foe of the trusts do not belong to the league, being wise enough to know that the trust question is not a political one and having no desire to pose as assistant Democrats.

William C. Whitney is not likely to be a Democratic candidate for the presidency. He lately retired from business, announcing his intention of leading a quiet life. Besides, he has never been conspicuous for investing his money where there is no prospect of returns.

Those Detroit bank directors who let an official wreck the institution may have to pay dearly for their carelessness. The prosecuting attorney of Wayne county has brought suit against them for $250,000 of county funds deposited in the bank.

The Ministerial Alliance of Salt Lake City reports that the Mormons are still indulging in plural marriages. There is a federal statute that fits their case, and it should be applied unsparringly.

Prof. Pearson, who attacked the bible while teaching in a Christian institution, is to write a book. He took a mean advantage of his position to advertise the forthcoming work.

In Tom Johnson's campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor two years hence the objections all come from the Democratic party.

Cleveland's McKinley memorial fund subscriptions amount to over $35,000. That speaks well for the city's patriotism and loyalty.

The Anglo-Japanese agreement is welcome for the reason that it ensures peace in a populous but turbulent quarter of the world.

Four women, each past eighty years of age, are the conspicuous figures at the international suffrage convention now being held in Washington. Their work has been tireless, but has it been successful?

St. Louis is prosecuting hoodlums and bribers, and Chicago, amazed, admits that for once the Missouri town is ahead of her.

OBITUARY

Death of an Infant.

A little child of Roxy Anderson, of lower Walnut street, died early this morning of lung trouble. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

AT THE THEATER

The Schiller Stock company presented "Jesse James" to an appreciative audience last evening. Tonight "Woman's Enemy" will be given, which had a long run last season in New York and is replete with special scenery. The company this year shows unusual strength and Miss Fontainebleu, as leading lady, has made a great hit. A matinee will be given Saturday afternoon, the play being a dramatic representation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" with Miss Fontainebleau as "Topsy."

"The Game Keeper," which will be seen at the opera house Monday night, has been entirely rewritten and is said to be a far better production than that of last season. Many new and novel features have been added, among them being a choir of trained voices for the pretty and effective chapel scene in the last act.

SOME METALS.

Iridium, worth more than $780 a pound, is the hardest metal known and is used to tip gold pens.

Lithium, worth more than $1,100 a pound, is used only in medicine, its salts being valuable in rheumatic affections.

Tungsten, worth 30 cents a pound, is largely used in metallurgy and gives to steel qualities similar to those imparted by molybdenum.

Molybdenum, worth $1.44 a pound, is used in metallurgy. Molybdenum steel possesses the rare quality of preserving its hardness even when heated to redness.

Selenium, which has the curious property of losing its resistance to the electric current under the influence of light, is used in the telegraph and is worth $22 a pound.

Uranium, worth $86 a pound, is used in the glass and porcelain industries. It has been found that uranium carbide is superior to nickel or tungsten in the manufacture of high grade steel.

Palladium, which has the smallest coefficient of dilatation, is used for the mounting of astronomical instruments. The standard meter of France is made of palladium. The pure metal costs $4.82 a pound.

Vanadium oxidizes in air with great difficulty, melts at 2,000 degrees and becomes redhot in hydrogen. Neither hydrochloric acid nor nitric acid attacks it. It costs $502 a pound and is used in coloring glass and in making lustrous inks.

Italy's Marriage Brokers.

Marriage brokers are a regular institution in Italy. In Genoa there are several marriage brokers who have pocketbooks filled with the names of the marriageable girls of the different classes, with notes of their figures, personal attractions, fortune and other circumstances. These brokers go about endeavoring to arrange matrimonial alliances in the same offhand mercantile manner which they would bring to bear upon a purely business transaction, and when they succeed they get a commission of 2 or 3 per cent upon the dowry, with such extras of bonuses as may be voluntarily bestowed by the party.

The Diamond resumed operations in full this morning. Some of the clay hands started yesterday.

Miss Louise Bloor has taken a position in the decalcomania department of the Klondike.

Miss Nellie Hutchinson has taken a position as filler-in at Klondike.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE.

In England It Is Withheld From Many Full Fledged Citizens.

There are many full fledged English citizens who are disqualified from membership in parliament and from taking any part in parliamentary elections. Thus all peers of the realm, except those Irish peers who do not happen to have been elected for life to represent their order in the house of lords, are barred from the exercise of franchise. So, too, are police officials high and low. They neither have a vote nor are they eligible.

Ineligibility to parliament extends to the Anglican clergy, to Scottish Presbyterian ministers and to the Roman Catholic priesthood. Undischarged bankrupts and those convicted of felony and who have not completed their sentences and are merely freed on tickets of leave are likewise disqualified from election to parliament. So, too, are young men under the age of twenty-one and persons who, having been judicially declared insane, have not been legally restored to their civil rights and privileges.

Insanity, however, does not constitute any disqualification in the case of the upper house of parliament. Lunatics are permitted to take part in the divisions in the gilded chamber, and at the time when the Irish home rule bill, enacted by the house of commons, was defeated by the house of lords no less than three crazy peers were brought down to Westminster by their keepers from the insane asylums in which they were held under restraint and voted as hereditary legislators against home rule being granted to Erin.

AGGRESSIVE MORMONS

A MISSIONARY ON HER WORK
AMONG THE SAINTS.

She Says They Openly Defy the Government, As They Have Always Done.

Mrs. Anna McKean White, of Philadelphia, delivered an interesting and beneficial lecture to a large audience in the First Presbyterian church last evening. Her subject was "Two Years Among the Mormons." Having been a Gentile missionary in Utah for several years Mrs. White was very capable of commenting upon her subject. She said in part:

"The missionaries working in Utah have a more difficult undertaking than any other class of missionaries in the world. The whole state is joined in to one mighty force which places every conceivable obstruction in the way of missionaries, hoping that they will become disheartened and leave. The Mormon church is the strongest in the world, the Roman Catholic not excepted.

"The officials of the church work harmoniously together and all for one end—that of securing more members and thereby making their church ultimately invincible. They are at present openly defying the United States government and always have been. When a new member is received into the church he is compelled to live by the laws of the church, regardless of any interference by the national government. This mighty organization has 2,000 missionaries in different parts of the world who are every day securing more converts. It is a fact not generally known, but true that churches in our cities known as the Church of the Latter Day Saints are only Mormon churches sailing under false colors.

"The Mormon leaders teach that Adam is the god of the world and will rule over all in heaven. They also teach that men shall have more than one wife and the greater the number of wives the greater will be their glory in heaven, and if a woman fails to get married she will never reach glory. The most blasphemous remark ever made by a human was proclaimed by Brigham Young when he said: 'Jesus Christ was nothing less than a polygamist. He was a good man, but no better than any other man.' The bible as read by the Mormons is not at all like the Gentile bible. It is completely changed, and is called by them a new revelation."

While in the city Mrs. White was entertained by Rev. L. F. Laverty and family. She departed this morning for Pittsburgh, where she will deliver an address tonight.

MONUMENT PROJECT

Kelly and G. L. Apple. They have decided to commence canvassing the city for subscriptions to the monument fund.

Over $200 is in the treasury and by subscriptions and entertainments they expect to raise the required $5,000 within a few months.

VISITED JUDGE KERR

Rev. C. E. Clark interviewed the Jefferson Official on Marriage License Controversy.

Judge Kerr, of Steubenville, is apparently weakening in his stand relative to the lawfulness of proper officials in Columbiana county performing marriage ceremonies for couples who secure their licenses in Jefferson county. Upon several different occasions the judge returned marriage certificates to justices of the peace of Wellsville and East Liverpool, severely censuring them for performing the ceremonies when, as he said, they knew that they were infringing on the law by so doing.

Rev. C. E. Clark was returned a certificate accompanied by a harsh reprimand by Judge Kerr. The reprimand grated on Mr. Clark to such an extent that he wrote the judge a letter demanding an explanation. The judge disregarded the letter, not even answering it. Another letter was written by Mr. Clark and again no reply was received.

Mr. Clark not willing to drop the matter, last week went to Steubenville and there had a long conversation with the judge. Yesterday, when asked in regard to his interview, Mr. Clark said:

FOUGHT THE BOERS

Charles O. Morgan Returning to Wellsville After an Exciting Experience.

Charles O. Morgan will reach his home in Wellsville next week. Only three weeks ago he was mustered out of the British army with which he had been fighting for six months among the Boers of South Africa. On January 30 he sailed from Liverpool, England, on the steamer Ionian for this country and arrived at Halifax last Saturday.

In a letter to his father, A. C. Morgan, who is a conductor on the street car line, he stated that on his trip from Halifax to Montreal by rail he was in a most exciting railroad wreck. His train was derailed and several people were killed. He will leave Montreal for home on next Monday.

BOWLING CHAMPIONSHIP

Games Between Wellsville And Lisbon Which Are Expected to Decide It.

Two series of bowling games are scheduled to be played on Campbell's alleys this week. The contests will be on Friday night between Captain Shingler's team and a Steubenville team and on Saturday night between Shingler's team and the Lisbon Colts. The Friday night's games will be the initial ones participated in by these teams and there is an uncertainty as to the result.

The Wellsville and Lisbon teams, having won an equal number of games they have agreed to let the championship be decided by the Saturday's game.

MEMORIAL FROM FILIPINOS.

Transmitted to Senate by Secretary of War—In Support of American Rule.

Washington, Feb. 13.—With the exception of a sharp clash between Mr. Lodge and Mr. Patterson over the matter of admission of representatives of the press to the investigation which the Philippines committee is conducting, the discussion of the Philippine tariff bill in the senate yesterday was quiet. The Colorado senator desired that all newspapermen be admitted to the committee hearings, declaring that as now conducted they were of a star chamber character. He said his recollection was that Mr. Lodge had suggested that the hearings be entirely secret. This drew the fire of the Massachusetts senator, who indignantly denied that he had suggested anything of the kind. He insisted that the reports made of the hearings by the three press associations were accurate and fair to both sides of the controversy.

A communication from the secretary of war transmitting a memorial of the Federal party of the Philippine islands in support of American rule in the islands called from Mr. Patterson the statement that the Federal party had obtained its control in the Philippines by promising to the Filipinos that they would be admitted ultimately to statehood in the United States.

TERRIBLY BURNED

A CHILD'S CLOTHING TAKES FIRE AT AN OPEN GRATE.

The Little One Rescued By His Mother in a Very Precarious Condition.

The little son, aged two years, of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Wylie, who live near Asbury chapel, had a very narrow escape from death Tuesday morning. The boy had been left alone in the sitting room and while playing in front of a grate fire, his clothes became ignited and in a minute's time he was completely enveloped in flames. His loud, agonizing cries attracted Mrs. Wylie, who was perhaps a block from her home. The ready application of a blanket soon extinguished the fire, but not until the unfortunate child was burned most horribly about the back and right side.

A physician from Chester alleviated to a certain extent the boy's sufferings. He stated this morning that the child is in a precarious condition and that its recovery, if at all, will be very slow.

Thrown on the Car Track.

The McCoy brothers, of Hookstown, were in Chester yesterday and came near meeting with a severe accident. In front of Allison's grocery their sleigh upset and threw them on the street car track. But for the quick application of brakes a car would have run over them. They escaped with slight bruises.

CHESTER NOTES.

Will Johnston and Elmer Wycoff visited at Hookstown last evening.

Miss Lena McNeal, of New Cumberland, is visiting friends in Chester.

Two sledloads of people from Chester will attend the dance to be given at Charles Stewart's tonight.

Morris Kerber's household goods arrived this morning from Monessen, Pa. He is employed at the mill.

John Pugh had his dwelling house removed to his recently purchased lot on Ohio avenue this morning.

How the Peach Was Produced.

That the luscious peach has been derived from the hard shelled almond can no longer be successfully denied. It is said that the peach in its original soil was a virulent poison and that the Persian warriors brought to Persia some of the seeds and planted them for the purpose of poisoning the points of their arrows so as to render wounds caused by them to be fatal, but a change of climate and soil produced a fruit which is not only luscious, but is esteemed exceedingly healthful.

AGGRESSIVE MORMONS

A MISSIONARY ON HER WORK
AMONG THE SAINTS.

She Says They Openly Defy the Government, As They Have Always Done.

Mrs. Anna McKean White, of Philadelphia, delivered an interesting and beneficial lecture to a large audience in the First Presbyterian church last evening. Her subject was "Two Years Among the Mormons." Having been a Gentile missionary in Utah for several years Mrs. White was very capable of commenting upon her subject. She said in part:

"The missionaries working in Utah have a more difficult undertaking than any other class of missionaries in the world. The whole state is joined into one mighty force which places every conceivable obstruction in the way of missionaries, hoping that they will become disheartened and leave. The Mormon church is the strongest in the world, the Roman Catholic not excepted.

"The officials of the church work harmoniously together and all for one end—that of securing more members and thereby making their church ultimately invincible. They are at present openly defying the United States government and always have been. When a new member is received into the church he is compelled to live by the laws of the church, regardless of any interference by the national government. This mighty organization has 2,000 missionaries in different parts of the world who are every day securing more converts. It is a fact not generally known, but true that churches in our cities known as the Church of the Latter Day Saints are only Mormon churches sailing under false colors.

"The Mormon leaders teach that Adam is the god of the world and will rule over all in heaven. They also teach that men shall have more than one wife and the greater the number of wives the greater will be their glory in heaven, and if a woman fails to get married she will never reach glory. The most blasphemous remark ever made by a human was proclaimed by Brigham Young when he said: 'Jesus Christ was nothing less than a polygamist. He was a good man, but no better than any other man.' The bible as read by the Mormons is not at all like the Gentile bible. It is completely changed, and is called by them a new revelation."

While in the city Mrs. White was entertained by Rev. L. F. Laverty and family. She departed this morning for Pittsburg, where she will deliver an address tonight.

MONUMENT PROJECT

Is Progressing Favorably—Committee Meets And Elects Officers.

The monument committee met last evening and elected the following officers: Chairman, T. A. Lloyd; treasurer, W. R. Aten; secretary, J. F. McQueen; assistants, D. A. Davidson, H. H. Whitacre, F. J. Kelly and G. L. Apple. They have decided to commence canvassing the city for subscriptions to the monument fund.

Over $200 is in the treasury and by subscriptions and entertainments they expect to raise the required $5,000 within a few months.

VISITED JUDGE KERR

Rev. C. E. Clark interviewed the Jefferson Official on Marriage License Controversy.

Judge Kerr, of Steubenville, is apparently weakening in his stand relative to the lawfulness of proper officials in Columbiana county performing marriage ceremonies for couples who secure their licenses in Jefferson county. Upon several different occasions the judge returned marriage certificates to justices of the peace of Wellsville and East Liverpool, severely censuring them for performing the ceremonies when, as he said, they knew that they were infringing on the law by so doing.

Rev. C. E. Clark was returned a certificate accompanied by a harsh reprimand by Judge Kerr. The reprimand grated on Mr. Clark to such an extent that he wrote the judge a letter demanding an explanation. The judge disregarded the letter, not even answering it. Another letter was written by Mr. Clark and again no reply was received.

Mr. Clark not willing to drop the matter, last week went to Steubenville and there had a long conversation with the judge. Yesterday, when asked in regard to his interview, Mr. Clark said:

FOUGHT THE BOERS

Charles O. Morgan Returning to Wellsville After an Exciting Experience.

Charles O. Morgan will reach his home in Wellsville next week. Only three weeks ago he was mustered out of the British army with which he had been fighting for six months among the Boers of South Africa. On January 30 he sailed from Liverpool, England, on the steamer Ionian for this country and arrived at Halifax last Saturday.

In a letter to his father, A. C. Morgan, who is a conductor on the street car line, he stated that on his trip from Halifax to Montreal by rail he was in a most exciting railroad wreck. His train was derailed and several people were killed. He will leave Montreal for home on next Monday.

BOWLING CHAMPIONSHIP

Games Between Wellsville And Lisbon Which Are Expected to Decide It.

Two series of bowling games are scheduled to be played on Campbell's alleys this week. The contests will be on Friday night between Captain Shingler's team and a Steubenville team and on Saturday night between Shingler's team and the Lisbon Colts. The Friday night's games will be the initial ones participated in by these teams and there is an uncertainty as to the result.

The Wellsville and Lisbon teams, having won an equal number of games they have agreed to let the championship be decided by the Saturday's game.

Clerks' Association Met.

The Retail Clerks' association held a meeting in MacKenzie's hall last evening and initiated Charles E. Evans into the association. The initiation of the lady clerks of Butler & Howe's and Dowling's dry goods stores was not effected, the ladies not appearing. They sent word that they would be ready for initiation at the next meeting, February 26.

James Davidson arrived yesterday from New York city to visit his brother Peter, who is critically ill.

Miss Florence Bright, of Huntington, W. Va., has accepted a position as clerk in E. Bunting's store on Eleventh street.

MEMORIAL FROM FILIPINOS.

Transmitted to Senate by Secretary of War—In Support of American Rule.

Washington, Feb. 13.—With the exception of a sharp clash between Mr. Lodge and Mr. Patterson over the matter of admission of representatives of the press to the investigation which the Philippines committee is conducting, the discussion of the Philippine tariff bill in the senate yesterday was quiet. The Colorado senator desired that all newspaper men be admitted to the committee hearings, declaring that as now conducted they were of a star chamber character. He said his recollection was that Mr. Lodge had suggested that the hearings be entirely secret. This drew the fire of the Massachusetts senator, who indignantly denied that he had suggested anything of the kind. He insisted that the reports made of the hearings by the three press associations were accurate and fair to both sides of the controversy.

A communication from the secretary of war transmitting a memorial of the Federal party of the Philippine islands in support of American rule in the islands called from Mr. Patterson the statement that the Federal party had obtained its control in the Philippines by promising to the Filipinos that they would be admitted ultimately to statehood in the United States.

TERRIBLY BURNED

A CHILD'S CLOTHING TAKES FIRE
AT AN OPEN GRATE.The Little One Rescued By His Mother in a Very Precarious Condition.

The little son, aged two years, of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Wylie, who live near Asbury chapel, had a very narrow escape from death Tuesday morning. The boy had been left alone in the sitting room and while playing in front of a grate fire, his clothes became ignited and in a minute's time he was completely enveloped in flames. His loud, agonizing cries attracted the fire, but not until the unfortunate child was burned most horribly about the back and right side.

A physician from Chester alleviated to a certain extent the boy's sufferings. He stated this morning that the child is in a precarious condition and that its recovery, if at all, will be very slow.

Thrown on the Car Track.

The McCoy brothers, of Hookstown, were in Chester yesterday and came near meeting with a severe accident. In front of Allison's grocery their sleigh upset and threw them on the street car track. But for the quick application of brakes a car would have run over them. They escaped with slight bruises.

CHESTER NOTES.

Will Johnston and Elmer Wycoff visited at Hookstown last evening.

Miss Lena McNeal, of New Cumberland, is visiting friends in Chester.

Two sledloads of people from Chester will attend the dance to be given at Charles Stewart's tonight.

Morris Kerber's household goods arrived this morning from Monessen, Pa. He is employed at the mill.

John Pugh had his dwelling house removed to his recently purchased lot on Ohio avenue this morning.

How the Peach Was Produced.

That the luscious peach has been derived from the hard shelled almond can no longer be successfully denied. It is said that the peach in its original soil was a virulent poison and that the Persian warriors brought to Persia some of the seeds and planted them for the purpose of poisoning the points of their arrows so as to render wounds caused by them to be fatal, but a change of climate and soil produced a fruit which is not only luscious, but is esteemed exceedingly healthful.

"You seem to be quite an educated man," said Blair dreamily. "Have you learned anything in this life that would help you lead another if you had one?"

"Very little, I'm afraid," said Elmdorf; "but let us proceed. I had proved that the man was a doctor, and then came the Philadelphia story. You know what happened over there. The husband ran out for a doctor. That doctor me at first, and I had to think it out."

"I was afraid she was poisoned," said Blair calmly, "and dared not be alone with her if she should die."

"You!" exclaimed Elmdorf, rising. "You! Well—and he sat down again—'It doesn't surprise me!'"

"You came here to get me," responded Blair. "I knew it as soon as you sat down there. I had no chance, though she promised to shield me in return for my clearing Miss MacLane. She'd have done it anyway, of course. That she had already proved. She was ashamed, ashamed, deadly ashamed, and sick to the soul of her for having ever loved me. Well, it's all over. If you know what happened in Philadelphia, it only remained for you to find the New York doctor. He's in Europe, however; left a week or more ago. His name is Osborne. Any more information I can give you, Mr. Elmdorf? It's all up. I might as well talk."

"Why didn't you run?" demanded Elmdorf.

"I staid to play the game out," replied Blair. "There was money in view, and I love money, my friend; also I love life. How absurd, but I do—now that it's over! Think of it! And there isn't a man in New York this minute as wretched as I am. Why, I'd just heard from the hospital, and I was sitting there on that couch, staring at the pillow she made for me, thinking of the endless stitches and the love—Elmdorf, she told me that every one of them was sewed with love for me. Why does that stick in my mind? Why couldn't I be straight? Well, well, I'm done for—done for!"

Elmdorf eyed the man curiously. His face was flushed as if with fever, and his words were thickly uttered and hurried, as with delirium.

"You didn't get the money?" said Elmdorf.

"Money!" echoed Blair. "For the first time in my life I forgot that there was such a thing. I read that letter, as you guessed, and I was crazed. I knew she was holding her secret, and would put him off for shame, and because she treasured up something he had said that frightened her—about some woman who ran away to be married. Well, I went there that afternoon: I talked with her, raved at her and then—well, you know what happened. I thought every one would know I did it. We had had more meetings in the last few weeks than you'd believe possible, he rambled on, 'but then nobody cares what his neighbor does here in New York. Our whole romance passed without notice. I was on the balcony when Robinson came.'"

"Did you know that he returned?" asked Elmdorf.

"Returned?"

"He left his cane in the room, got outside the house, got in again because the lock hadn't caught and entered the room, thinking that he had heard an answer to his knock. There was the money right on the table, and nobody in sight, you and Miss Miller being on the balcony between the windows. He needed money, and he took it, and I traced it. The man's at headquarters now. He tried to skip, but he was shadowed at the time, as I knew and he didn't."

"I thought Neale got the money," said Blair, starting as if from a doze.

"Robinson will be released," said Elmdorf. "There'll be no complaint. This whole case will be covered up."

"Covered up?" echoed Blair, and he laughed. "I'll be covered up—in my grave, and, by —, Elmdorf, I don't want to die! I don't want to die! Can you understand that?"

"Don't die, then," said Elmdorf; "there's no need of it. I shan't trouble you. I could make a lot of money by letting you alone, and I'm going to do it for nothing, or, to be exact, I'm going to do it for Elsie Miller. You'll go scot free, Blair, you black hearted, lying brute!"

Blair suddenly rose to his feet. He seemed to be impossibly tall as he stood there with raised shoulders and clenched hands, staring down at Elmdorf.

"Do you mean to say that you have not come here to take me?" he demanded.

"That's what I mean," said Elmdorf. "You can go where you please, and you'd better go as fast as you can, for Alden may be here at any moment. Perhaps you have observed certain physical peculiarities of Mr. Alden? I seem to hear your bones crack, Blair, in his hands."

Blair gave utterance to a terrible oath.

"Do you know what I have done?" he cried in a voice that sent a chill to Elmdorf's heart. "Look here!"

He lifted the small bottle and then dashed it into shivers.

"I'm done for! I've taken enough of that to kill three men. No electric chairs for me. And now—I might have lived! I might have gone abroad. I could have had money—found a new life; but I'm a dead man."

He had wrenched open the door of a locker upon the wall, but at the last words he turned to launch a frightful curse at Elmdorf.

"I may still save myself," he babbled, and there was a rattling of bottles in the cupboard. "This is it. Great heavens! There is hardly enough. Bring me that water."

Elmdorf started to comply, but his speed did not equal Blair's impatience, and the latter sprang forward so that they came together. There was a tinkling of glass upon the floor.

Blair sprang back, his face dripping and ghastly red with the poison.

"It's all I have!" he cried. "It's my last chance! And you—you did it!"

With incredible strength and suddenness he seized a heavy paperweight from the table and aimed a fearful blow at Elmdorf. The detective reeled for an instant and then fell face downward upon the floor, where he lay perfectly still.

Blair glanced at him once, then rushed to a mirror near the window and stared at his own livid face.

"There may be time!" he gasped, one hand clutching his breast. "If I can get to a drug store!"

He seized his hat instinctively and rushed to the door, through which he passed into the hall.

"Dr. Blair," said a remembered voice, "I must speak with you. Come back with me. Where is Elmdorf? Have you seen him?"

Frantic, he tried to shake off the hand that was on his arm, but the hand was of iron. He babbled unintelligible words.

"Poison!" cried Alden. "Who is poisoned? Come back here to the light."

INJUNCTION AGAINST PLAY.

Judge Teasdale Granted the Application of Frank James.

Kansas City, Feb. 13.—Judge Teasdale, in the circuit court, granted the application of Frank James for an injunction to stop the production of "The James Boys in Missouri," a drama depicting the James boys as train robbers and bank looters, which has been playing at a local theater.

The injunction proceedings were brought by Frank James, his mother, Zerelda Samuels, and his step-father, Dr. Reuben Samuels. The suit raised the question as to whether or not a private citizen could be portrayed on the stage without his consent, whether to his discredit or not.

Justice Teasdale instructs that James furnish a bond of $4,000 to indemnify the theater people against loss in case the decision is overturned by a higher court, and until the bond is given the play will go on. It is believed James will produce the bond.

DISEASED LUNGS.

How Consumption Begins, How It Ends, How Cured.

Recent Medical Discovery Makes Restoration to Health Possible. Simple Rules to Follow.

Consumption—the most dreaded of all diseases of today—is curable. For centuries this fearful malady has stared the people in the face, with no hope, no haven of refuge, no relief to turn to, but now—science has made sufficient strides to be able to cope intelligently with all the various forms of pulmonary affections.

Few people realize what anatomical wonders the lungs are. Just imagine two great sacks, one consisting of two and the other of three lobes or compartments each made of a delicate membranous substance as light and thin as a piece of silk, expanding and contracting as we inhale and exhale the air that supplies life.

No one appreciating the work expected of them would abuse his lungs, if he could look at them and see with his own eyes the effect produced. The lungs are almost like paper—mere tissues—that are susceptible to the least aggravation. A cold, though ever so slight if on the lungs, weakens them. A cough, though only occasional, means a rasping at these precious organs, a sore (result of colds and coughs) means an irritation that is hard to heal. When aggravated and it reaches an advanced stage, the lungs shrivel up and wither away. Consumption invariably begins in the upper part of the right lung.

Coughing does not always accompany diseases of this character, and consumptives sometimes go to their graves with little annoyance in this direction and little expectation. Their lungs, like an apple in the sun, simply waste away and fall to pieces. If a flower becomes lifeless and droops its head, you give it nourishment, water and sunlight. Your lungs are just like a plant, they need nourishment continually. Your blood flows through every part of them and gives them life. It soothes and heals them, keeps them fresh and healthy. If your blood possesses the right nourishment, it makes your lungs so strong that germs can't live in them, for germs only live where there is weakness. You must have proper medical assistance and you must also have sunlight, plenty of rest, plenty of out-door air and good food. The first has always been hard to get but the other requirements are within the reach of anyone. There is a medicine, a famous French compound, a remedy originated, experimented with and agreed upon by celebrated chemists from all over the world, who met in Paris a few years ago to determine the most speedy, sure and lasting way of wiping out of the world consumption and its allied diseases. This medicine is known as "Blood Wine," and it is acknowledged by physicians in New York and Boston to be the most satisfactory treatment yet devised for these troubles. "Blood Wine," will do its part—but the patient must do his to overcome pulmonary attacks. All the rules of hygiene must be strictly adhered to and if this is done a cure excepting when consumption is in the most advanced stages, will be the result. "Blood Wine" is an honest remedy. It is sold on honest representations and is guaranteed to do all claimed for it. "Blood Wine" enriches the blood and charges it with an ingredient that will kill bacilli, bacteria, microbes and germs of all kinds. It will heal up an old sore on the lungs or a new one. It will take the lameness and pains out of the lungs, and make them feel strong and comfortable. If you can't take a deep breath now, you can after using "Blood Wine."

If you hawk and spit you will stop after using it a week or so. If you take colds easily—"Blood Wine" will make you less susceptible and eventually it will give you great endurance. "Blood Wine" is not an experiment. It is an established fact, tried, proved and acknowledged to be a remarkable remedy. Throughout the hospitals, public dispensaries and in their private practice physicians are unanimous in their praises of "Blood Wine," all admit that while there are some cases too far advanced to be actually cured that it will cure in almost every instance and restore health and vitality, where every other method will fail. Dr. Brainard A. Andrews of Beaumont, Boston, Mass., one of New England's leading practitioners, whose skill has been displayed on a number of occasions before Harvard College and other learned bodies, says: "At the best, Tuberculosis is a stubborn disease and requires rigid methods to overcome. In the matter of handling it everything is being done both here and abroad to make it more easily and successfully treated, and new ideas are being advanced almost every day by men giving it their constant thought. I am familiar with 'Blood Wine' in every phase, and have been using it extensively in my practice of late with phenomenal results. It creates a peculiar reaction that nothing else seems to do. It relieves the distress sooner and more effectively than any expectorant I know of and if adhered to with common sense rules of life—regarding exercise, air and diet it will heal a very bad case of Tuberculosis and enable the patient to thoroughly recover. I am a thoroughly disinterested person, having no connection one way or another with the 'Blood Wine' Co., or any of its members. I give this testimonial of my own free will because I recognize in it a grand medicine, which everyone should know about, and which I will continue to recommend until I find something better."

If you have tried repeatedly to regain your health without success with other medicines or means don't give up hope until you try "Blood Wine." Investigate it carefully.

"Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge at Will Reed's and Hodson's drug stores.

He lifted the small bottle and then dashed it down to shivers.

"I'm done for! I've taken enough of that to kill three men. No electric chairs for me. And now—I might have lived! I might have gone abroad. I could have had money—found a new life; but I'm a dead man."

He had wrenched open the door of a locker upon the wall, but at the last words he turned to launch a frightful curse at Elmdorf.

"I may still save myself," he babbled, and there was a rattling of bottles in the cupboard. "This is it. Great heavens! There is hardly enough. Bring me that water."

Elmdorf started to comply, but his speed did not equal Blair's impatience, and the latter sprang forward so that they came together. There was a tinkling of glass upon the floor.

Blair sprang back, his face dripping and ghastly red with the poison.

"It's all I have!" he cried. "It's my last chance! And you—you did it!"

With incredible strength and suddenness he seized a heavy paperweight from the table and aimed a fearful blow at Elmdorf. The detective reeled for an instant and then fell face downward upon the floor, where he lay perfectly still.

Blair glanced at him once, then rushed to a mirror near the window and stared at his own livid face.

"There may be time!" he gasped, one hand clutching his breast. "If I can get to a drug store!"

He seized his hat instinctively and rushed to the door, through which he passed into the hall.

"Dr. Blair," said a remembered voice, "I must speak with you. Come back with me. Where is Elmdorf? Have you seen him?"

Frantic, he tried to shake off the hand that was on his arm, but the hand was of iron. He babbled unintelligible words.

"Poison!" cried Alden. "Who is poisoned? Come back here to the light."

INJUNCTION AGAINST PLAY.

Judge Teasdale Granted the Application of Frank James.

Kansas City, Feb. 13.—Judge Teasdale, in the circuit court, granted the application of Frank James for an injunction to stop the production of "The James Boys in Missouri," a drama depicting the James boys as train robbers and bank looters, which has been playing at a local theater.

The injunction proceedings were brought by Frank James, his mother, Zerelda Samuels, and his step-father, Dr. Reuben Samuels. The suit raised the question as to whether or not a private citizen could be portrayed on the stage without his consent, whether to his discredit or not.

Justice Teasdale instructs that James furnish a bond of $4,000 to indemnify the theater people against loss in case the decision is overturned by a higher court, and until the bond is given the play will go on. It is believed James will produce the bond.

DISEASED LUNGS.

How Consumption Begins, How It Ends, How Cured.

Recent Medical Discovery Makes Restoration to Health Possible. Simple Rules to Follow.

Consumption—the most dreaded of all diseases of today—is curable. For centuries this fearful malady has stared the people in the face, with no hope, no haven of refuge, no relief to turn to, but now—science has made sufficient strides to be able to cope intelligently with all the various forms of pulmonary affections.

Few people realize what anatomical wonders the lungs are. Just imagine two great sacks, one consisting of two and the other of three lobes or compartments each made of a delicate membranous substance as light and thin as a piece of silk, expanding and contracting as we inhale and exhale the air that supplies life.

No one appreciating the work expected of them would abuse his lungs if he could look at them and see with his own eyes the effect produced. The lungs are almost like paper—mere tissues—that are susceptible to the least aggravation. A cold, though ever so slight if on the lungs, weakens them. A cough, though only occasional, means a rasping at these precious organs, a sore (result of colds and coughs) means an irritation that is hard to heal. When aggravated and it reaches an advanced stage, the lungs shrivel up and wither away. Consumption invariably begins in the upper part of the right lung.

Coughing does not always accompany diseases of this character, and consumptives sometimes go to their grave with little annoyance in this direction and little expectation. Their lungs, like an apple in the sun, simply waste away and fall to pieces. If a flower becomes lifeless and droops its head, you give it nourishment, water and sunlight. Your lungs are just like a plant, they need nourishment continually. Your blood flows through every part of them and gives them life. It soothes and heals them, keeps them fresh and healthy. If your blood possesses the right nourishment, it makes your lungs so strong that germs can't live in them, for germs only live where there is weakness. You must have proper medical assistance and you must also have sunlight, plenty of rest, plenty of out-door air and good food. The first has always been hard to get but the other requirements are within the reach of anyone. There is a medicine, a famous French compound, a remedy originated, experimented with and adopted upon by celebrated chemists from all over the world, who met in Paris a few years ago to determine the most speedy, sure and lasting way of wiping out of the world consumption and its allied diseases. This medicine is known as "Blood Wine," and it is acknowledged by physicians in New York and Boston to be the most satisfactory treatment yet devised for these troubles. "Blood Wine," will do its part—but the patient must do his to overcome pulmonary attacks. All the rules of hygiene must be strictly adhered to and if this is done a cure excepting when consumption is in the most advanced stages, will be the result. "Blood Wine" is an honest remedy. It is sold on honest representations and is guaranteed to do all claimed for it. "Blood Wine" enriches the blood and charges it with an ingredient that will kill bacilli, bacteria, microbes and germs of all kinds. It will heal upon old sores on the lungs or a new one. It will take the lameness and pains out of the lungs, and make them feel strong and comfortable. If you can't take a deep breath now, you can after using "Blood Wine."

If you hawk and spit you will stop after using it a week or so. If you take colds easily—"Blood Wine" will make you less susceptible and eventually it will give you great endurance. "Blood Wine" is not an experiment. It is an established fact, tried, proved and acknowledged to be a remarkable remedy. Throughout the hospitals, public dispensaries and in their private practice physicians are unanimous in their praises of "Blood Wine," all admit that while there are some cases too far advanced to be actually cured that it will cure in almost every instance and restore health and vitality, where every other method will fail. Dr. Brainerd A. Andrews of Beachmont, Boston, Mass., one of New England's leading practitioners, whose skill has been displayed on a number of occasions before Harvard College and other learned bodies, says: "At the best, tuberculosis is a stubborn disease and requires rigid methods to overcome. In the matter of handling it everything is being done both here and abroad to make it more easily and successfully treated, and new ideas are being advanced almost every day by men giving it their constant thought. I am familiar with "Blood Wine" in every phase, and have been using it extensively in my practice of late with phenomenal results. It creates a peculiar reaction that nothing else seems to do. It relieves the distress sooner and more effectively than any expectorant I know of and if adhered to with common sense rules of life—regarding exercise, air and diet it will heal a very bad case of Tuberculosis and enable the patient to thoroughly recover. I am a thoroughly disinterested person, having no connection one way or another with the "Blood Wine" Co., or any of its members. I give this testimonial of my own free will because I recognize in it a good medicine, which everyone should know about, and which I will continue to recommend until I find something better."

If you have tried repeatedly to regain your health without success with other medicines or means don't give up hope until you try "Blood Wine." Investigate it carefully. "Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge at Will Reed's and Hodson's drug stores.

"You seem to be quite an educated man," said Blair dreamily. "Have you learned anything in this life that would help you lead another if you had one?"

"Very little, I'm afraid," said Elmdorf; "but let us proceed. I had proved that the man was a doctor, and then came the Philadelphia story. You know what happened over there. The husband ran out for a doctor. That doctor me at first, and I had to think it out."

"I was afraid she was poisoned," said Blair calmly, "and dared not be alone with her if she should die."

"You!" exclaimed Elmdorf, rising. "You! Well—and he sat down again—'It doesn't surprise me!'"

"You came here to get me," responded Blair. "I knew it as soon as you sat down there. I had no chance, though she promised to shield me in return for my clearing Miss MacLane. She'd have done it anyway, of course. That she had already proved. She was ashamed, ashamed, deadly ashamed, and sick to the soul of her for having ever loved me. Well, it's all over. If you know what happened in Philadelphia, it only remained for you to find the New York doctor. He's in Europe, however; left a week or more ago. His name is Osborne. Any more in-the lock hadn't caught and entered the room, thinking that he had heard an answer to his knock. There was the money right on the table, and nobody in sight, you and Miss Miller being on the balcony between the windows. He needed money, and he took it, and I traced it. The man's at headquarters now. He tried to skip, but he was shadowed at the time, as I knew and he didn't."

"I thought Neale got the money," said Blair, starting as if from a doze. "Robinson will be released," said Elmdorf. "There'll be no complaint. This whole case will be covered up."

"Covered up?" echoed Blair, and he laughed. "I'll be covered up—in my grave, and, by —, Elmdorf, I don't want to die! I don't want to die! Can you understand that?"

"Don't die, then," said Elmdorf; "there's no need of it. I shan't trouble you. I could make a lot of money by letting you alone, and I'm going to do it for nothing, or, to be exact, I'm going to do it for Elsie Miller. You'll go scot free, Blair, you black hearted, lying brute!"

Blair suddenly rose to his feet. He seemed to be impossibly tall as he stood there with raised shoulders and clenched hands, staring down at Elmdorf.

"Do you mean to say that you have not come here to take me?" he demanded.

"That's what I mean," said Elmdorf. "You can go where you please, and you'd better go as fast as you can, for Alden may be here at any moment. Perhaps you have observed certain physical peculiarities of Mr. Alden? I seem to hear your bones crack, Blair, in his hands."

Blair gave utterance to a terrible oath.

"Do you know what I have done?" he cried in a voice that sent a chill to Elmdorf's heart. "Look here!"

He lifted the small bottle and then dashed it down to shivers.

"I'm done for! I've taken enough of that to kill three men. No electric chairs for me. And now—I might have lived! I might have gone abroad. I could have had money—found a new life; but I'm a dead man."

He had wrenched open the door of a locker upon the wall, but at the last words he turned to launch a frightful curse at Elmdorf.

"I may still save myself," he babbled, and there was a rattling of bottles in the cupboard. "This is it. Great heavens! There is hardly enough. Bring me that water."

Elmdorf started to comply, but his speed did not equal Blair's impatience, and the latter sprang forward so that they came together. There was a tinkling of glass upon the floor.

Blair sprang back, his face dripping and gashed with the poison.

"It's all I have!" he cried. "It's my last chance! And you—you did it!"

With incredible strength and suddenness he seized a heavy paperweight from the table and aimed a fearful blow at Elmdorf. The detective recoiled for an instant and then fell face downward upon the floor, where he lay perfectly still.

"There may be time!" he gasped, one hand clutching his breast. "If I can get to a drug store!"

He seized his hat instinctively and rushed to the door, through which he passed into the hall.

"Dr. Blair," said a remembered voice, "I must speak with you. Come back with me. Where is Elmdorf? Have you seen him?"

Frantic, he tried to shake off the hand that was on his arm, but the hand was of iron. He babbled unintelligible words.

"Poison!" cried Alden. "Who is poisoned? Come back here to the light."

THEIR FIRST VALENTINE

By MINERVA SPENCER HANDY

COPYRIGHT, 1902, BY MINERVA SPENCER HANDY

CHARLOTTE GAGE had every reason to be the happiest girl in the world. Her home, surrounded with its beautiful grounds, might have been the abode of a princess. Her father and mother idolized their only child and heaped everything upon her that money could buy. Her toys were the most expensive, her personal belongings the best that could be obtained, and out in the stables were two of the finest Shetland ponies imaginable. In spite of all these treasures, Charlotte was at times discontented and took little interest in the things most girls of her age delight in, greatly to the distress of her parents.

One evening Mr. Gage told his wife that urgent business called him to London, and, if she wished, he would take her with him.

"What shall we do with Charlotte?" asked Mrs. Gage. "Take her with us?" "I think not," replied Mr. Gage. "It would tie you down; besides, her school is too important for her to leave just now."

Wondering what pleasant arrangement she might make for her daughter occupied Mrs. Gage most of the night, and on descending to breakfast the following morning no definite plan had been reached. Opening her letters, however, her face lighted up as she read aloud to her husband and Charlotte one she had received from her old friend Rebecca Dale. In girlhood's days these two had been very close, but differences in their positions and interests had separated them somewhat. Rebecca Dale had married a poor young clergyman and gone to live on a small salary in Middletown, while Mrs. Gage had become the wife of the millionaire banker, John Gage. Added to the

"DID YOU EVER GET A VALENTINE, ROSE?" pleasure of hearing from her friend there was something more, but Mrs. Gage did not communicate this just now to her listeners as she read:

MIDDLETOWN, Jan. 15, 1900.
My Dear Frances—How long a time has passed since I have heard from you—almost a year—yet scarcely a day goes by without my mind reverting to some incident of our girlhood! It is hard to realize that my Virginia is fourteen and your Charlotte twelve years old, but "figures will not lie." Mr. Dale is broken down with work in his parish, and his congregation has generously contributed funds sufficient to take him abroad, a long cherished desire of his, and Virginia and I rejoice in his good fortune. We may go east and take up some of the loved ties of my girlhood, and if so I shall enjoy nothing more than seeing you. Affectionately your friend,

REBECCA DALE.

Mr. Gage and Charlotte listened intently, but were unprepared for Mrs. Gage's enthusiastic "The very thing! Nothing could be better! I shall write her immediately and invite her here while we are away and keep her for a visit afterward. Virginia can study music with Charlotte's teacher, and I am sure nothing could be pleasanter than for her to have a companion near her own age."

That night a letter was speeding its way to Middletown and a few days

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every East Liverpool Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptical. Now-a-days the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Hear proof that should convince every East Liverpool reader.

Mr. Samuel Mayer, who is an employee of the McNicol pottery, whose place of residence is 183 Bank street, says: "My health was fairly good until my kidneys began to trouble me, causing my back to ache a good part of the time and to get sore and lame across the loins. The pain was often sharp and penetrating, especially when stooping or lifting, and I never got rid of the trouble until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. Pharmacy and tried them. When I had taken one box the soreness and pains in the back and other symptoms of kidney distress passed away."

later caused much pleasant excitement in the plain little parsonage home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale.

"Go, by all means," urged Mr. Dale, and Virginia's dark eyes grew darker and her red cheeks redder as she said: "Say yes, mother mine. I shall feel like a girl in a book visiting in that splendid house, and to ride and drive all I want. Oh, it seems too good to be true!"

Mrs. Dale's hesitation was unable to stand out against such pleadings, and that very afternoon Virginia dropped a letter of acceptance into the postoffice on her way to school. Preparations went merrily on, and a few weeks later Virginia and Charlotte were lounging in Charlotte's beautiful room before a blazing log fire discussing the subject of valentines. Virginia was enthusiastically wondering if the morrow would bring any to them and could not understand Charlotte's indifference to the matter. The latter roused her interest sufficiently to tell Virginia that over in her portfolio were the ones she got last year and she might look at them if she wanted to. Virginia opened the portfolio and uttered mild shrieks of delight as one after another of the beautiful creations was displayed.

"I never saw such beauties in my life," she declared. "I'd go wild if I got even one, and here you have twenty-four. You don't know what a lucky girl you are, Charlotte Gage."

The following morning the butler came into the breakfast room loaded with the messages young people so enjoy receiving on the 14th of February. Virginia opened her simple offerings with beaming eyes and spent many merry moments with her mother guessing where they came from. Mrs. Dale looked at Charlotte with something akin to pain in her eyes as she noticed that the numerous and really beautiful valentines roused little real appreciation from the girl.

Mrs. Gage had confided to her friend how Charlotte's lack of interest worried her, and Mrs. Dale had decided she would endeavor to find out where the real trouble lay. That afternoon, while walking in the village of Ardley, they stopped in front of the stationer's store to wait for the coachman. Gazing into the window were two little girls about six years old. The strangers were pale and poorly dressed and gave every evidence of want. They were feasting their eyes upon the array of loveliness behind the glass.

"Oh, my, Rilly, see those valentines! They are the beautifullest things I ever saw!" exclaimed one little girl.

"Deed they are, Rose. Just look at that splendid one with the angels on it and that one with the white pigeons and the lovely flowers."

Then in a lower voice, all concealing its sadness, the one addressed as Rilly continued: "I'd give a good deal if my brother Willie could see that, but he can't, for the doctor says it will be two weeks before he can go out. The valentines will be all gone then. Besides, Willie is to be a cripple, and I don't see how he can ever walk up this hill on crutches. Did you ever get a valentine, Rose?" the child asked.

"No. I had a Christmas card once that the Sunday school teacher gave me, but it wasn't near so pretty as these."

Rilly then confided in an almost inaudible voice that she heard her father read out of the paper something about Mr. Valentine being a saint. "Now, saints are good people, Rose, and hear your prayers and answer them. Ever since I heard about his being a saint I say him a long prayer every night and then ask him to send a valentine to Willie and, if he had it to spare, one to me. You know, Santa Claus does that way. At our Sunday school they told us to ask for what we wanted, and I said, 'A doll.' Sure enough on Christmas there was the doll on the beautiful tree. It was for me, and no mistake, for pinned on its dress was my name, Esmeralda Mickey. I thought St. Valentine would do the same thing. For he is a kind of relation of Santa Claus, but I am afraid I have made a mistake. I have been to the postoffice three times already, and the last time the man looked cross at me and hollered that I must not bother him any more with silly questions."

"HERE'S ONE FOR YOU."

Tears gathered in the already sad eyes and began to drop down on the blue little hands.

After the little waifs had left the big window Charlotte turned a flushed and pained face toward Mrs. Dale and said:

"It seems all wrong that child never had a valentine in her life while I've had bushels of them. I never before knew that all children did not have things like I had. Mrs. Dale, I want to buy those little girls some valentines. May I? You know I have my own allowance, and mamma lets me spend it as I like."

Mrs. Dale smiled approvingly, and soon they were in the store purchasing the very valentine Rilly had admired, with the Cupids and flowers, and two others besides, with fancy envelopes to inclose them. Mrs. Dale inquired if the stationer knew anything about the children, and he replied:

"The taller girl is Jim Mickey's. He has a boy, too, who was run over by the trolley the other day and lost his leg. The other girl I do not know, but the postmaster can tell you. He knows everybody in the town."

Entering the postoffice, while Mrs. Dale addressed the missives Charlotte found that Rose's other name was McNally. The postmaster confided to her that the children nearly wore him out on Valentine's day asking if there was anything for them.

"They never got a letter in their lives, and why any one should send them a valentine is more than I can tell."

"Do you mean there are other children who never had a valentine in their lives?" queried Charlotte, in a horrified voice.

"Well, I should say so! About fifty youngsters have been here every mail asking for a valentine. Of course, I have to tell them 'no,' and I am afraid sometimes it is a little impatient."

The coachman driving up at this moment, Mrs. Dale and the girls were soon speeding homeward. Mrs. Dale thought the incident of the valentines had been forgotten and was surprised when Charlotte said:

"Mrs. Dale, the valentines I got last year are all as fresh and clean as when they came. I should like to drive back to the village and send them to those other children who have been so disappointed all day."

Mrs. Dale agreed that it would be a happy surprise for them, and, bidding John wait, the carriage was soon again rolling toward the village. "Drive fast, John, please. I want to get these into the office before the last mail." John whipped up the horses, Charlotte paid a hasty visit to the stationer for more fancy envelopes and then to the postoffice to take the postmaster into her confidence. That gentleman always treated Charlotte with great politeness. He listened to her plan, while something like a tear glistened behind his big rimmed spectacles, and said:

"Yes, indeed, miss, I will be glad to help you. Whenever any of these children inquire if there is anything for them I'll ask, 'What name?' When they tell me, I'll go behind the window and write that name on one of your valentines and hand it out. Won't they be pleased! They'll think for sure that Valentine is a saint or some kind of a heavenly body."

While the postmaster was talking in came Esmeralda Mickey and her faithful little friend. Past experience caused her timid voice to sink into a plaint as she inquired for the fourth time that day if there was anything for her!

The postmaster's cheery, "Here's one for you, one for Master Willie Mickey and one for Rose McNally too. That's your name, isn't it, Rose?" Rose's surprise was even greater than Rilly's, who had been encouraging faith and hope for many days, and the children left the office hugging their precious valentines close, with faces transformed with joy.

Charlotte's plan worked beautifully. Before nightfall every eager inquirer for a letter had received a valentine, and the very uncertainty as to where it had come from made it all the more appreciated and cherished.

Charlotte from this time was a changed girl. Mrs. Dale noticed it and one day suggested they hunt up the Mickey family and see if they could do anything to help them. Then, for the first time, Charlotte became awake to the needs of poor people. Her sympathy showed itself in gifts of toys, clothes and food until she was regarded in the tenement which the Mickeys called home as a fairy princess. When Willie had recovered from his accident enough to go out, he was taken to drive in the carriage and later behind the ponies.

When Mrs. Gage returned, she clasped Charlotte in her arms and, kissing her, said: "My darling, I never saw you look so well and happy in my life. Mrs. Dale and Virginia must be witches."

"Not at all, Frances," answered Mrs. Dale. "No witches or fairies have been around her except perhaps one, although he was neither. In fact, I've heard he was a saint—St. Valentine."

PROF. PEARSON HAS RESIGNED.

He Also Tried to Leave Methodist Church—Finally Not Allowed to Do So.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Charles W. Pearson, whose recent utterances against the infallibility of certain portions of the Bible occasioned comment in Methodist church circles, resigned as professor of English literature at Northwestern university. The resignation, it is said, was voluntary.

Prof. Pearson also asked for a letter of dismissal from the Methodist Episcopal church. The letter was given, but afterwards recalled, as its possession by Dr. Pearson would indicate that he was in good standing in the church.

The professor is to continue in charge of his classes until a successor is found, and his salary is to continue until Jan. 1, 1903. His letter follows:

"I hereby tender my resignation as professor of English literature in Northwestern university. With the kindest feeling toward you all, and best wishes for the future welfare of the institution to which I have given so many years of service, I am very respectfully yours,

(Signed) "C. W. Pearson."
In a statement given up by Secretary Crandon, the trustees point out the excellence of Prof. Pearson's services during the 30 years he has been connected with the faculty, and aver that they feel great regret at the severance of relations.

AN OPPORTUNITY

Many people would like to honor the memory of departed loved ones with a handsome monument, but the high prices demanded by the local monument dealers prevent them.

We sell and deliver fine monuments or headstones at much lower prices than similar stones can be obtained elsewhere. Most of our local monument dealers work by expensive hand methods, while our work is done by the most improved labor saving machinery. Machine work not only lessens the cost of the monument, but insures better results as the moldings, letters, etc., are cut much deeper and smoother than by hand and therefore show longer.

The stone we use is the very best—will not rust, discolor or become streaked as most granites do.

We sell to monument dealers at wholesale and also sell direct to the individual buyer, delivering complete in the cemetery. Our handsome booklet with designs explains all. It's free if you mention this paper.

"It seems all wrong that child never had a valentine in her life while I've had bushels of them. I never before knew that all children did not have things like I had. Mrs. Dale, I want to buy those little girls some valentines. May I? You know I have my own allowance, and mamma lets me spend it as I like."

Mrs. Dale smiled approvingly, and soon they were in the store purchasing the very valentine Rilly had admired, with the Cupids and flowers, and two others besides, with fancy envelopes to inclose them. Mrs. Dale inquired if the stationer knew anything about the children, and he replied:

"The taller girl is Jim Mickey's. He has a boy, too, who was run over by the trolley the other day and lost his leg. The other girl I do not know, but the postmaster can tell you. He knows everybody in the town."

Entering the postoffice, while Mrs. Dale addressed the missives Charlotte found that Rose's other name was McNally. The postmaster confided to her that the children nearly wore him out on Valentine's day asking if there was anything for them.

"They never got a letter in their lives, and why any one should send them a valentine is more than I can tell."

"Do you mean there are other children who never had a valentine in their lives?" queried Charlotte, in a horrified voice.

"Well, I should say so! About fifty youngsters have been here every morning asking for a valentine. Of course, I have to tell them 'no,' and I am afraid sometimes it is a little impatient."

The coachman driving up at this moment, Mrs. Dale and the girls were soon speeding homeward. Mrs. Dale thought the incident of the valentines had been forgotten and was surprised when Charlotte said:

"Mrs. Dale, the valentines I got last year are all as fresh and clean as when they came. I should like to drive back to the village and send them to those other children who have been so disappointed all day."

Mrs. Dale agreed that it would be a happy surprise for them, and, bidding John wait, the carriage was soon again rolling toward the village. "Drive fast, John, please. I want to get these into the office before the last mail." John whipped up the horses, Charlotte paid a hasty visit to the stationer's for more fancy envelopes and then to the postoffice to take the postmaster into her confidence. That gentleman always treated Charlotte with great politeness. He listened to her plan, while something like a tear glistened behind his big rimmed spectacles, and said:

"Yes, indeed, miss, I will be glad to help you. Whenever any of these children inquire if there is anything for them I'll ask, 'What name?' When they tell me, I'll go behind the window and write that name on one of your valentines and hand it out. Won't they be pleased! They'll think for sure that Valentine is a saint or some kind of a heavenly body."

While the postmaster was talking in came Esmeralda Mickey and her faithful little friend. Past experience caused her timid voice to sink into a plaint as she inquired for the fourth time that day if there was anything for her!

The postmaster's cheery, "Here's one for you, one for Master Willie Mickey and one for Rose McNally too. That's your name, isn't it, Rose?" Rose's surprise was even greater than Rilly's, who had been encouraging faith and hope for many days, and the children left the office hugging their precious valentines close, with faces transformed with joy.

Charlotte's plan worked beautifully. Before daylight every eager inquirer for a letter had received a valentine, and the very uncertainty as to where it had come from made it all the more appreciated and cherished.

Charlotte from this time was a changed girl. Mrs. Dale noticed it and one day suggested they hunt up the Mickey family and see if they could do anything to help them. Then, for the first time, Charlotte became awake to the needs of poor people. Her sympathy showed itself in gifts of toys, clothes and food until she was regarded in the tenement which the Mickeys called home as a fairy princess. When Willie had recovered from his accident enough to go out, he was taken to drive in the carriage and later behind the ponies.

When Mrs. Gage returned, she clasped Charlotte in her arms and, kissing her, said: "My darling, I never saw you look so well and happy in my life. Mrs. Dale and Virginia must be witches."

"Not at all, Frances," answered Mrs. Dale. "No witches or fairies have been around her except perhaps one, although he was neither. In fact, I've heard he was a saint—St. Valentine."

AN OPPORTUNITY

Many people would like to honor the memory of departed loved ones with a handsome monument, but the high prices demanded by the local monument dealers prevent them.

We sell and deliver fine monuments or headstones at much lower prices than similar stones can be obtained for elsewhere. Most of our local monument dealers work by expensive hand methods, while our work is done by the most improved labor saving machinery. Machine work not only lessens the cost of the monument, but insures better results as the moldings, letters, etc., are cut much deeper and smoother than by hand and therefore show longer.

The stone we use is the very best—will not rust, discolor or become streaked as most granites do.

We sell to monument dealers at wholesale and also sell direct to the individual buyer, delivering complete in the cemetery.

Our handsome booklet with designs explains all. It's free if you mention this paper.

By MINERVA SPENCER HANDY

COPYRIGHT, 1902, BY MINERVA SPENCER HANDY

CHARLOTTE GAGE had every reason to be the happiest girl in the world. Her home, surrounded with its beautiful grounds, might have been the abode of a princess. Her father and mother idolized their only child and heaped everything upon her that money could buy. Her toys were the most expensive, her personal belongings the best that could be obtained, and out in the stables were two of the finest Shetland ponies imaginable. In spite of all these treasures, Charlotte was at times discontented and took little interest in the things most girls of her age delight in, greatly to the distress of her parents.

One evening Mr. Gage told his wife that urgent business called him to London, and, if she wished, he would take her with him.

"What shall we do with Charlotte?" asked Mrs. Gage. "Take her with us." "I think not," replied Mr. Gage. "It would tie you down; besides, her school is too important for her to leave just now."

Wondering what pleasant arrangement she might make for her daughter occupied Mrs. Gage most of the night, and on descending to breakfast the following morning no definite plan had been reached. Opening her letters, however, her face lighted up as she read aloud to her husband and Charlotte one she had received from her old friend Rebecca Dale. In girlhood's days these two had been very close, but differences in their positions and interests had separated them somewhat. Rebecca Dale had married a poor young clergyman and gone to live on a small salary in Middletown, while Mrs. Gage had become the wife of the millionaire banker, John Gage. Added to the

"DID YOU EVER GET A VALENTINE, ROSE?" pleasure of hearing from her friend there was something more, but Mrs. Gage did not communicate this just now to her listeners as she read:

MIDDLETOWN, Jan. 15, 1900.
My Dear Frances—How long a time has passed since I have heard from you—almost a year—yet scarcely a day goes by without my mind reverting to some incident of our girlhood! It is hard to realize that my Virginia is fourteen and your Charlotte twelve years old, but "figures will not lie." Mr. Dale is broken down with work in his parish, and his congregation has generously contributed funds sufficient to take him abroad, a long cherished desire of his, and Virginia and I rejoice in his good fortune. We may go east and take up some of the loved ties of my girlhood, and if so I shall enjoy nothing more than seeing you. Affectionately your friend,

REBECCA DALE.
Mr. Gage and Charlotte listened intently, but were unprepared for Mrs. Gage's enthusiastic "The very thing! Nothing could be better! I shall write her immediately and invite her here while we are away and keep her for a visit afterward. Virginia can study music with Charlotte's teacher, and I am sure nothing could be pleasanter than for her to have a companion near her own age."

That night a letter was speeding its way to Middletown and a few days

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every East Liverpool Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptical. Now-a-days the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Hear proof that should convince every East Liverpool reader.

Mr. Samuel Mayer, who is an employee of the McNicol pottery, whose place of residence is 183 Bank street, says: "My health was fairly good until my kidneys began to trouble me, causing my back to ache a good part of the time and to get sore and lame across the loins. The pain was often sharp and penetrating, especially when stooping or lifting, and I never got rid of the trouble until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy and tried them. When I had taken one box the soreness and pains in the back and other symptoms of kidney distress passed away."

later caused much pleasant excitement in the plain little parsonage home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale.

"Go, by all means," urged Mr. Dale, and Virginia's dark eyes grew darker and her red cheeks redder as she said: "Say yes, mother mine. I shall feel like a girl in a book visiting in that splendid house, and to ride and drive all I want. Oh, it seems too good to be true!"

Mrs. Dale's hesitation was unable to stand out against such pleadings, and that very afternoon Virginia dropped a letter of acceptance into the postoffice on her way to school. Preparations went merrily on, and a few weeks later Virginia and Charlotte were lounging in Charlotte's beautiful room before a blazing log fire discussing the subject of valentines. Virginia was enthusiastically wondering if the morning would bring any to them and could not understand Charlotte's indifference to the matter. The latter roused her interest sufficiently to tell Virginia that over in her portfolio were the ones she got last year and she might look at them if she wanted to. Virginia opened the portfolio and uttered mild shrieks of delight as one after another of the beautiful creations was displayed.

"I never saw such beauties in my life," she declared. "I'd go wild if I got even one, and here you have twenty-four. You don't know what a lucky girl you are, Charlotte Gage."

The following morning the butler came into the breakfast room loaded with the messages young people so enjoy receiving on the 14th of February. Virginia opened her simple offerings with beaming eyes and spent many merry moments with her mother guessing where they came from. Mrs. Dale looked at Charlotte with something akin to pain in her eyes as she noticed that the numerous and really beautiful valentines roused little real appreciation from the girl.

Mrs. Gage had confided to her friend how Charlotte's lack of interest worried her, and Mrs. Dale had decided she would endeavor to find out where the real trouble lay. That afternoon, while walking in the village of Ardsley, they stopped in front of the stationer's store to wait for the coachman. Gazing into the window were two little girls about six years old. The strangers were pale and poorly dressed and gave every evidence of want. They were feasting their eyes upon the array of loveliness behind the glass.

"Oh, my, Rilly, see those valentines! They are the beautifullest things I ever saw!" exclaimed one little girl.

"Deed they are, Rose. Just look at that splendid one with the angels on it and that one with the white pigeons and the lovely flowers."

Then in a lower voice, all concealing its sadness, the one addressed as Rilly continued: "I'd give a good deal if my brother Willie could see that, but he can't, for the doctor says it will be two weeks before he can go out. The valentines will be all gone then. Besides, 'figures will not lie.' Mr. Dale is broken down with work in his parish, and his congregation has generously contributed funds sufficient to take him abroad, a long cherished desire of his, and Virginia and I rejoice in his good fortune. We may go east and take up some of the loved ties of my girlhood, and if so I shall enjoy nothing more than seeing you. Affectionately your friend,

REBECCA DALE.
Rilly then confided in an almost inaudible voice that she heard her father read out of the paper something about Mr. Valentine being a saint. "Now, saints are good people, Rose, and hear your prayers and answer them. Ever since I heard about his being a saint I say him a long prayer every night and then ask him to send a valentine to Willie and, if he had it to spare, one to me. You know, Santa Claus does that way. At our Sunday school they told us to ask for what we wanted, and I said, 'A doll.' Sure enough on Christmas there was the doll on the beautiful tree. It was for me, and no mistake, for pinned on its dress was my name, Esmeralda Mickey. I thought St. Valentine would do the same thing, for he is a kind of relation of Santa Claus, but I am afraid I have made a mistake. I have been to the postoffice three times already, and the last time the man looked cross at me and hollered that I must not bother him any more with silly questions."

Tears gathered in the already sad eyes and began to drop down on the blue little hands.

and pained face toward Mrs. Dale and said:

"It seems all wrong that child never had a valentine in her life while I've had bushels of them. I never before knew that all children did not have things like I had. Mrs. Dale, I want to buy those little girls some valentines. May I? You know I have my own allowance, and mamma lets me spend it as I like."

AN OPPORTUNITY

Many people would like to honor the memory of departed loved ones with a handsome monument, but the high prices demanded by the local monument dealers prevent them.

We sell and deliver fine monuments or headstones at much lower prices than similar ones can be obtained for elsewhere.

Most of our best monument dealers work by expensive hand methods, while our work is done by the most improved labor saving machinery. Machine work not only lessens the cost of the monument, but insures better results as the moldings, letters, etc., are cut much deeper and smoother than by hand and therefore show plainer.

The stone we use is the very best—will not rust, discolor or become streaked as most granites do.

We sell to monument dealers at wholesale and also sell direct to the individual buyer, delivering complete to the cemetery.

Our handsome booklet with designs explains all. It's free if you recitation this paper.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Entertained Her Friends—Miss Fannie McFadden, of Walnut street, pleasantly entertained a number of friends at her home Tuesday evening. About 20 couples were present.

Regular Meeting Tonight—The regular meeting of Ohio Valley Ruling No. 43, F. M. C., will be held at their hall in the Exchange block tonight. Important business will be transacted.

Several Arose for Prayers—There was a large congregation last night at the M. E. church. Dr. Crawford preached a very impressive sermon. There were two conversions and several arose for prayers. Dr. Manchester, the presiding elder, will preach tonight.

Society to Pay Deaconess—The special meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. E. church was held last night. There was a full attendance. The ladies decided to assume the responsibility for the payment of $350—the deaconess' salary. The vote was unanimous.

A Dual Observance—Lincoln's birthday was not celebrated in the city schools, it being so soon after the examination the pupils did not have sufficient time to prepare. It has been decided to have the next literary exercises in all the schools on February 21, and they will probably commemorate both Washington and Lincoln.

No Ferry Now in Operation From Congo to Wellsville.

There is no ferry being operated between Congo and Wellsville today, and it is very probable that none will be operated there for several years. This state of affairs is the result of a decision rendered by the county court of New Cumberland yesterday. The ferry has been unsatisfactory for many years and a number of times patrons have threatened to call upon the court asking better service, but until recently no action was taken.

The case was presented to the court by a resident of Congo. After examining a number of witnesses the court decided as follows:

"The ferry license in the hands of Walter Johnston is now revoked, for the reason that he has violated the contract provided by the franchise in not operating a steam or horse ferry during the past year."

The court also held that no license will be granted any person who will not agree to operate a steam ferry. Mr. Johnston, as well as others acquainted with the patronage given, has stated that a steam ferry will not pay.

Notice.

The Oakland Land company, after checking up, find they have only 60 lots unsold in the Oakland addition, East End. From now until April 1 you can buy one of these level lots for $250. After that date the price will be $300. Terms: 10 per cent down and $5 per month.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Biederwolf preached on "The Unpardonable Sin—What Is It?" Hosea 4:17, "Ephraim is joined to his idols; let him alone." He showed by the word, by nature and human experience and observation there is a time when some men are let alone by God, because they hardened their hearts, that they could not believe in Christ. The unpardonable sin, he declared, is to say "no" persistently to God's invitation.

UNDERWRITERS MEET

Those of Columbiana Hold an Interesting Discussion of Business Topics.

The Columbiana County Underwriters' association held a meeting in the rooms of the Cosmopolitan club yesterday afternoon.

George H. Owen is president of the association and C. R. Greenamyer, of Leetonia, secretary. The attendance was good, the northern end of the county being especially well represented.

Important resolutions were passed during the course of the meeting, a majority of which were proposed and adopted at the suggestion of the state board.

The association convened at 2 o'clock and consumed the whole of the afternoon. Matters affecting the general welfare and advancement of the county society were discussed, and the meeting was a very successful one.

CRIPPLE ARRESTED

Warned Out of Town in a Hurry. Steubenville Man in Jail.

Frank Crasey, who was released from jail yesterday morning, succeeded in getting himself arrested in the East End last night. He is a cripple, being minus an arm and a leg, and since he will not be received at the works or the county jail, Mayor Davidson has determined to send him out of town in a hurry. He was arrested by Captain Terrence.

Daniel Hill, of Steubenville, has been on a "bat" for some time. Yesterday he landed in this city and was gathered in by Officer Aufderheide last night on Second street. He was not in condition to be heard this morning. Hill's friends at Steubenville were heard from this morning and asked that the man be kept in custody for a few days, in order that he may sober up. They will pay his fine when he is released.

HOPES FOR TEDDY, JR.

Crisis In His Disease, Was, Last Night, Expected to be Passed Today.

HIS MOTHER WENT TO CHURCH,

Last Night, and Came Away Comforted—Both Parents Cheered by a Visit From the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, Yesterday.

Groton, Mass., Feb. 13.—Last night it was stated that if Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., continued for the 24 hours following in his then condition his physicians had given the president and Mrs. Roosevelt to believe that their son's vitality would be sufficient for him to meet and pass successfully the crisis in his disease, which was looked for some time today, and tomorrow morning he would be practically out of danger.

Last night he was considered to be better than Tuesday night, and the same could be said of his two school mates, Howard F. Potter, of New York, and William Gammell, Jr., of Providence.

This report was given out by Mr. Cortelyou at 9 o'clock last night.

Some Preparations to Leave.
So confident was the president and his wife that their son would pass through this crisis in good shape that the president was already making some slight preparations to leave for Washington. Last night it looked as if he might start some time today. Every one at the Gardner house last night seemed not only cheerful, but jovial, while Mrs. Roosevelt, cheered and comforted by a short but impressive service at 6 o'clock in the chapel, went to her nightly watch in the infirmary in good spirits.

The 9 o'clock report of the boy's condition was the most important one of the day. Mr. Cortelyou said, in addition to what has already been stated, that the left lung had cleared considerably during the day, that the boy's temperature, respiration and pulse had shown but little variation. Everything during the day had gone on well. The clearing up of the left lung was a favorable sign, in that it would enable the boy to meet the crisis in the right lung better. What is known as resolution had set in in this left lung.

In speaking of other things besides the boy's condition, Mr. Cortelyou said that no change had been made in the program for Prince Henry's visit—in fact, invitations to the dinner were going out at Washington. The president will not give up his trip to Charleston, but will go there after Prince Henry leaves.

Danger to Sick Boys Was Great.

In many ways yesterday was less eventful than that which preceded it, and all the reports, as has been said, were favorable. Still, the seriousness of not only young Roosevelt's condition, but that of his two companions, was last night fully as great as ever.

when the closeness to the impending crisis in each case was taken into consideration.

The call of Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst yesterday, like that of Secretary Long Tuesday, was entirely unexpected and cheered both the president and Mrs. Roosevelt considerably. The doctor left the president with a cheery face and confirmed the favorable reports of the morning. The doctor stopped off en route between Clinton and Amherst.

MAY BLOCK RUSSIA.

ALLIANCE LIKELY TO VETO MANCHURIAN TREATY.

Anglo-Jap Agreement In Line With Policy of the United States.

Pekin, Feb. 13.—The news of the signing of the Anglo-Japanese treaty of alliance became known to a few diplomats here, and was an absolute surprise. The treaty is regarded as the most important move in far eastern politics of recent years. The Japanese minister, Uchida, visited Prince Ching, president of the foreign office, and gave him a copy of the treaty. It is not doubted among the diplomats here that the new alliance will effectively veto the signing of the Manchurian treaty.

The British minister, Sir Ernest M. Satow; the Japanese minister, Uchida, and the United States minister, Mr. Conger, have recently been pressing Prince Ching to postpone signing the Manchurian treaty.

In Accordance With American Policy.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister to Washington, called at the state department and notified Secretary Hay of the signature of the treaty between Great Britain and Japan, made public Tuesday in England, binding the two nations to joint action to maintain the integrity of China and Korea. The assent of the United States is not necessary to this agreement, but if it were it probably would not be withheld, for it is pointed out that the treaty is precisely in line with the aims of the state department, as fully disclosed in the notes published by it from time to time. It is again stated that there has been no joint action as between the United States and the two powers named, yet it is a fact that the preamble to the new treaty might be regarded as almost a paraphrase of the position of the United States toward the Manchurian question as enunciated in Secretary Hay's note to the Russian ambassador here.

It is made very clear here by the official statements that the purposes of the United States all relate to commercial and industrial phases of the Manchurian question. With the political phase we have little concern.

Washable Kid Gloves Washable

Something new in Kid Gloves—"The Marvel" Glace Washable Glove. While the distinctive feature of this Glove is in being able to wash it, the manufacturer claims it has no equal for wear, never hardens and is not spoiled by perspiration or water.

TO WASH THEM

Rub a piece of pure soap on a sponge soaked in tepid water, then rub gently on the gloves. Rinse the soap carefully off, and hang them to dry at a moderate temperature. After gloves are dry, stretch them thoroughly. We carry them in brown, mode, gray, tan and white. Sizes 5 1/2 to 7, and they are priced at $1.75 a pair. It costs you nothing to investigate their merits.

UNDERWRITERS MEET

Those of Columbiana Hold an Interesting Discussion of Business Topics.

The Columbiana County Underwriters' association held a meeting in the rooms of the Cosmopolitan club yesterday afternoon.

George H. Owen is president of the association and C. R. Greenamyer, of Leetonia, secretary. The attendance was good, the northern end of the county being especially well represented.

Important resolutions were passed during the course of the meeting, a majority of which were proposed and adopted at the suggestion of the state board.

The association convened at 2 o'clock and consumed the whole of the afternoon. Matters affecting the general welfare and advancement of the county society were discussed, and the meeting was a very successful one.

CRIPPLE ARRESTED

Warned Out of Town in a Hurry. Steubenville Man in Jail.

Frank Crasey, who was released from jail yesterday morning, succeeded in getting himself arrested in the East End last night. He is a cripple, being minus an arm and a leg, and since he will not be received at the works or the county jail, Mayor Davidson has determined to send him out of town in a hurry. He was arrested by Captain Terrence.

Daniel Hill, of Steubenville, has been on a "bat" for some time. Yesterday he landed in this city and was gathered in by Officer Aufderheide last night on Second street. He was not in condition to be heard this morning. Hill's friends at Steubenville were heard from this morning and asked that the man be kept in custody for a few days, in order that he may sober up. They will pay his fine when he is released.

SPECIAL BARGAINS

HOPES FOR TEDDY, JR.

Crisis In His Disease, Was, Last Night, Expected to be Passed Today.

HIS MOTHER WENT TO CHURCH,

Last Night, and Came Away Comforted—Both Parents Cheered by a Visit From the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, Yesterday.

Groton, Mass., Feb. 13.—Last night it was stated that if Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., continued for the 24 hours following in his then condition his physicians had given the president and Mrs. Roosevelt to believe that their son's vitality would be sufficient for him to meet and pass successfully the crisis in his disease, which was looked for some time today, and tomorrow morning he would be practically out of danger.

Last night he was considered to be better than Tuesday night, and the same could be said of his two school mates, Howard F. Potter, of New York, and William Gammell, Jr., of Providence.

This report was given out by Mr. Cortelyou at 9 o'clock last night.

Some Preparations to Leave.

So confident was the president and his wife that their son would pass through this crisis in good shape that the president was already making some slight preparations to leave for Washington. Last night it looked as if he might start some time today. Every one at the Gardner house last night seemed not only cheerful, but jovial, while Mrs. Roosevelt, cheered and comforted by a short but impressive service at 6 o'clock in the chapel, went to her nightly watch in the infirmary in good spirits.

The 9 o'clock report of the boy's condition was the most important one of the day. Mr. Cortelyou said, in addition to what has already been stated, that the left lung had cleared considerably during the day, that the boy's temperature, respiration and pulse had shown but little variation. Everything during the day had gone on well. The clearing up of the left lung was a favorable sign, in that it would enable the boy to meet the crisis in the right lung better. What is known as resolution had set in in this left lung.

In speaking of other things besides the boy's condition, Mr. Cortelyou said that no change had been made in the program for Prince Henry's visit—in fact, invitations to the dinner were going out at Washington. The president will not give up his trip to Charleston, but will go there after Prince Henry leaves.

Danger to Sick Boys Was Great.

In many ways yesterday was less eventful than that which preceded it, and all the reports, as has been said, were favorable. Still, the seriousness of not only young Roosevelt's condition, but that of his two companions, was last night fully as great as ever.

when the closeness to the impending crisis in each case was taken into consideration.

The call of Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst yesterday, like that of Secretary Long Tuesday, was entirely unexpected and cheered both the president and Mrs. Roosevelt considerably. The doctor left the president with a cheery face and confirmed the favorable reports of the morning. The doctor stopped off en route between Clinton and Amherst.

MAY BLOCK RUSSIA.

ALLIANCE LIKELY TO VETO MANCHURIAN TREATY.

Anglo-Jap Agreement in Line With Policy of the United States.

Pekin, Feb. 13.—The news of the signing of the Anglo-Japanese treaty of alliance became known to a few diplomats here, and was an absolute surprise. The treaty is regarded as the most important move in far eastern politics of recent years. The Japanese minister, Uchida, visited Prince Ching, president of the foreign office, and gave him a copy of the treaty. It is not doubted among the diplomats here that the new alliance will effectively veto the signing of the Manchurian treaty.

The British minister, Sir Ernest M. Satow; the Japanese minister, Uchida, and the United States minister, Mr. Conger, have recently been pressing Prince Ching to postpone signing the Manchurian treaty.

In Accordance With American Policy.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister to Washington, called at the state department and notified Secretary Hay of the signature of the treaty between Great Britain and Japan, made public Tuesday in England, binding the two nations to joint action to maintain the integrity of China and Korea. The assent of the United States is not necessary to this agreement, but if it were it probably would not be withheld, for it is pointed out that the treaty is precisely in line with the aims of the state department, as fully disclosed in the notes published by it from time to time. It is again stated that there has been no joint action as between the United States and the two powers named, yet it is a fact that the preamble to the new treaty might be regarded as almost a paraphrase of the position of the United States toward the Manchurian question as enunciated in Secretary Hay's note to the Russian ambassador here.

It is made very clear here by the official statements that the purposes of the United States all relate to commercial and industrial phases of the Manchurian question. With the political phase we have little concern.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Entertained Her Friends—Miss Fannie McFadden, of Walnut street, pleasantly entertained a number of friends at her home Tuesday evening. About 20 couples were present.

Regular Meeting Tonight—The regular meeting of Ohio Valley Ruling No. 43, F. M. C., will be held at their hall in the Exchange block tonight. Important business will be transacted.

Several Arose for Prayers—There was a large congregation last night at the M. E. church. Dr. Crawford preached a very impressive sermon. There were two conversions and several arose for prayers. Dr. Manchester, the presiding elder, will preach tonight.

Society to Pay Deacons—The special meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. E. church was held last night. There was a full attendance. The ladies decided to assume the responsibility for the payment of $350—the deacons' salary. The vote was unanimous.

A Dual Observance—Lincoln's birthday was not celebrated in the city schools, it being so soon after the examination the pupils did not have sufficient time to prepare. It has been decided to have the next literary exercises in all the schools on February 21, and they will probably commemorate both Washington and Lincoln.

No Ferry Now in Operation From Congo to Wells-ville.

There is no ferry being operated between Congo and Wells-ville today, and it is very probable that none will be operated there for several years. This state of affairs is the result of a decision rendered by the county court of New Cumberland yesterday. The ferry has been unsatisfactory for many years and a number of times patrons have threatened to call upon the court asking better service, but until recently no action was taken.

The case was presented to the court by a resident of Congo. After examining a number of witnesses the court decided as follows:

"The ferry license in the hands of Walter Johnston is now revoked, for the reason that he has violated the contract provided by the franchise in not operating a steam or horse ferry during the past year."

The court also held that no license will be granted any person who will not agree to operate a steam ferry. Mr. Johnston, as well as others acquainted with the patronage given, has stated that a steam ferry will not pay.

Notice.

The Oakland Land company, after checking up, find they have only 60 lots unsold in the Oakland addition, East End. From now until April 1 you can buy one of these level lots for $250. After that date the price will be $300. Terms: 10 per cent down and $5 per month.

THE UNPARDONABLE SIN

And Other Topics Discussed By Rev. W. E. Biederwolf—A Fine Meeting.

The last things are proving to be the best at the First Presbyterian church in the revival services. Prof. Maxwell sang by request "The Holy City." The audience was deeply moved by his masterly rendition. His power as a singer was certainly demonstrated.

Rev. Mr. Biederwolf preached the second discourse of the series on the "Holy Spirit" at 2 p. m. His sermon was not only one of great merit, but one of helpfulness and stimulating power. Those present were led into the deep things of God.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Biederwolf preached on "The Unpardonable Sin—What Is It?" Hosea 4:17, "Ephraim is joined to his idols; let him alone." He showed by the word, by nature and human experience and observation there is a time when some men are let alone by God, because they hardened their hearts, that they could not believe in Christ. The unpardonable sin, he declared, is to say "no" persistently to God's invitation.

SENATOR FORAKER'S ORATION

A Comprehensive Review of Conspicuous National Events From Lincoln to McKinley—The Banquet a Big, Successful Affair.

Youngstown, February 13.—(Special)—A galaxy of oratorical talent was present at the Foraker club's Lincoln's birthday banquet last night. There were 450 guests and the occasion was one to be remembered.

The chief orators, Senator Foraker and Hon. W. R. Tayler, arrived during the afternoon and were given a reception at the Tod house. Soon after the Sebring brothers, with a delegation from that pottery town, arrived on a special train, followed by delegations from Warren, East Liverpool and other cities.

Stephen S. Conroy was toastmaster. Senator Foraker responded to the toast, "The Republican Party." He remarked that he came at considerable inconvenience, but was glad to be present.

His address dealt with national questions from Lincoln to McKinley, paying an eloquent tribute to the memory and greatness of both these martyr presidents. Speaking of the Philippines he said we would stay there till the civil government was supreme.

R. M. Wanamaker, of Akron, spoke on the "Great American Triumvirate"—Washington, Lincoln and McKinley, and Congressman R. W. Taylor spoke on Lincoln's life and its lessons. He said in part:

"Because we do not live in a romantic age, we live in an idol-smashing age. This of itself is perhaps commendable. Unworthy objects of public adoration are falling one by one from the pedestals upon which an unthinking and too susceptible age has put them; but our success in thus felling the bogus gods of our ancestors has a most vicious tendency.

"No man ever lived who more richly deserves the title of patriot than Lincoln. Innumerable are the instances where he exhibited his desire to sacrifice himself, if, by so doing, his great purpose to save the union might be advanced. He was nature's son, calm, serene, absolutely without self-consciousness; and these, with a clear head, a sound judgment, and an honest heart, sufficed to carry a mountain of responsibility.

"He is a subject always old yet ever new. He is a fathomless depth and an infinitely sided character. Every sounding discloses new depths, every view adds new light. The deeper the sounding the more beautiful the thing disclosed; the more careful and discriminating the view the more sublime and bewildering the light.

"How inspiring, how ennobling, how uplifting is the character of Lincoln. How marvelous, indeed, was he. Here was a man, sprung from lowly origin, without training in the art of diplomacy or of social functions, who yet showed himself to be master of all—especially the master of those who were pastmasters in diplomacy and polite literature.

"His strength and courage were never more apparent than in respect to the proclamation of emancipation. It seems to mark the moral zenith of the great commoner's career.

"I wonder what Lincoln would think, and what he would say if he were among us at this hour. When we consider what he was and what he lived for we must hide our heads in very shame. The negro has, it is true, progressed much in the last 30 years, but is he where Lincoln meant him to be? The fruits of his emancipation have fallen far short of his and our just expectations. The southern Democracy, by vicious constitutional provisions, is gradually robbing the negro of the rights of citizenship; while in some sections of the south so-called Republican organizations are being formed which aim at the substantial disfranchisement of the negro.

gro. It is needless to say that any party which plants itself on such a platform, and calls itself Republican is flying a pirate's flag, and is entitled to no quarter from a party whose corner-stone is embedded in an imperishable foundation of equal civil and political rights, whatever may be the color of a man's skin.

"O Lincoln, blessed the country that owns your name and fame! You builded better than you knew. You not only freed three million slaves, you broke the shackles from all the world, and taught all men how to be free and how to govern. Peace to your ashes and eternal honor to your name!"

Other speakers were F. A. Hartenstein, ex-Lieutenant Governor A. W. Jones and M. C. McNab.

CHARLES MARDIS SENTENCED FOR ASSAULT.

Must Pay $50 And Costs And Be Locked Up 30 Days—Result of Saloon Dispute.

Lisbon, February 13.—(Special)—Charles Mardis was found guilty yesterday of assault and battery. He was interested in a card game in the saloon of William Higginson in Wellsville one evening last June. Trouble arose and Mardis was put out of the back door of the saloon and, it is alleged, a beer bottle was thrown after him. He secured the bottle and waited at the back door.

When William Higginson, Sr., went to the door, Mardis, thinking as he testified that it was Higginson's son, struck him over the head with the bottle, inflicting injuries which left Mr. Higginson in a precarious condition. While there was no doubt of Mardis' guilt, there seemed to be no disposition to believe that he acted with intent to kill or disfigure. The court was inclined to be lenient with him. The sentence was that Mardis pay a fine of $50 and costs and spend 30 days in the county jail.

While at work this morning at the Brunt Porcelain Works, Robert Stone was seriously hurt by falling through a skylight. In falling he struck two spikes projecting from a timber, inflicting ugly wounds. His shoulder bone was also broken.

The patrol was called and Stone taken to the office of a physician, where his wounds were dressed, after which he was taken to his home in the East End.

GROCERS' MEETING

A Big Gathering at Which Association Officers for the Year Were Elected.

The Retail Grocers' association of this city held a largely attended meeting last evening, almost every retail grocery in the city being represented. The most important business transacted was the election of the following officers to serve for a term of one year:

President—Russell Heddleston.
Vice President—Albert Pearce.
Secretary—Mr. Bradmon.
Treasurer—T. B. Murphy.

The report of Edwin Oppelt, who represented the local association at the annual convention of retail grocers' associations at Milwaukee, was received, which proved to be beneficial to the local members.

Another meeting of the association will be held next week, when arrangements will be completed to give a social and smoker soon.

Abolishing Prison Contract Labor—
State Capital Gossip.

Columbus, Feb. 13.—(Special)—Governor Nash made public late Wednesday afternoon a copy of a letter he sent to a state official who requested that his salary be increased. The governor said he was strongly opposed to an increase in any salary among state officials. "For months I have been at work and using my endeavors for the purpose of increasing the revenues of the state, so that the taxpayers may have the benefit thereof. It seems to me that nearly every officer and every department wants to increase the expense in some way."

Mr. Pollock, of Stark, yesterday presented a bill which provides for the abolishment of the prison contract labor system. It has the earnest support of labor organizations, and it is believed it has a better chance of passing this time than ever before.

Chief Fire Marshal S. D. Hollenbeck received a telegram from Deputy Marshal Hart, of Akron, Wednesday afternoon, stating that a man named Fox, who confessed to setting fire to the woodenware and novelty works of Baker & McMillen in Akron away back in 1892, had been convicted of the crime in the Akron courts on Wednesday. Marshal Hollenbeck instructed Deputy Hart to go to Alliance today to investigate the big fire which occurred in that city several days ago. Alliance parties are suspicious and request an investigation.

The Pittsburg & Lake Erie Railroad company has filed a certificate with the secretary of state, increasing its capital stock from $4,000,000 to $8,000,000. The company paid a fee of $4,000 for the privilege of increasing.

The Record Publishing company, of Wellsville, which was incorporated under the laws of West Virginia, Oct. 21, 1901, has been authorized to engage in business in Ohio. The capital stock, $8,000, is divided into shares of $50 each. The value of the company's property in Wellsville is placed at $2,000. The incorporators each own one share of the stock in the company and are as follows: W. F. Lones, Charles Boyd, G. W. Adams, James Nolan, John B. Ellis and John C. Nicholson.

NEW CONCERN TO TAKE CHARGE

Ohio China Company, of East Palestine, Incorporated With $100,000 Capital.

TAKES HOLD NEXT JULY

O. C. Walker Will Be General Manager of the Plant—Extensive Improvements at the Smith-Phillips Plant—General News.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state by the Ohio China company, of East Palestine. The capital is $100,000, in 1,000 shares. The incorporators are R. F. Taggart, L. D. Overlander, D. H. McIntosh, O. C. Walker and W. H. Bostwick.

F. A. Sebring, being the last vice president of the Ohio China company, in the absence of the last president of that concern, George E. Sebring, and Charles J. Albright as the last secretary, consent to the use of the name, "the Ohio China company," by the new corporation. The first named concern sold out to the latter company recently.

The new company will take possession July 1, but so far no additions to the plant are contemplated. This morning announcement was made by a member of the new firm that they would take over the plant intact. Besides the names mentioned in the articles of incorporation, some stock is retained by the Sebring Bros., of Sebring, and C. A. Lentz. O. C. Walker will be made general manager of the pottery, but no other changes or additions to the force have been announced.

The Smith and Phillips plant in the East End has not been running full for some time. The company contemplate extensive improvements. An additional kiln and an extension of the decorating department are under consideration. This will mean that an additional 32 feet will be added to the present factory. The new portion will be built to the south end of the building, and the room now occupied by the decorating department will be converted into a glost ware room. J. T. Smith said this morning that work on the new buildings would not commence before spring. In the decorating department 18 girls and six men are kept constantly employed, and an addition will be made to the force by the end of the present week.

The last of a series of three games of association football will be played on Saturday afternoon between the employees of the decorating departments of Laughlin No. 2 and the K. T. & K. A challenge has been received by the management of the Laughlin team for a game with the Buckeyes for from $25 to $50 a side. As soon as Laughlin's forfeit is covered preliminaries will be arranged.

An unusual exhibition is witnessed daily at the Chelsea at New Cumberland, according to the statement of one of the firm. A jiggerman employed at that plant is said to be making 400 dozen cups per day. There are a number of jiggermen in this city, out of work, who would be glad to share the work. By so doing both could make a comfortable living.

Carpenters yesterday commenced to enlarge the old decorating shop at Laughlin No. 2. The room formerly used for decal work is being remodelled, and the employees of this department have been removed to the new end.

Bricklayers are completing the new kilns at Laughlin No. 2. A large force of men is employed, but it will be some time before the work is finished. As soon as the weather opens the carpenter work will be commenced.

Three engravers are now employed

THE FIRE SOON EXTINGUISHED

But for a Time It Looked As If the Building Were Doomed—Shocking
Accident in a Sick Room This Morning.

Mrs. James V. Pope and her infant daughter had a most miraculous escape from a horrible death at an early hour this morning.

The Papes reside in a double house on Pennsylvania avenue, and this morning arose a trifle later than usual. Mr. Pope was down stairs and his wife had repaired to an upstairs room for the purpose of ministering to the wants of her little daughter, who has been ill for several days. The child was seated before a parlor gas stove, which stands directly beneath the mantel. Mrs. Pope approached the mantel for the purpose of securing some needed article, and while bending over the stove, accidentally dislodged a large vial of alcohol. The cork of the bottle came out when it hit the floor, falling between the stove and the child. The liquid spilled upon the garments of mother and child, and immediately ignited. Both were enveloped in flames in an instant and their cries were mingled with the noise of the burning clothing and mantel drapery.

Mr. Pope, attracted by the outcry, hastened to the scene and, though almost paralyzed with fear for the safety of the endangered ones, succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

Mrs. Pope was badly burned about the lower limbs, while the child fared worse. The little girl suffered a bad burn on one leg, extending from the knee to the waist, and it is thought she inhaled some of the flames.

Mother and daughter were doing well at last reports, and it is thought no very serious results may follow.

Joseph Betz resides in the other half of the house, and for a time it was thought the building was doomed. Luckily a part of the alcohol scattered in a portion of the room where it failed to ignite. This fact, it is thought, saved the house from destruction.

The result was that during the afternoon a number of plants were unable to run the clay shops. This was done in order that the domestic supply would not be lessened. A force of repairmen were hurried to the break and late last evening the damage was repaired.

This is the second mishap this company has had to contend with within a short time.

EAST END

Are in Progress at Two of the East End Churches—Several Conversions.

A large congregation was present last evening at the special service at the Second Presbyterian church, which is being conducted by Rev. S. Boston, of Steubenville. The sermon last evening was very interesting and impressive. A special musical program has been arranged for this evening by the Laughlin brothers, who sang with great power last night.

Never before in the history of the Erie street M. E. church was more interest taken in a revival service than at present. The services this week have been largely attended, frequently the little church being crowded to the doors. These meetings have been in charge of Rev. George W. Orcutt, and at the meeting last evening several conversions were reported. The trustees of this church recently ordered 100 new hymnals and these arrived this morning and will be used for the first time this evening. The services will continue indefinitely. Next Sunday it is expected a number of new members will be added to the church rolls.

NO WORD FROM BETZ

East End Contractors, As Well as Others, Deside to Hear From Him.

Although Wm. U. Betz has been gone from the East End for a week no word has been received as to his location, but it is generally presumed he went to his former home at Zanesville. Yesterday afternoon a letter was sent to Mrs. Betz, asking if her husband had returned home and an answer is expected by Saturday.

When Betz left he had in his possession the invoice or account of practically all of the lumber received for the new addition being built to Laughlins No. 2, and now the carpenters working there are somewhat hampered to know the amount of material on hand. Of course this account could be secured within a short time, but in so doing much valuable time would be lost. E. P. McHenry said to a reporter yesterday afternoon that the account of lumber that Betz had was of much value to the contractors, and he could not understand why it was not left with them.

Will Visit Wellsville Lodge.

A special car containing about 50 members of Eureka circle, of the East End, will go to Wellsville this evening, leaving Mulberry street at 7:30 o'clock. The object is to visit the Fidelity circle at Wellsville. The Wellsville lodge will initiate a large class this evening, after which a social and entertainment will be given for the benefit of the East End visitors.

Wild Ducks on the Island.

Wild ducks have made their appearance on Babb's Island and yesterday afternoon quite a number were seen swimming in the river between the island and the Ohio shore. There are a number of expert gunners in the East End, but one of these cared to go after the ducks. They were unusually large.

Fell Into the Creek.

William McClure, a well known young man of the East End, fell in Beaver creek yesterday afternoon while fishing. The water was only four feet deep and the accident was caused by McClure stepping on some soft ice which he thought solid.

The missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church met this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. T. F. Anderson, Pennsylvania avenue, and was largely attended.

George McKinnon and William Finney, of St. George street, went to Smith's Ferry yesterday afternoon, where they spent several hours fishing in Beaver creek. They were very successful, returning home last evening with several large strings.

Mrs. William Baird, of Mulberry street, left this morning for Steubenville to attend the funeral services of her cousin, L. H. Miller, who died a few days ago. The services were conducted by Rev. S. L. Boston, interment being made in the Union cemetery, Steubenville.

THE RELIGIOUS LIFE

Will Be the Prevailing Topic at the Y. M. C. A. State Convention.

The topic of the state convention, which meets at Piqua, O., the remaining half of the week, will be "The Religious Life of Man." A glance over the program shows the following as some of the topics and speakers: "Winning Your Own Soul," Washington Gladden, D. D., L. L. D., Columbus; "Religion and the Young Man of Today," Morgan Wood, D. D., Cleveland; "The Religious Life of Men in Industrial Pursuits," E. L. Shury, Dayton; "The Religious Life of Students," Prof. W. O. Thompson, Columbus; "The Religious Opportunity in the Orinet," C. C. Michever, New York; "The Religious Life of Railroad Men," George A. Warburton, New York.

There are many other speakers and topics, but the dominant tone is religious life. If there is one thing more than another that has made the Y. M. C. A. the success that it is in the world it is the power to adapt itself to changing conditions. Religious conditions are in a process of change—men are harder to draw to meetings and harder to move when they come than a decade ago. The Y. M. C. A. feels that it must make an effort to reach all the men in the community, rather than only those who visit the rooms. Plans to this end will be discussed and formulated, so far as the Ohio work is concerned, at the convention.

Three delegates at least will be from East Liverpool, and reports of the convention will appear in this paper.

BRYAN SENT REGRETS

Prominent Ohio Democrats Gathered at a Banquet Held at Salem.

TRAIN FLEW TRACK.

No. 10 on Erie Road Wrecked Between Mahoning and Phalanx, O.

MANY HURT. ONE MAY DIE.

Number of Ohio and Pennsylvania People Among Them—President Ramsay, of the Wabash, Did Heroic Work, With Emergency Case.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 13.—Train No. 10, on the Erie road, for New York, was wrecked between Mahoning and Phalanx, O., about 40 miles from this city. The whole train left the track and ran on for 20 car lengths, finally toppling over on a ditch. The train consisted of a buffet car, two sleepers, chair car, coach, baggage and express. Physicians were called from Warren and Youngstown, and left at once for Leavittsburg, where some of the injured had been taken. Some of the more seriously injured were taken to Youngstown.

The engineer of the train was Matthew Shay, of Youngstown; George Hopper, of Cleveland, conductor. They were not hurt.

One May Be Fatally Injured.

George Thomas, of Cleveland, received what is feared to be fatal injuries, brain concussion.

The others injured are: Charles Shull, Youngstown, side hurt.

Robert Blickensderfer, general manager Wabash railroad, St. Louis, mouth cut and body bruised.

U. S. Cartwright, Baltimore, back and head bruised.

G. H. Van Armour, Coldwater, Mich., scalp cut.

Mrs. Fred Kueh, New Castle, Pa.

Joseph Haglan, Girard, Pa., arm and shoulder bruised.

Mrs. Frank Peck and two children, Warren, O., all received bruises on body.

Frank Finnegan, Cleveland, head hurt.

Max Tarshis, New York, arm injured.

Cora Ames, Cleveland, scalp cut and body bruised.

William Vaughn, cook on President Ramsay's car, St. Louis, artery in leg severed.

Mrs. Mary Best, Cleveland, back and shoulders injured.

George T. Young.

Mrs. James Lamb, Warren, O., back and chest hurt.

George Eckert, Meadville, Pa.

E. J. Bassinger, Cleveland, left leg injured.

C. S. Rusling, Philadelphia, arm and side hurt.

Mrs. C. G. Hart, Adrian, Mich., arm injured.

J. T. Blair, Greenville, Pa.

James White, Steubenville, O., right arm broken.

R. J. Wood, Mr. Ramsay's secretary, body bruised.

Milton Steele, porter, body bruised.

J. H. Kirch, Youngstown, O., left leg injured and internal injuries.

Accident Due to Spreading Rails.

The cause of the wreck is now said to be spreading rails. Most of the injured were in the coach next to the last, that being the private car of Joseph Ramsay, president of the Wabash railway.

Mr. Ramsay had an emergency case with him and he did heroic work in assisting the injured. His car did not topple over, but the car in front did.

Mr. Ramsay wired his friends that his party would go east via Pittsburg.

CREED COMMITTEE DECIDED UPON THE THIRD ARTICLE.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13.—The Presbyterian revision committee considered the third and fourth articles of the new brief statement of faith for popular use, and came to a final decision on the third article. This article touches on creation. The fourth article—on sin—will be again taken up today. The committee will adjourn today, and it will be necessary to hold another lengthy meeting to dispose of the remainder of the brief statement, which contains 16 articles or sections. Washington probably will be decided upon as the place of the next and final meeting of the committee.

THE STATE GIVES EVIDENCE!

From every section, city, town and village, comes convincing proof of the great value of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills as a medicine unequalled in the cure of all varieties of nervous diseases. So great and widespread in this mass of testimony it needs no argument. The facts speak for themselves.

COLUMBUS.

Mrs. J. C. Test, of No. 115 South Scioto street, Columbus, O., says: "Following a long sickness I was very weak, nervous and unable to sleep, nothing seemed to build or tone me until I got Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The medicine suited me finely, building me up in general strength and vigor. The nerves became steady, the sleep peaceful. I cannot speak too highly of the medicine as a nerve and general tonic."

DAYTON.

Mrs. C. H. Smiley, of No. 522 South Ludlow street, Dayton, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are grand. I was nervous, restless, sleepless and lacked energy and vigor. I heard of the Nerve Pills and got some. There is no mistake in its value. I feel well, sleep well—the nerves are steady and I am more than pleased with it—vigor and energy have returned as well."

AKRON.

Mrs. Sam Bollier, of No. 536 Exchange street, Akron, O., says: "Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are a fine tonic. I was run down, felt sluggish, dull, listless and nervous. I was told of and got the Nerve Pills, and they made me feel well and good in short order. I feel bright and strong again and nerves very steady. I think it a great medicine."

STEUDEVILLE.

Mr. John Schaefer, undertaker and awning dealer, 143 North Fourth street says: "I like Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills very much. They are a good nerve and blood medicine. My digestion was not good—appetite poor and digestive organs inactive—I felt depressed. The Nerve Pills I heard of and got gave me a good appetite and digestion—steadied and strengthened me every way. I feel in good shape again—plenty of energy and vigor. I am pleased to recommend them, as they have regulated and strengthened all the digestive organs and nerve forces."

Killed by an Automobile.

Mrs. J. G. Wasson, dressmaker, of No. 525 Mound street, Cincinnati, O., says: "I was tired all the time, went to bed tired and got up tired, was very nervous and suffered from nervous sick headaches. I was told to get Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and I did so. They are certainly a great medicine. They cured the headaches—made my nerves quiet and steady. I rest well at night and wake up bright. I am very much delighted at the result and glad to say so."

CANTON.

Mrs. George E. Warren, of No. 427 East Tenth street, Canton, O., says: "I had need of a nerve tonic as I was restless, weak, nervous and sleeping poorly. The Nerve Pills, however, that we got proved just the medicine I needed, and I slept well again, find the nerves steady and the general strength good."

TOLEDO

Mrs. M. Van Aarle, of No. 922 Broadway, Toledo, O., says: "I was suffering from severe nervousness caused by worry, felt weak and weary, lacked energy. Hearing of Dr. A. W. CLEVELAND.

Mrs. Catherine Mertz, of 59 Rockwell St., Cleveland, O., says: "I was in very bad shape when I got the box of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. I was so weak and nervous I dropped anywhere with a weak heart. I could not trust myself nowhere away from home—the spells came on me any time and often—sleep I could not; restless all the time. The nerve pills soon changed all this, and I got around in good shape and safely, do about as I please—dizzy and faint spells gone—nerves and heart in good shape and feeling as if life were worth living again."

SANDUSKY.

Mrs. William Jakes, of No. 227 Jefferson street, Sandusky, O., says: "As a nerve tonic I can honestly recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. I was nervous, restless, depressed and slept poorly, but since I took the pills I sleep well, wake bright, feel like work, nerves steady and general health and strength excellent again."

YOUNGSTOWN.

Mrs. Ruth Jenkins, of 225 East Front street, Youngstown, O., says: "In my house Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills have been used with splendid results in several cases marked by a general feeling debility, lack of strength, appetite and energy, the medicine in such instance gives nerve strength, general physical strength, energy and tone. We consider the medicine an excellent one."

SPRINGFIELD

Mrs. H. Leatherman, of 474 Lagonda avenue, Springfield, O., says: "For a number of years I have been troubled with severe nervousness, indigestion and a fluttering heart. I heard Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills very highly recommended and thought I would try them. I got a box and now my nervous system is toned up, my indigestion relieved and my heart action steadied. I can speak very highly of these pills as a splendid nerve tonic."

"OLEO" BILL PASSED.

Measure Adopted In House
Makes Product Transported
Subject to State Laws.

Also Branding, Provided For—Passage Occurs of First Bill Awarding Spanish War Claim Damage to a United States Citizen.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The house yesterday passed the oleomargarine bill. There was no division on the final passage, the real test of strength having been made on a motion to recommit, which was defeated by a majority of 34. The provision to require the inspection and branding of renovated butter, which was adopted in committee of the whole Tuesday, was retained yesterday on an aye and no vote. As finally passed the bill is somewhat modified from the form in which it was reported from the committee on agriculture. It makes oleo or imitation butter or cheese transported into any state or territory for use, sale or consumption therein, subject to the laws of such state or territory, notwithstanding that it may be introduced in original packages, and imposes a tax of 10 cents per pound on oleo made in imitation of "butter of any shade of yellow." When not made in such imitation the tax is reduced to one-fourth of 1 cent per pound. The second section is intended to prevent dealers, hotel proprietors, restaurant and boarding house keepers from coloring the uncolored article, by making any person who colors the product and then sells or furnishes it to others a manufacturer within the meaning of the act. Penalties for violation of the act are a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500, and imprisonment for not less than 30 days nor more than six months. The section relating to the inspection and branding of renovated butter is as follows:

For Government Inspection,

"That the secretary of agriculture is hereby authorized and required to cause a rigid sanitary inspection to be made from time to time, and at such times as he may deem necessary, of all factories and storehouses where butter is renovated; and all butter renovated at such places shall be carefully inspected in the same manner and to the same extent and purpose that meat products are now inspected. The quantity and quality of butter renovated shall be reported monthly. All renovated butter shall be designated as such by marks, brands and labels, and the words, 'renovated butter,' shall be printed on all packages thereof, in such manner as may be prescribed by the secretary of agriculture, and shall be sold only as renovated butter. No renovated butter shall be shipped or transported from one state to another, nor to foreign countries, unless inspected as provided in this section."

War claims occupied the attention of the house after the passage of the oleomargarine bill, and the day was made notable for the passage of the first bill for the payments of claims of United States citizens arising out of the Spanish war. It carried something over $55,000 for the payment of 202 claims for property taken within the United States for the use of the army. An omnibus bill carrying claims aggregating $2,114,552 for stores and supplies taken from loyal citizens during the Civil War also was passed. These claims were allowed under the provisions of the Bowman act, and the bill was identical with one passed by the house at the last session. Two other bills, which have been before congress for 28 years, to refer certain claims, for additional compensation by the builders of certain monitors during the Civil War, to the court of claims, were passed.

THE GERMAN YACHT ARRIVED.

Hohenzollern Reached New York
Sooner Than Expected—Admiral Welcomed.

New York, Feb. 13.—The imperial German yacht Hohenzollern, sent here for the use of Prince Henry of Prussia during his forthcoming visit, arrived yesterday from Kiel. She was not expected, for she came by the southern circle, and it was calculated that the run would take at least one day more than it did. It had also been thought that she would touch at Bermuda and that place had reported her as two days overdue. The weather encountered was unfavorable for a call at Bermuda, and at sea Admiral Count von Baudissin abandoned the partly formed plan and shaped his course for New York.

Admiral Von Baudissin was formally welcomed to New York by a civic committee, a representative of Mayor Low and an officer of the United States navy. The civic committee was headed by Captain A. T. Mahan, U. S. N., and his associates were Emil S. Boas, Gustav H. Schwab, Captain Jacob S. Miller, William H. Baldwin, Jr., George H. Bolt, Colonel Whelan and Commissioner Rodgers. Captain Mahan spoke briefly, greeting the admiral and his officers and ship in the name of the people of the city. The admiral thanked the committee and through its members the citizens of New York. Private Secretary James Reynolds left the card of the mayor and Captain Converse, of the battleship Illinois, made the formal call in behalf of the navy. Wallace Downey, builder of the yacht for the German emperor, for the launching of which Prince Henry is coming to the United States, also called. The officers of the Hohenzollern said that it would be impossible for them to accept formal entertainments until the arrival of the prince, of whose suite they are members. They can and will do so in their private and individual capacities, but when they come ashore it will be in civilian attire. Admiral Von Baudissin will return the calls of those who called or left cards for him, and it was expected last evening that he would visit the city hall some time today. He will also call upon Consul General Buenz, representative here of the German government.

OHIO REPUBLICAN CLUBS.

League Held Convention at Springfield—Bonham Chosen President. Other Officers Elected.

Springfield, O., Feb. 13.—The convention of the League of Ohio Republican clubs was held here. About 20 Republican clubs sent delegates. President D. Q. Morrow read his address.

Following Mr. Morrow, Secretary Harley V. Spellman, of Marietta, and Treasurer W. E. Seyfer, of Mt. Vernon, made their reports. The committee on resolutions, of which Congressman Thomas B. Kyle, of Troy, was chairman, reported. Following the report of that committee, the election of officers took place, which resulted as follows:

President—Scott Bonham, of Cincinnati.
First Vice President—Robert Nevins, Jr., of Dayton.
Second Vice President—Walter C. Hudson, of Toledo.
Third Vice President—Dr. E. D. Colley, of Cincinnati.
Fourth Vice President—Joseph Russell, of Urbana.
Secretary—H. V. Spellman, of Marietta.

Treasurer—W. E. Seyfer, of Mount Vernon.
Delegates at large to the national convention of Republican clubs were elected as follows: D. Q. Morrow, Hillsboro; George C. Dunham, Toledo; Thomas B. Kyle, Troy; Fred H. Tibbitts, Columbus; D. D. Woodmansee, Cincinnati; and Arthur J. Riggs, Springfield.

Alternates—D. C. Cutcliff, Cincinnati; E. E. Cole, London; Fred W. Herbst, Columbus; O. B. Brown, Dayton; George E. Love and Fred L. Taft, of Cleveland.

The next meeting will be at Columbus, O.

Travelers to California

Naturally desire to see the grandest and most impressive scenery en route. This you will do by selecting the Denver & Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, "The Scenic Line of the World," and "The Great Salt Lake Route," in one or both directions, as this line has two separate routes across the Rocky mountains between Denver and Ogden. Tickets reading via this route are available either via its main line through the Royal George, Leadville, over Tennessee Pass, through the Canon of the Grand river and Glenwood Springs, or via the line over Marshall Pass and through the Black Canon of the Gunnison, thus enabling the traveler to use one of the above routes going and the other returning. Three splendidly equipped fast trains are operated to and from the Pacific coast, which carry through standard sleepers daily between Chicago, St. Louis, Denver and San Francisco. Dining cars (service a la carte) on all through trains. If you contemplate such a trip, let us send you beautifully illustrated pamphlets, free. S. K. Hooper, G. P. & T. A., Denver, Col. 7-13-14

The News Review for all the news.

'Tis Valentine night and the snow is milk white
And there isn't a cloud in the sky.
And my voice is in tune and the jolly full moon
Is as yellow and round as your eye.
And here in the hard, cold and cruel back yard
Your Thomas sits caroling now;
Oh, pray be my valentine! Do be my valentine!
Maria! Maria! Me-ow!

You are tender and nice as a meadow of minks
You are sweeter than oceans of creams
My heart is a quiver like hissing raw liver.
Where'er of your beauty I dream
Your charming cold nose, and your lovely hooked toes.
Your fur of magnificent hue!
Oh, say you're my valentine! Swear you're my valentine!
Maria! Maria! Me-ow!

That ugly old cat from O'Hoolihan's flat
Is sitting close by on a shed.
He is raging at me, for he's jealous, you see,
And is longing to woo you instead.
He is bursting with spite and he dares me to fight;
But wait till this cat is through.
Then watch me, my dear, as I chew off his ear—
Maria! Maria! Me-ow!

"The world," so they say, "loves a lover," but nay—
I fear that is false as can be.
For Smith, from the height of the second back flight,
Has just thrown his slippers at me.
They're a ponderous pair, but 'tis little I care.
My darling, for footlock or shoe:
Your love's what I crave, and all danger I'll brave.
Maria! Maria! Me-ow!

Old Mrs. McGann has just tossed out a can
Of water red hot from the tap.
And what has been said by that cat on the shed
Is something that calls for a scrap.
I am wrathful and wet so excuse me, my pet.
I must lick that O'Hoolihan now;
But still be my valentine, ever my valentine—
Fssst! Bliff! Take that, will yer! Me-ow!

BIG SALE OF STREET RAILWAYS

Canton-Akron, Canton and Massillon and Canton-Massillon Inter-urban Purchased.

Canton, O., Feb. 13.—It is stated by an authoritative source that the Northern Ohio Traction company, the Everett-Moore syndicate and Henry Everett have disposed of their interests in the Canton-Akron street railway line, now being constructed between Akron and Canton, and the Canton and Massillon City street car systems, as well as the Canton-Massillon interurban line, now in operation, with the extension to Navarre, five miles south from Massillon.

Papers for the consummation of this deal are said to have been drawn up and signed and the transaction closed, to all intents and purposes.

The Canton-Akron property was purchased on option several months ago by the Northern Ohio Traction company, of the Everett-Moore syndicate, from the Canton-Akron company. It was stated at the time that an option for $50,000 or more was paid by the Everett-Moore people to guarantee their taking the property at the agreed price when it was completed and put in operation. The Canton-Massillon properties were secured later by a purchase of the stock of the Canton-Massillon Electric Railway company, in the interest of the Everett-Moore syndicate. The present purchasers of both properties are said to be a syndicate composed of the banking house of Tucker & Anthony, of Boston; L. E. Myers, of Chicago, and eastern capitalists. The transaction will involve something over $2,500,000.

Cleveland, Feb. 13.—Chairman Newcomb, of the bankers' committee, in charge of the Everett-Moore affairs, said yesterday afternoon: "It is true that negotiations have practically been closed with Boston people for the sale of the Canton-Akron and Canton-Massillon lines."

Doing Good.

A great deal of good is being done in all parts of the country by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good work, of aggravating and persistent coughs that have yielded to its soothing effects, of severe colds that have been broken up by its use, of threatened attacks of pneumonia that have been worded off and of dangerous cases of croup that it has cured. The great popularity and extensive sale of this preparation can not be a surprise to anyone who is acquainted with its good qualities. Use it when you have need of such a remedy and it will do you good. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

Do not make a mistake in buying family medicine. Moffat's Life Pills cure all stomach and liver diseases, and purify the blood. Try them.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible. If not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. A Missouri judge has granted an injunction forbidding the production of a play picturing train robbers and bank looters as heroes. There are scores of dramas needing the attention of such a keen judicial critic. It is all folly to hold that a play must depict immortality and crime in attractive guises in order to be successful. The phenomenally successful and favorite plays of recent years have been those dealing with everyday life and inculcating a useful moral lesson. Works like "Shore Acres," "The Old Homestead" and others which bid fair never to lose their popularity, are elevating in their character, presenting a true moral with impressive force. The blood curdling drama and the indecent French play may thrive for a day, but it is the wholesome, old-fashioned story with a moral that succeeds best in the long run. It is surprising that managers and playwrights have not learned this lesson by experience and observation and still think it necessary to feed their patrons on dirt.

If the state canals are to be sold there can be no reasonable objection to selling them to railroad companies. A railroad is far more serviceable and valuable as a common carrier than a canal. But it is not necessary to give away the canal property in order to get rid of it. The state must get the full worth of its possessions; no other proposition is to be entertained.

The so-called "Anti-Trust League" has so little standing or influence that its attacks on Attorney General Knox serve no other purpose than to vent political spite. The foremost foe of the trusts do not belong to the league, being wise enough to know that the trust question is not a political one and having no desire to pose as assistant Democrats.

William C. Whitney is not likely to be a Democratic candidate for the presidency. He lately retired from business, announcing his intention of leading a quiet life. Besides, he has never been conspicuous for investing his money where there is no prospect of returns.

Those Detroit bank directors who let an official wreck the institution may have to pay dearly for their carelessness. The prosecuting attorney of Wayne county has brought suit against them for $250,000 of county funds deposited in the bank.

The Ministerial Alliance of Salt Lake City reports that the Mormons are still indulging in plural marriages. There is a federal statute that fits their case, and it should be applied unsparringly.

Prof. Pearson, who attacked the bible while teaching in a Christian institution, is to write a book. He took a mean advantage of his position to advertise the forthcoming work.

In Tom Johnson's campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor two years hence the objections all come from the Democratic party.

Cleveland's McKinley memorial fund subscriptions amount to over $35,000. That speaks well for the city's patriotism and loyalty.

ures at the international suffrage convention now being held in Washington. Their work has been tireless, but has it been successful?

OBITUARY

Death of an Infant.

A little child of Roxy Anderson, of lower Walnut street, died early this morning of lung trouble. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

AT THE THEATER

The Schiller Stock company presented "Jesse James" to an appreciative audience last evening. Tonight "Woman's Enemy" will be given, which had a long run last season in New York and is replete with special scenery. The company this year shows unusual strength and Miss Fontainebleu, as leading lady, has made a great hit. A matinee will be given Saturday afternoon, the play being a dramatic representation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" with Miss Fontainebleau as "Topsy."

"The Game Keeper," which will be seen at the opera house Monday night, has been entirely rewritten and is said to be a far better production than that of last season. Many new and novel features have been added, among them being a choir of trained voices for the pretty and effective chapel scene in the last act.

SOME METALS.

Iridium, worth more than $780 a pound, is the hardest metal known and is used to tip gold pens.

Lithium, worth more than $1,100 a pound, is used only in medicine, its salts being valuable in rheumatic affections.

Tungsten, worth 30 cents a pound, is largely used in metallurgy and gives to steel qualities similar to those imparted by molybdenum.

Molybdenum, worth $1.44 a pound, is used in metallurgy. Molybdenum steel possesses the rare quality of preserving its hardness even when heated to redness.

Selenium, which has the curious property of losing its resistance to the electric current under the influence of light, is used in the telegraph and is worth $22 a pound.

Uranium, worth $80 a pound, is used in the glass and porcelain industries. It has been found that uranium carbide is superior to nickel or tungsten in the manufacture of high grade steel.

Palladium, which has the smallest coefficient of dilatation, is used for the mounting of astronomical instruments. The standard meter of France is made of palladium. The pure metal costs $4.82 a pound.

Vanadium oxidizes in air with great difficulty, melts at 2,000 degrees and becomes redhot in hydrogen. Neither hydrochloric acid nor nitric acid attacks it. It costs $592 a pound and is used in coloring glass and in making indelible inks.

Italy's Marriage Brokers.

Marriage brokers are a regular institution in Italy. In Genoa there are several marriage brokers who have pocketbooks filled with the names of the marriageable girls of the different classes, with notes of their figures, personal attractions, fortune and other circumstances. These brokers go about endeavoring to arrange matrimonial alliances in the same offhand mercantile manner, which they would bring to bear upon a purely business transaction, and when they succeed they get a commission of 2 or 3 per cent upon the dowry, with such extras of bonuses as may be voluntarily bestowed by the party.

NEW CONCERN

Jr., Ohio State university, Columbus; treasurer, S. G. Burt, Cincinnati.

Henry B. Sperry, of Akron, has purchased the sewer pipe plant at Talmadge. Sperry owns the Diamond Fire brick plant at Akron. Clay novelties will be manufactured.

F. W. Fowler was in the city yesterday and made an inspection of the completed improvements at the Union. He left in a few hours for New Cumberland.

Miss Myrtle Cunningham, of Erie street, while dressing a piece of ware at the National yesterday cut her left hand. She was unable to continue work.

John T. Wood, statistician of No. 9, who has been bench boss at the Diamond for several years, has taken a position as kilnhand at the National.

Ben Harker, general manager of the Laughlin, has returned from Cambridge Springs and the east. He is much improved in health.

The Smith and Phillips is now working on a large order for a jobber at Dallas, Tex. It will not be ready for shipment for two weeks.

James Thompson, formerly a warehouseman at Brunt's and William Cochrane have taken positions at Laughlin No. 2.

The capacity of the Barberton pottery will be 14 kilns. The original plans were altered. The plant is now under roof.

It is announced that the glost kilnmen will resume work at the Wallace & Chetwynd pottery tomorrow morning.

George Morgan and Thomas Lamp, glost kilnmen at the Klondike, have off duty for several days on account of illness.

William Clarke, employed at Trenton for 8 years, has taken a position in the decorating department of Laughlin No. 2.

Three sled loads of young ladies from the decorating department of Laughlin No. 2 went to Calcutta last night.

Nine new members will be taken into the kilnmen's local Friday night. All are either apprentices or newcomers.

H. H. Meador, glost kilnman at Laughlin No. 2, has been off duty for several days with rheumatism.

Moldmakers' local No. 22 met in Brotherhood hall last evening and transacted routine business.

The Diamond resumed operations in full this morning. Some of the clay hands started yesterday.

Miss Louise Bloor has taken a position in the decalcomania department of the Klondike.

Miss Nellie Hutchinson has taken a position as filler-in at Klondike.

Repairs to the kilns at the National have been completed.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE.

In England It Is Withheld From Many Full Fledged Citizens.

There are many full fledged English citizens who are disqualified from membership in parliament and from taking any part in parliamentary elections. Thus all peers of the realm, except those Irish peers who do not happen to have been elected for life to represent their order in the house of lords, are barred from the exercise of franchise. So, too, are police officials high and low. They neither have a vote nor are they eligible.

Ineligibility to parliament extends to the Anglican clergy, to Scottish Presbyterian ministers and to the Roman Catholic priesthood. Undischarged bankrupts and those convicted of felony and who have not completed their sentences and are merely freed on tickets of leave are likewise disqualified from election to parliament. So, too, are young men under the age of twenty-one and persons who, having been judicially declared insane, have not been legally restored to their civil rights and privileges.

Insanity, however, does not constitute any disqualification in the case of the upper house of parliament. Lunatics are permitted to take part in the divisions in the gilded chamber, and at the time when the Irish home rule bill, enacted by the house of commons, was defeated by the house of lords no less than three crazy peers were brought down to Westminster by their keepers from the insane asylums in which they were held under restraint and voted as hereditary legislators against home rule being granted to Erin.

When a lamb has been through his first experience in Wall street, he generally feels more sheepish.—Washington Times.

KNOX AGAIN ATTACKED.

Memorial From Anti-Trust League Presented in the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 13.—When the senate convened yesterday Mr. Turner presented a memorial from the National Anti-Trust league, enumerating certain trusts and combinations which, the memorial sets forth, were operating in conflict with the Sherman anti-trust law. He said the petition stated that the existence of these so-called trusts had been called to the attention of the attorney general of the United States, with the request that the machinery of the government be set in motion with a view to the destruction of the trusts, but thus far nothing had been done. The petition prayed that congress take action in vindication of its law.

Mr. Turner said the memorial contained also some allegations against the present attorney general and his immediate predecessor, but he did not wish to be understood as fathering the charges. He asked that the memorial be printed in the Congressional Record, but Mr. Gallinger objected, and its printing was not ordered.

YEAGER TAKEN TO JAIL.

Alleged Incendiary Will Be Given a Hearing Next Monday.

Altoona, Pa., Feb. 13.—Stephen Yeager, the ex-inmate of the industrial reformatory at Huntingdon, who was arrested, charged with being responsible for the numerous incendiary fires which occurred here Tuesday night, has been taken to jail. He will be given a preliminary hearing next Monday.

Charles Williams, who was arrested by the police here as a suspicious character, gave the prisoners in the city lockup a fright by setting fire to his clothes. The blaze was extinguished by city building employees after a brief fight.

Suicided by Hanging Himself.

Marion, O., Feb. 13.—Squire John M. Blue, of Larue, this county, was found hanging to a bedpost at his home, having strangled himself to death. Two weeks ago Blue, who is 73 years old, and Clementine Drake, aged 63 years, were married. No cause for the deed has been found.

Farming in Colorado, Utah And New Mexico.

The farmer who contemplates changing his location should look well into the subject of irrigation. Before making a trip of investigation there is no better way to secure advance information than by writing to those most interested in the settlement of unoccupied land. Chapped Rough Skin is very healing.

Our lotion

The best thing out for chapped hands, say those who use it. It is absorbed quickly and does not soil gloves or any fabric when worn immediately after its application. It helps to make the skin soft and smooth and is certainly a fine addition to any lady's toilet.

AGGRESSIVE MORMONS

A MISSIONARY ON HER WORK
AMONG THE SAINTS.She Says They Openly Defy the Government, As They Have Always Done.

Mrs. Anna McKean White, of Philadelphia, delivered an interesting and beneficial lecture to a large audience in the First Presbyterian church last evening. Her subject was "Two Years Among the Mormons." Having been a Gentile missionary in Utah for several years Mrs. White was very capable of commenting upon her subject. She said in part:

"The missionaries working in Utah have a more difficult undertaking than any other class of missionaries in the world. The whole state is joined into one mighty force which places every conceivable obstruction in the way of missionaries, hoping that they will become disheartened and leave. The Mormon church is the strongest in the world, the Roman Catholic not excepted.

"The officials of the church work harmoniously together and all for one end—that of securing more members and thereby making their church ultimately invincible. They are at present openly defying the United States government and always have been. When a new member is received into the church he is compelled to live by the laws of the church, regardless of any interference by the national government. This mighty organization has 2,000 missionaries in different parts of the world who are every day securing more converts. It is a fact not generally known, but true that churches in our cities known as the Church of the Latter Day Saints are only Mormon churches sailing under false colors.

"The Mormon leaders teach that Adam is the god of the world and will rule over all in heaven. They also teach that men shall have more than one wife and the greater the number of wives the greater will be their glory in heaven, and if a woman fails to get married she will never reach glory. The most blasphemous remark ever made by a human was proclaimed by Brigham Young when he said: 'Jesus Christ was nothing less than a polygamist. He was a good man, but no better than any other man.' The bible as read by the Mormons is not at all like the Gentile bible. It is completely changed, and is called by them a new revelation."

While in the city Mrs. White was entertained by Rev. L. F. Laverty and family. She departed this morning for Pittsburg, where she will deliver an address tonight.

VISITED JUDGE KERR

Rev. C. E. Clark interviewed the Jefferson Official on Marriage License Controversy.

Judge Kerr, of Steubenville, is apparently weakening in his stand relative to the lawfulness of proper officials in Columbiana county performing marriage ceremonies for couples who secure their licenses in Jefferson county. Upon several different occasions the judge returned marriage certificates to justices of the peace of Wellsville and East Liverpool, severely censuring them for performing the ceremonies when, as he said, they knew that they were infringing on the law by so doing.

Rev. C. E. Clark was returned a certificate accompanied by a harsh reprimand by Judge Kerr. The reprimand grated on Mr. Clark to such an extent that he wrote the judge a letter demanding an explanation. The judge disregarded the letter, not even answering it. Another letter was written by Mr. Clark and again no reply was received.

Mr. Clark not willing to drop the matter, last week went to Steubenville and there had a long conversation with the judge. Yesterday, when asked in regard to his interview, Mr. Clark said:

"I met the judge in his office and must say that he treated me very courteously. Judging from the letter I received from him I did not expect it. He apologized very readily for his treatment of me and stated that I had done nothing at all wrong. He said further that he had been bothered a good deal on account of his course, but as he deemed the position taken by the justices unlawful he would continue his war unless they and the ministers applied to the Jefferson county court for certificates."

Charles O. Morgan Returning to Wellsville After an Exciting Experience.

Charles O. Morgan will reach his home in Wellsville next week. Only three weeks ago he was mustered out of the British army with which he had been fighting for six months among the Boers of South Africa. On January 30 he sailed from Liverpool, England, on the steamer Ionian for this country and arrived at Halifax last Saturday.

In a letter to his father, A. C. Morgan, who is a conductor on the street car line, he stated that on his trip from Halifax to Montreal by rail he was in a most exciting railroad wreck. His train was derailed and several people were killed. He will leave Montreal for home on next Monday.

BOWLING CHAMPIONSHIP

Games Between Wellsville And Lisbon
Which Are Expected to

Two series of bowling games are scheduled to be played on Campbell's alleys this week. The contests will be on Friday night between Captain Shingler's team and a Steubenville team and on Saturday night between Shingler's team and the Lisbon Colts. The Friday night's games will be the initial ones participated in by these teams and there is an uncertainty as to the result.

The Wellsville and Lisbon teams, having won an equal number of games they have agreed to let the championship be decided by the Saturday's game.

Clerks' Association Met.

The Retail Clerks' association held a meeting in MacKenzie's hall last evening and initiated Charles E. Evans into the association. MEMORIAL FROM FILIPINOS.

Transmitted to Senate by Secretary of War—In Support of American Rule.

Washington, Feb. 13.—With the exception of a sharp clash between Mr. Lodge and Mr. Patterson over the matter of admission of representatives of the press to the investigation which the Philippines committee is conducting, the discussion of the Philippine tariff bill in the senate yesterday was quiet. The Colorado senator desired that all newspapermen be admitted to the committee hearings, declaring that as now conducted they were of a star chamber character. He said his recollection was that Mr. Lodge had suggested that the hearings be entirely secret. This drew the fire of the Massachusetts senator, who indignantly denied that he had suggested anything of the kind. He insisted that the reports made of the hearings by the three press associations were accurate and fair to both sides of the controversy.

A communication from the secretary of war transmitting a memorial of the Federal party of the Philippine islands in support of American rule in the islands called from Mr. Patterson the statement that the Federal party had obtained its control in the Philippines by promising to the Filipinos that they would be admitted ultimately to statehood in the United States.

A CHILD'S CLOTHING TAKES FIRE
AT AN OPEN GRATE.The Little One Rescued By His Mother
in a Very Precarious
Condition.

The little son, aged two years, of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Wylie, who live near Asbury chapel, had a very narrow escape from death Tuesday morning. The boy had been left alone in the sitting room and while playing in front of a grate fire, his clothes became ignited and in a minute's time he was completely enveloped in flames. His loud, agonizing cries attracted Mrs. Wylie, who was perhaps a block from her home. The ready application of a blanket soon extinguished the fire, but not until the unfortunate child was burned most horribly about the back and right side.

A physician from Chester alleviated to a certain extent the boy's sufferings. He stated this morning that the child is in a precarious condition and that its recovery, if at all, will be very slow.

Many Chester young people attended the dance at Dan Allison's home last night. An East Liverpool mandolin club furnished the music.

How the Peach Was Produced.

That the luscious peach has been derived from the hard shelled almond can no longer be successfully denied. It is said that the peach in its original soil was a virulent poison and that the Persian warriors brought to Persia some of the seeds and planted them for the purpose of poisoning the points of their arrows so as to render wounds caused by them to be fatal, but a change of climate and soil produced a fruit which is not only luscious, but is esteemed exceedingly healthful.

"You seem to be quite an educated man," said Blair dreamily. "Have you learned anything in this life that would help you lead another if you had one?"

"Very little, I'm afraid," said Elmendorf; "but let us proceed. I had proved that the man was a doctor, and then came the Philadelphia story. You know what happened over there. The husband ran out for a doctor. That doctored me at first, and I had to think it out."

"I was afraid she was poisoned," said Blair calmly, "and dared not be alone with her if she should die."

"You!" exclaimed Elmendorf, rising. "You! Well!—and he sat down again—'It doesn't surprise me!'"

"You came here to get me," responded Blair. "I knew it as soon as you sat down there. I had no chance, though she promised to shield me in return for my clearing Miss MacLane. She'd have done it anyway, of course. That she had already proved. She was ashamed, ashamed, dead as a doornail, and sick to the soul of her for having ever loved me. Well, it's all over. If you know what happened in Philadelphia, it only remained for you to find the New York doctor. He's in Europe, however; left a week or more ago. His name is Osborne. Any more information I can give you, Mr. Elmendorf? It's all up. I might as well talk."

His left hand was always visible upon the door.

"Why didn't you run?" demanded Elmendorf.

"I staid to play the game out," replied Blair. "There was money in view, and I love money, my friend; also I love life. How absurd, but I do—now that it's over! Think of it! And there isn't a man in New York this minute as wretched as I am. Why, I'd just heard from the hospital, and I was sitting there on that couch, staring at the pillow she made for me, thinking of the endless stitches and the love—Elmendorf, she told me that every one of them was sewed with love for me. Why does that stick in my mind? Why couldn't I be straight? Well, well, I'm done for—done for!"

Elmendorf eyed the man curiously. His face was flushed as if with fever, and his words were thickly uttered and hurried, as with delirium.

"You didn't get the money?" said Elmendorf.

"Money!" echoed Blair. "For the first time in my life I forgot that there was such a thing. I read that letter, as you guessed, and I was crazed. I knew she was holding her secret, and would put him off for shame, and because she treasured up something he had said that frightened her—about some woman who ran away to be married. Well, I went there that afternoon; I talked with her, raved at her and then—well, you know what happened. I thought every one would know I did it. We had had more meetings in the last few weeks than you'd believe possible," he rambled on, "but then nobody cares what his neighbor does here in New York. Our whole romance passed without notice. I was on the balcony when Robinson came."

"Did you know that he returned?" asked Elmendorf.

"Returned?"

"He left his cane in the room, got outside the house, got in again because the lock hadn't caught and entered the room, thinking that he had heard an answer to his knock. There was the money right on the table, and nobody in sight, you and Miss Miller being on the balcony between the windows. He needed money, and he took it, and I traced it. The man's at headquarters now. He tried to skip, but he was shadowed at the time, as I knew and he didn't."

"I thought Neale got the money," said Blair, starting as if from a doze.

"Robinson will be released," said Elmendorf. "There'll be no complaint. This whole case will be covered up."

"Covered up?" echoed Blair, and he laughed. "I'll be covered up—in my grave, and by —, Elmendorf, I don't want to die! I don't want to die! Can you understand that?"

"Don't die, then," said Elmendorf; "there's no need of it. I shan't trouble you. I could make a lot of money by letting you alone, and I'm going to do it for nothing, or, to be exact, I'm going to do it for Elsie Miller. You'll go scot free, Blair, you black hearted, lying brute!"

Blair suddenly rose to his feet. He seemed to be impossibly tall as he stood there with raised shoulders and clinched hands, staring down at Elmendorf.

"Do you mean to say that you have not come here to take me?" he demanded.

"That's what I mean," said Elmendorf. "You can go where you please, and you'd better go as fast as you can, for Alden may be here at any moment. Perhaps you have observed certain physical peculiarities of Mr. Alden? I seem to hear your bones crack, Blair, in his hands."

Blair gave utterance to a terrible oath.

"Do you know what I have done?" he cried in a voice that sent a chill to Elmendorf's heart. "Look here!"

He lifted the small bottle and then dashed it down to shivers.

"I'm done for! I've taken enough of that to kill three men. No electric chairs for me. And now—I might have lived! I might have gone abroad. I could have had money—found a new life; but I'm a dead man."

He had wrenched open the door of a locker upon the wall, but at the last words he turned to launch a frightful curse at Elmendorf.

"I may still save myself," he babbled, and there was a rattling of bottles in the cupboard. "This is it. Great heavens! There is hardly enough. Bring me that water."

Elmendorf started to comply, but his speed did not equal Blair's impatience, and the latter sprang forward so that they came together. There was a tinkling of glass upon the floor.

Blair sprang back, his face dripping and ghastly red with the poison.

"It's all I have!" he cried. "It's my last chance! And you—you did it!"

With incredible strength and suddenness he seized a heavy paperweight from the table and aimed a fearful blow at Elmendorf. The detective reeled for an instant and then fell face downward upon the floor, where he lay perfectly still.

Blair glanced at him once, then rushed to a mirror near the window and stared at his own livid face.

"There may be time!" he gasped, one hand clutching his breast. "If I can get to a drug store!"

He seized his hat instinctively and rushed to the door, through which he passed into the hall.

"Dr. Blair," said a remembered voice, "I must speak with you. Come back with me. Where is Elmendorf? Have you seen him?"

Frantic, he tried to shake off the hand that was on his arm, but the hand was of iron. He babbled unintelligible words.

"Poison!" cried Alden. "Who is poisoned? Come back here to the light."

INJUNCTION AGAINST PLAY.

Judge Teasdale Granted the Application of Frank James.

Kansas City, Feb. 13.—Judge Teasdale, in the circuit court, granted the application of Frank James for an injunction to stop the production of "The James Boys in Missouri," a drama depicting the James boys as train robbers and bank looters, which has been playing at a local theater.

The injunction proceedings were brought by Frank James, his mother, Zerelda Samuels, and his step-father, Dr. Reuben Samuels. The suit raised the question as to whether or not a private citizen could be portrayed on the stage without his consent, whether to his discredit or not.

Justice Teasdale instructs that James furnish a bond of $4,000 to indemnify the theater people against loss in case the decision is overturned by a higher court, and until the bond is given the play will go on. It is believed James will produce the bond.

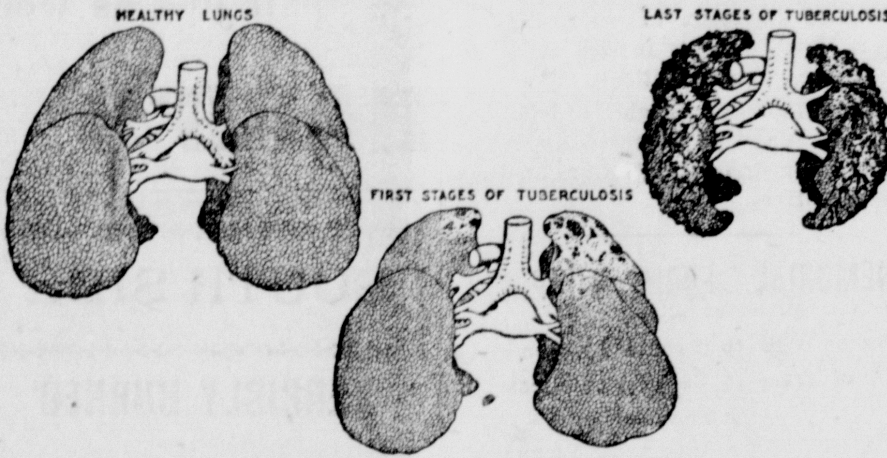

Receiver For Broken Bank.

Detroit, Jan. 13.—Judge Donovan appointed the Union Trust company, of this city, receiver for the wrecked City Savings bank.

DISEASED LUNGS.

How Consumption Begins, How It Ends, How Cured.

Recent Medical Discovery Makes Restoration to Health Possible. Simple Rules to Follow.

Consumption—the most dreaded of all diseases of today—is curable. For centuries this fearful malady has stared the people in the face, with no hope, no haven of refuge, no made sufficient strides to be able to cope intelligently with all the various forms of pulmonary afflictions.

Few people realize what anatomical wonders the lungs are. Just imagine two great sacks, one consisting of two and the other of three lobes or compartments each made of a delicate membranous substance as light and thin as a piece of silk, expanding and contracting as we inhale and exhale the air that supplies life.

No one appreciating the work expected of them would abuse his lungs if he could look at them and see with his own eyes the effect produced. The lungs are almost like paper—mere tissues—that are susceptible to the least aggravation. A cold, though ever so slight if on the lungs, weakens them. A cough, though only occasional, means a rasping at these precious organs, a sore (result of colds and coughs) means an irritation that is hard to heal. When aggravated and it reaches an advanced stage, the lungs shrivel up and wither away. Consumption invariably begins in the upper part of the right lung.

Coughing does not always accompany diseases of this character, and consumptives sometimes go to their graves with little annoyance in this direction and little expectation. Their lungs, like an apple in the sun, simply waste away and fall to pieces. If a flower becomes lifeless and droops its head, you give it nourishment, water and sunlight. Your lungs are just like a plant, they need nourishment continually. Your blood flows through every part of them and gives them life. It soothes and heals them, keeps them fresh and healthy. If your blood possesses the right nourishment, it makes your lungs so strong that germs can't live in them, for germs only live where there is weakness. You must have proper medical assistance and you must also have sunlight, plenty of rest, plenty of out-door air and good food. The first has always been hard to get but the other requirements are within the reach of anyone. There is a medicine, a famous French compound, a remedy originated, experimented with and agreed upon by celebrated chemists from all over the world, who met in Paris a few years ago to determine the most speedy, sure and lasting way of wiping out of the world consumption and its allied diseases. This medicine is known as "Blood Wine," and it is acknowledged by physicians in New York and Boston to be the most satisfactory treatment yet devised for these troubles. "Blood Wine" will do its part—but the patient must do his to overcome pulmonary attacks. All the rules of hygiene must be strictly adhered to and if this is done a cure excepting when consumption is in the most advanced stages, will be the result. "Blood Wine" is an honest remedy. It is sold on honest representations and is guaranteed to do all claimed for it. "Blood Wine" enriches the blood and charges it with an ingredient that will kill bacilli, bacteria, microbes and germs of all kinds. It will heal up an old sore on the lungs or a new one. It will take the lameness and pains out of the lungs, and make them feel strong and comfortable. If you can't take a deep breath now, you can after using "Blood Wine."

If you hawk and spit you will stop after using it a week or so. If you take colds easily—"Blood Wine" will make you less susceptible and eventually it will give you great endurance. "Blood Wine" is not an experiment. It is an established fact, tried, proved and acknowledged to be a remarkable remedy. Throughout the hospitals, public dispensaries and in their private practice physicians are unanimous in their praises of "Blood Wine," all admit that while there are some cases too far advanced to be actually cured that it will cure in almost every instance and restore health and vitality, where every other method will fail. Dr. Brainard A. Andrews of Beaumont, Boston, Mass., one of New England's leading practitioners, whose skill has been displayed on a number of occasions before Harvard College and other learned bodies, says: "At the best, tuberculosis is a stubborn disease and requires rigid methods to overcome. In the matter of handling it everything is being done both here and abroad to make it more easily and successfully treated, and new ideas are being advanced almost every day by men giving it their constant thought. I am familiar with 'Blood Wine' in every phase, and have been using it extensively in my practice of late with phenomenal results. It creates a peculiar reaction that nothing else seems to do. It relieves the distress sooner and more effectively than any expectorant I know of and is adhered to with common sense rules of life—regarding exercise, air and diet it will heal a very bad case of tuberculosis and enable the patient to thoroughly recover. I am a thoroughly disinterested person, having no connection one way or another with the 'Blood Wine' Co., or any of its members. I give this testimonial of my own free will because I recognize in it a good medicine, which everyone should know about, and which I will continue to recommend until I find something better."

If you have tried repeatedly to regain your health without success with other medicines or means don't give up hope until you try "Blood Wine." Investigate it carefully.

"Blood Wine" costs fifty cents a bottle, but you can sample it free of charge at Will Reed's and Hodson's drug stores.

CHARLOTTE GAGE had every reason to be the happiest girl in the world. Her home, surrounded with its beautiful grounds, might have been the abode of a princess. Her father and mother idolized their only child and heaped everything upon her that money could buy. Her toys were the most expensive, her personal belongings the best that could be obtained, and out in the stables were two of the finest Shetland ponies imaginable. In spite of all these treasures, Charlotte was at times discontented and took little interest in the things most girls of her age delight in, greatly to the distress of her parents.

One evening Mr. Gage told his wife that urgent business called him to London, and, if she wished, he would take her with him.

"What shall we do with Charlotte?" asked Mrs. Gage. "Take her with us?"

"I think not," replied Mr. Gage. "It would tie you down; besides, her school is too important for her to leave just now."

Wondering what pleasant arrangement she might make for her daughter occupied Mrs. Gage most of the night, and on descending to breakfast the following morning no definite plan had been reached. Opening her letters, however, her face lighted up as she read aloud to her husband and Charlotte one she had received from her old friend Rebecca Dale. In girlhood's days these two had been very close, but differences in their positions and interests had separated them somewhat. Rebecca Dale had married a poor young clergyman and gone to live on a small salary in Middletown, while Mrs. Gage had become the wife of the millionaire banker, John Gage. Added to the

"DID YOU EVER GET A VALENTINE, ROSE?" pleasure of hearing from her friend there was something more, but Mrs. Gage did not communicate this just now to her listeners as she read:

MIDDLETOWN, Jan. 15, 1899.

My Dear Frances—How long a time has passed since I have heard from you—almost a year—yet scarcely a day goes by without my mind reverting to some incident of our girlhood! It is hard to realize that my Virginia is fourteen and your Charlotte twelve years old, but "figures will not lie." Mr. Dale is broken down with work in his parish, and his congregation has generously contributed funds sufficient to take him abroad, a long cherished desire of his, and Virginia and I rejoice in his good fortune. We may go east and take up some of the loved ties of my girlhood, and if so I shall enjoy nothing more than you. Affectionately your friend,

REBECCA DALE.

Mr. Gage and Charlotte listened intently, but were unprepared for Mrs. Gage's enthusiastic "The very thing! Nothing could be better! I shall write her immediately and invite her here while we are away and keep her for a visit afterward. Virginia can study music with Charlotte's teacher, and I am sure nothing could be pleasanter than for her to have a companion near her own age."

That night a letter was speeding its way to Middletown and a few days

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS

A Careful Perusal Will Prove Its Value to Every East Liverpool Reader.

The average man is a doubter, and there is little wonder that this is so. Misrepresentations make people skeptical. Now-a-days the public ask for better evidence than the testimony of strangers. Hear proof that should convince every East Liverpool reader.

Mr. Samuel Mayer, who is an employee of the McNicol pottery, whose place of residence is 123 Bank street, says: "My health was fairly good until my kidneys began to trouble me, causing my back to ache a good part of the time and to get sore and lame across the loins. The pain was often sharp and penetrating, especially when stooping or lifting, and I never got rid of the trouble until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy and tried them. When I had taken one box the soreness and pains in the back and other symptoms of kidney distress passed away."

later caused much pleasant excitement in the plain little parsonage home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale.

"Go, by all means," urged Mr. Dale, and Virginia's dark eyes grew darker and her red cheeks redder as she said: "Say yes, mother mine. I shall feel like a girl in a book visiting in that splendid house, and to ride and drive all I want. Oh, it seems too good to be true!"

Mrs. Dale's hesitation was unable to stand out against such pleadings, and that very afternoon Virginia dropped a letter of acceptance into the post-office on her way to school. Preparations went merrily on, and a few weeks later Virginia and Charlotte were lounging in Charlotte's beautiful room before a blazing log fire discussing the subject of valentines. Virginia was enthusiastically wondering if the morning would bring any to them and could not understand Charlotte's indifference to the matter. The latter roused her interest sufficiently to tell Virginia that over in her portfolio were the ones she got last year and she might look at them if she wanted to. Virginia opened the portfolio and uttered mild shrieks of delight as one after another of the beautiful creations was displayed.

"I never saw such beauties in my life," she declared. "I'd go wild if I got even one, and here you have twenty-four. You don't know what a lucky girl you are, Charlotte Gage."

The following morning the butler came into the breakfast room loaded with the messages young people so enjoy receiving on the 14th of February. Virginia opened her simple offerings with beaming eyes and spent many merry moments with her mother guessing where they came from. Mrs. Dale looked at Charlotte with something akin to pain in her eyes as she noticed that the numerous and really beautiful valentines roused little real appreciation from the girl.

Mrs. Gage had confided to her friend how Charlotte's lack of interest worried her, and Mrs. Dale had decided she would endeavor to find out where the real trouble lay. That afternoon, while walking in the village of Ardley, they stopped in front of the stationer's store to wait for the coachman. Gazing into the window were two little girls about six years old. The strangers were pale and poorly dressed and gave every evidence of want. They were feasting their eyes upon the array of loveliness behind the glass.

"Oh, my, Lilly, see those valentines! They are the beautifullest things I ever saw!" exclaimed one little girl.

"Deed they are, Rose. Just look at that splendid one with the angels on it and that one with the white pigeons and the lovely flowers."

Then in a lower voice, ill concealing its sadness, the one addressed as Lilly continued: "I'd give a good deal if my brother Willie could see that, but he can't, for the doctor says it will be two weeks before he can go out. The valentines will be all gone then. Besides, Willie is to be a cripple, and I don't see how he can ever walk up this hill on crutches. Did you ever get a valentine, Rose?" the child asked.

"No. I had a Christmas card once that the Sunday school teacher gave me, but it wasn't near so pretty as these."

Lilly then confided in an almost inaudible voice that she heard her father read out of the paper something about Mr. Valentine being a saint. "Now, saints are good people, Rose, and hear your prayers and answer them. Ever since I heard about his being a saint I say him a long prayer every night and then ask him to send a valentine to Willie and, if he had it to spare, one to me. You know, Santa Claus does that way. At our Sunday school they told us to ask for what we wanted, and I said, 'A doll.' Sure enough on Christmas there was the doll on the beautiful tree. It was for me, and no mistake, for pinned on its dress was my name, Esmeralda Mickey. I thought St. Valentine would do the same thing for he is a kind of relation of Santa Claus, but I am afraid I have made a mistake. I have been to the postoffice three times already, and the last time the man looked cross at me and hollered that I must not bother him any more with silly questions."

"HERE'S ONE FOR YOU."

Tears gathered in the already sad eyes and began to drop down on the blue little hands.

and pained face toward Mrs. Dale and said:

"It seems all wrong that child never had a valentine in her life while I've had bushels of them. I never before knew that all children did not have things like I had. Mrs. Dale, I want to buy those little girls some valentines. May I? You know I have my own allowance, and mamma lets me spend it as I like."

Mrs. Dale smiled approvingly, and soon they were in the store purchasing the very valentine Rilla had admired, with the Cupids and flowers, and two others besides, with fancy envelopes to inclose them. Mrs. Dale inquired if the stationer knew anything about the children, and he replied:

"The taller girl is Jim Mickey's. He has a boy, too, who was run over by the trolley the other day and lost his leg. The other girl I do not know, but the postmaster can tell you. He knows everybody in the town."

Entering the postoffice, while Mrs. Dale addressed the missives Charlotte found that Rose's other name was McNally. The postmaster confided to her that the children nearly wore him out on Valentine's day asking if there was anything for them.

"They never got a letter in their lives, and why any one should send them a valentine is more than I can tell."

"Do you mean there are other children who never had a valentine in their lives?" queried Charlotte, in a horrified voice.

"Well, I should say so! About fifty youngsters have been here every mail asking for a valentine. Of course, I have to tell them 'no,' and I am afraid sometimes it is a little impatient."

The coachman driving up at this moment, Mrs. Dale and the girls were soon speeding homeward. Mrs. Dale thought the incident of the valentines had been forgotten and was surprised when Charlotte said:

"Mrs. Dale, the valentines I got last year are all as fresh and clean as when they came. I should like to drive back to the village and send them to those other children who have been so disappointed all day."

Mrs. Dale agreed that it would be a happy surprise for them, and, bidding John wait, the carriage was soon again rolling toward the village. "Drive fast, John, please. I want to get these into the office before the last mail." John whipped up the horses, Charlotte paid a hasty visit to the stationer's for more fancy envelopes and then to the post-office to take the postmaster into her confidence. That gentleman always treated Charlotte with great politeness. He listened to her plan, while something like a tear glistened behind his big rimmed spectacles, and said:

"Yes, indeed, miss, I will be glad to help you. Whenever any of these children inquire if there is anything for them I'll ask, 'What name?' When they tell me, I'll go behind the window and write that name on one of your valentines and hand it out. Won't they be pleased! They'll think for sure that Valentine is a saint or some kind of a heavenly body."

While the postmaster was talking in came Esmeralda Mickey and her faithful little friend. Past experience caused her timid voice to sink into a plaint as she inquired for the fourth time that day if there was anything for her!

The postmaster's cheery, "Here's one for you, one for Master Willie Mickey and one for Rose McNally too. That's your name, isn't it, Rose?" Rose's surprise was even greater than Lilly's, who had been encouraging faith and hope for many days, and the children left the office hugging their precious valentines close, with faces transformed with joy.

Charlotte's plan worked beautifully. Before nightfall every eager inquirer for a letter had received a valentine, and the very uncertainty as to where it had come from made it all the more appreciated and cherished.

Charlotte from this time was a changed girl. Mrs. Dale noticed it and one day suggested they hunt up the Mickey family and see if they could do anything to help them. Then, for the first time, Charlotte became awake to the needs of poor people. Her sympathy showed itself in gifts of toys, clothes and food until she was regarded in the tenement which the Mickeys called home as a fairy princess. When Willie had recovered from his accident enough to go out, he was taken to drive in the carriage and later behind the poles.

When Mrs. Gage returned, she clasped Charlotte in her arms and, kissing her, said: "My darling, I never saw you look so well and happy in my life. Mrs. Dale and Virginia must be witches."

"Not at all, Frances," answered Mrs. Dale. "No witches or fairies have been around her except perhaps one, although he was neither. In fact, I've heard he was a saint—St. Valentine."

PROF. PEARSON HAS RESIGNED.

He Also Tried to Leave Methodist Church—Finally Not Allowed to Do So.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Charles W. Pearson, whose recent utterances against the infallibility of certain portions of the Bible occasioned comment in Methodist church circles, resigned as professor of English literature at Northwestern university. The resignation, it is said, was voluntary.

Prof. Pearson also asked for a letter of dismissal from the Methodist Episcopal church. The letter was given, but afterwards recalled, as its possession by Dr. Pearson would indicate that he was in good standing in the church.

The professor is to continue in charge of his classes until a successor is found, and his salary is to continue until Jan. 1, 1903. His letter follows:

"I hereby tender my resignation as professor of English literature in Northwestern university. With the kindest feeling toward you all, and best wishes for the future welfare of the institution to which I have given so many years of service, I am very respectfully yours,

(Signed) "C. W. Pearson."

In a statement given out by Secretary Crandon, the trustees point out the excellence of Prof. Pearson's services during the 30 years he has been connected with the faculty, and aver that they feel great regret at the severance of relations.

AN OPPORTUNITY

Many people would like to honor the memory of departed loved ones with a handsome monument, but the high prices demanded by the local monument dealers prevent them.

We sell and deliver fine monuments or headstones at much lower prices than similar ones can be obtained elsewhere. Most of our local monument dealers work by expensive hand methods, while our work is done by the most improved labor saving machinery. Machine work not only lessens the cost of the monument, but insures better results as the moldings, letters, etc., are cut much deeper and smoother than by hand and therefore show plainer.

The stone we use is the very best—will not rust, discolor or become streaked as most granites do.

We sell to monument dealers at wholesale and also sell direct to the individual buyer, delivering complete in the cemetery. Our handsome booklet with designs explains all. It's free if you recut this paper.

Will you not look at it?

VACANT LOTS—We have them everywhere, from the Pennsylvania line to the mouth of Yellow Creek; from the river to Calcutta; at prices commensurate with their location, size and conveniences. It matters not what locality, street, addition or allotment; you had better see what we have; get our prices and terms.

OTHER PROPERTIES—We have scores of them at any price, on any street, in any locality. Come in and see us about them; ordinary prudence and business caution should compel you to do this for we can give you price and values of properties in all parts of the city. We know of a lot of misguided folks who ignored the real estate dealer and consequently paid more for their properties than they were listed at in our office. Lots more are doing it every day. WHY CAN WE GIVE YOU A BETTER PRICE? Because we must, and because of our experience and knowledge of value of real estate.

TEST US—If we don't measure up, don't deal with us. There will be no hard feeling on our part. All we ask is to be allowed to consider your wants, quote our prices and show you our properties.

A DOLLAR SAVED IS A DOLLAR EARNED.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Entertained Her Friends—Miss Fannie McFadden, of Walnut street, pleasantly entertained a number of friends at her home Tuesday evening. About 20 couples were present.

Regular Meeting Tonight—The regular meeting of Ohio Valley Ruling No. 43, F. M. C., will be held at their hall in the Exchange block tonight. Important business will be transacted.

Several Arose for Prayers—There was a large congregation last night at the M. E. church. Dr. Crawford preached a very impressive sermon. There were two conversions and several arose for prayers. Dr. Manchester, the presiding elder, will preach tonight.

Society to Pay Deacons—The special meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the M. E. church was held last night. There was a full attendance. The ladies decided to assume the responsibility for the payment of $350—the deacons' salary. The vote was unanimous.

A Dual Observance—Lincoln's birthday was not celebrated in the city schools, it being so soon after the examination the pupils did not have sufficient time to prepare. It has been decided to have the next literary exercises in all the schools on February 21, and they will probably commemorate both Washington and Lincoln.

THE UNPARDONABLE SIN

And Other Topics Discussed By Rev. W. E. Biederwolf—A Fine Meeting.

The last things are proving to be the best at the First Presbyterian church in the revival services. Prof. Maxwell sang by request "The Holy City." The audience was deeply moved by his masterly rendition. His power as a singer was certainly demonstrated.

Rev. Mr. Biederwolf preached the second discourse of the series on the "Holy Spirit" at 2 p. m. His sermon was not only one of great merit, but one of helpfulness and stimulating power. Those present were led into the deep things of God.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Biederwolf preached on "The Unpardonable Sin—What Is It?" Hosea 4:17, "Ephraim is joined to his idols; let him alone." He showed by the word, by nature and human experience and observation there is a time when some men are let alone by God, because they hardened their hearts, that they could not believe in Christ. The unpardonable sin, he declared, is to say "no" persistently to God's invitation.

UNDERWRITERS MEET

Those of Columbiana Hold an Interesting Discussion of Business Topics.

The Columbiana County Underwriters' association held a meeting in the rooms of the Cosmopolitan club yesterday afternoon.

George H. Owen is president of the association and C. R. Greenamyer, of Leetonia, secretary. The attendance was good, the northern end of the county being especially well represented.

Important resolutions were passed during the course of the meeting, a majority of which were proposed and adopted at the suggestion of the state board.

The association convened at 2 o'clock and consumed the whole of the afternoon. Matters affecting the general welfare and advancement of the county society were discussed, and the meeting was a very successful one.

CRIPPLE ARRESTED

Warned Out of Town in a Hurry, Steubenville Man in Jail.

Frank Crasey, who was released from jail yesterday morning, succeeded in getting himself arrested in the East End last night. He is a cripple, being minus an arm and a leg, and since he will not be received at the works or the county jail, Mayor Davidson has determined to send him out of town in a hurry. He was arrested by Captain Terrence.

Daniel Hill, of Steubenville, has been on a "bat" for some time. Yesterday he landed in this city and was gathered in by Officer Aufderheide last night on Second street. He was not in condition to be heard this morning. Hill's friends at Steubenville were heard from this morning and asked that the man be kept in custody for a few days, in order that he may sober up. They will pay his fine when he is released.

HOPES FOR TEDDY, JR.

Crisis In His Disease, Was, Last Night, Expected to be Passed Today.

HIS MOTHER WENT TO CHURCH,

Last Night, and Came Away Comforted—Both Parents Cheered by a Visit From the Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, Yesterday.

Groton, Mass., Feb. 13.—Last night it was stated that if Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., continued for the 24 hours following in his then condition his physicians had given the president and Mrs. Roosevelt to believe that their son's vitality would be sufficient for him to meet and pass successfully the crisis in his disease, which was looked for some time today, and tomorrow morning he would be practically out of danger.

Last night he was considered to be better than Tuesday night, and the same could be said of his two school mates, Howard F. Potter, of New York, and William Gammell, Jr., of Providence.

This report was given out by Mr. Cortelyou at 9 o'clock last night.

Some Preparations to Leave.

So confident was the president and his wife that their son would pass through this crisis in good shape that the president was already making some slight preparations to leave for Washington. Last night it looked as if he might start some time today. Every one at the Gardner house last night seemed not only cheerful, but jovial, while Mrs. Roosevelt, cheered and comforted by a short but impressive service at 6 o'clock in the chapel, went to her nightly watch in the infirmary in good spirits.

The 9 o'clock report of the boy's condition was the most important one of the day. Mr. Cortelyou said, in addition to what has already been stated, that the left lung had cleared considerably during the day, that the boy's temperature, respiration and pulse had shown but little variation. Everything during the day had gone on well. The clearing up of the left lung was a favorable sign, in that it would enable the boy to meet the crisis in the right lung better. What is known as resolution had set in in this left lung.

In speaking of other things besides the boy's condition, Mr. Cortelyou said that no change had been made in the program for Prince Henry's visit—in fact, invitations to the dinner were going out at Washington. The president will not give up his trip to Charleston, but will go there after Prince Henry leaves.

Danger to Sick Boys Was Great.

In many ways yesterday was less eventful than that which preceded it, and all the reports, as has been said, were favorable. Still, the seriousness of not only young Roosevelt's condition, but that of his two companions, was last night fully as great as ever.

when the closeness to the impending crisis in each case was taken into consideration.

The call of Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst yesterday, like that of Secretary Long Tuesday, was entirely unexpected and cheered both the president and Mrs. Roosevelt considerably. The doctor left the president with a cheery face and confirmed the favorable reports of the morning. The doctor stopped off en route between Clinton and Amherst.

MAY BLOCK RUSSIA.

ALLIANCE LIKELY TO VETO MANCHURIAN TREATY.

Anglo-Jap Agreement in Line With Policy of the United States.

Pekin, Feb. 13.—The news of the signing of the Anglo-Japanese treaty of alliance became known to a few diplomats here, and was an absolute surprise. The treaty is regarded as the most important move in far eastern politics of recent years. The Japanese minister, Uchida, visited Prince Ching, president of the foreign office, and gave him a copy of the treaty. It is not doubted among the diplomats here that the new alliance will effectually veto the signing of the Manchurian treaty.

The British minister, Sir Ernest M. Satow; the Japanese minister, Uchida, and the United States minister, Mr. Conger, have recently been pressing Prince Ching to postpone signing the Manchurian treaty.

In Accordance With American Policy.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister to Washington, called at the state department and notified Secretary Hay of the signature of the treaty between Great Britain and Japan, made public Tuesday in England, binding the two nations to joint action to maintain the integrity of China and Korea. The assent of the United States is not necessary to this agreement, but if it were it probably would not be withheld, for it is pointed out that the treaty is precisely in line with the aims of the state department, as fully disclosed in the notes published by it from time to time. It is again stated that there has been no joint action as between the United States and the two powers named, yet it is a fact that the preamble to the new treaty might be regarded as almost a paraphrase of the position of the United States toward the Manchurian question as enunciated in Secretary Hay's note to the Russian ambassador here.

It is made very clear here by the official statements that the purposes of the United States all relate to commercial and industrial phases of the Manchurian question. With the political phase we have little concern.

Washable Kid Gloves Washable

Something new in Kid Gloves—"The Marvel" Glace Washable Glove. While the distinctive feature of this Glove is in being able to wash it, the manufacturer claims it has no equal for wear, never hardens and is not spoiled by perspiration or water.

TO WASH THEM Rub a piece of pure soap on a sponge soaked in tepid water, then rub gently on the gloves. Rinse the soap carefully off, and hang them to dry at a moderate temperature. After gloves are dry, stretch them thoroughly. We carry them in brown, mode, gray, tan and white. Sizes 5½ to 7, and they are priced at $1.75 a pair. It costs you nothing to investigate their merits.

New Veilings New

An elegant line of Complexion Veilings on sale this week in all the latest novelties. They come in black, white, white and black and a range of colors. They are priced at 25c, 35c and 50c and up to $2.50 a veil.
